

Rosa,

We absolutely, positively have to get together this summer. Where are you going next year? I'm sure I've asked that a million times. We didn't get to go to the beach this summer year so maybe this summer. We could discuss old times (Kathy, etc.) I hope she doesn't read this. It was soooooo much fun in Mexico. I wish we could do it again. I'm going to give you my address + phone # and you have to call me.

It's a good thing we didn't lose you in Guadalajara or I wouldn't be writing this. You were a GREAT roommate although a little stuffy when it came to yelling out the window. I couldn't believe it when you started too. And the window into Señor B's room. I can't believe Pam and I did such things. I really, really, really want to get together with you and for sure we will. I'll try to get a pass to Great America + we all could go. Have a great summer and
GOOD LUCK

DEDICATION

From my first impression of Mrs. Perry, last summer, I knew she would not only be an inspiration to me, but to the entire student body and faculty of Saratoga.

No words seem powerful enough to describe her. Simply put, she is wound up in the morning and literally runs from dawn 'till dusk. The energy she displays, is spread to everything from dean duties to organizing fund raisers.

Her office is always filled, not only with those of us with problems to solve, but also with those who find reasons to come and say hello to her smile and be cheered with her continuous effervescence.

Although she is unaware of it, Mrs. Perry has taught me, and my peers, perserverance and patience as we tackled the red tape, and spent hours organizing school activities. She demonstrated that to be busy and successful at the same time, you must be organized in a disorganized manner.

Mrs. Perry has done what was once considered impossible. In one year she has brought a 180 degree change to Saratoga, by adding spirit and unity among us all. Typically, this was not a problem for her. They say, "If there's a will, there's a way," and Mrs. Karen Perry has it.

Our thanks to you,
Adrienne Cordova

THE 1977 TALISMAN STAFF DEDICATES THIS BOOK JOINTLY TO MRS. KAREN PERRY AND MR. LARRY JOHSENS, BECAUSE THEY REPRESENT WHAT WE FEEL IS SO IMPORTANT TO SARATOGA HIGH: CONTINUOUS CHANGE AND CONSTANT CHALLENGE.

I got to know Mr. Johsens during the spring semester of last year. I was in his composition class and it was there that I learned how difficult writing is. And, I find that writing this is also difficult because I want to say just the right things about a man who has done so much for me as well as other students.

The yearbook staff decided to dedicate the 1977 Talisman to you, Mr. Johsens because of your interest in us, in teaching us how to write. Your classes are for learning how to write, but I'm sure other students will agree that writing was not the only thing we learned in your class. You taught us discipline when we had to get our papers in and patience when we were on our fourth draft. You helped us when we needed it and when we talked about our compositions we got to know you and you took an interest in us, too.

Some say you're too strict and too demanding. And "A" students learn that they're "B" in your class. You demand a certain extra effort to get an "A" and we find that there's no way of sliding through.

Without meaning to resort to cliché's you are truly involved in your work. Teaching is more than a job to you, it's an interest, an experience.

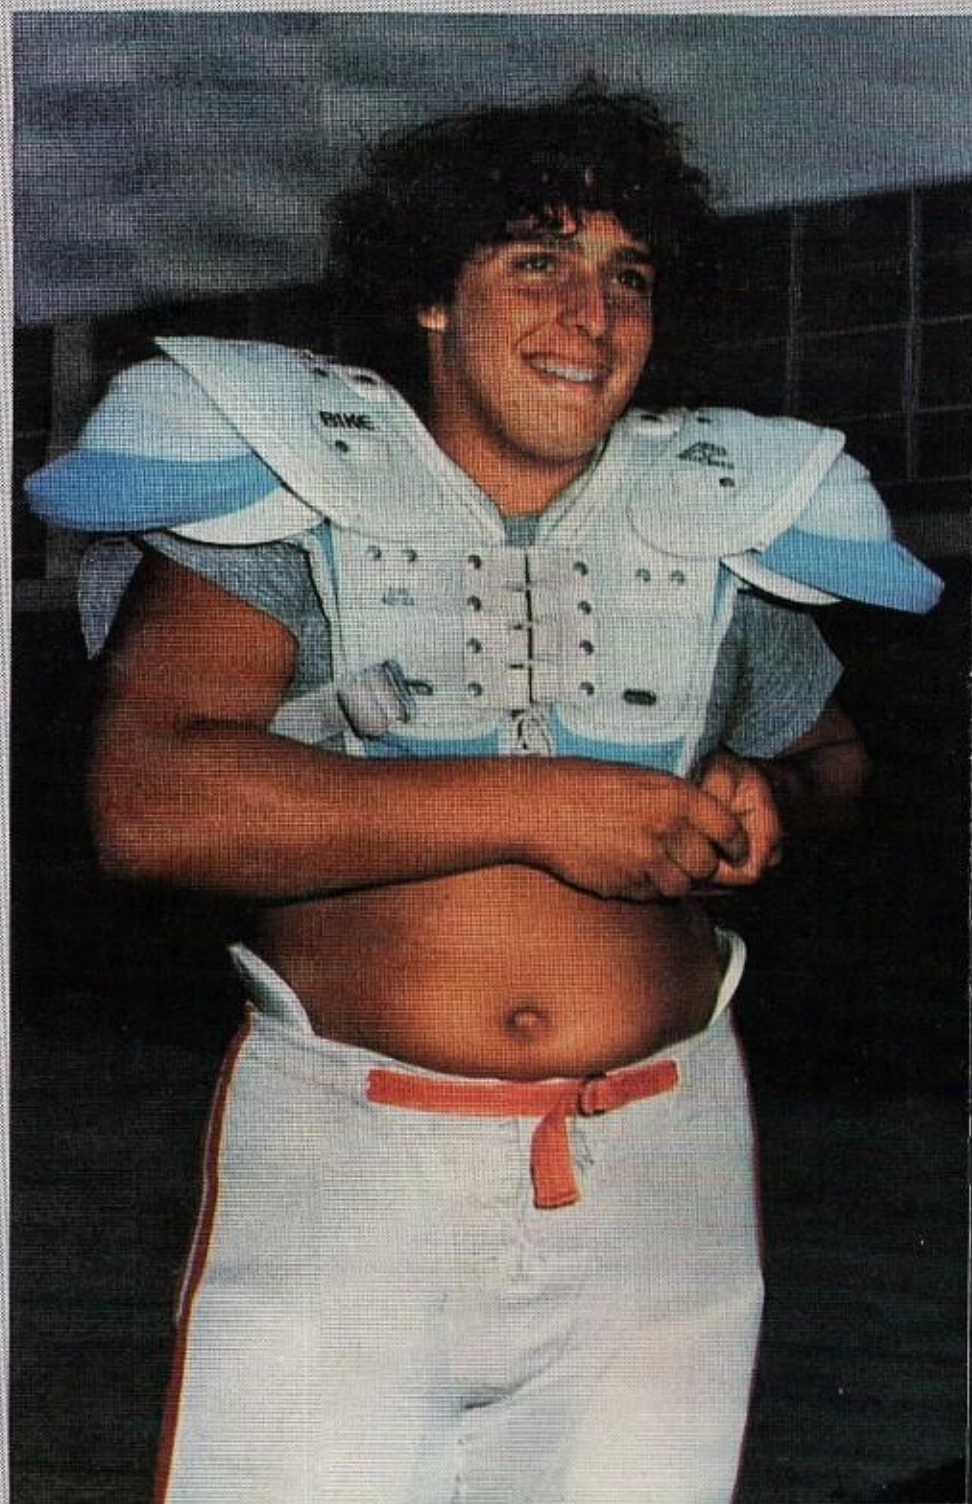

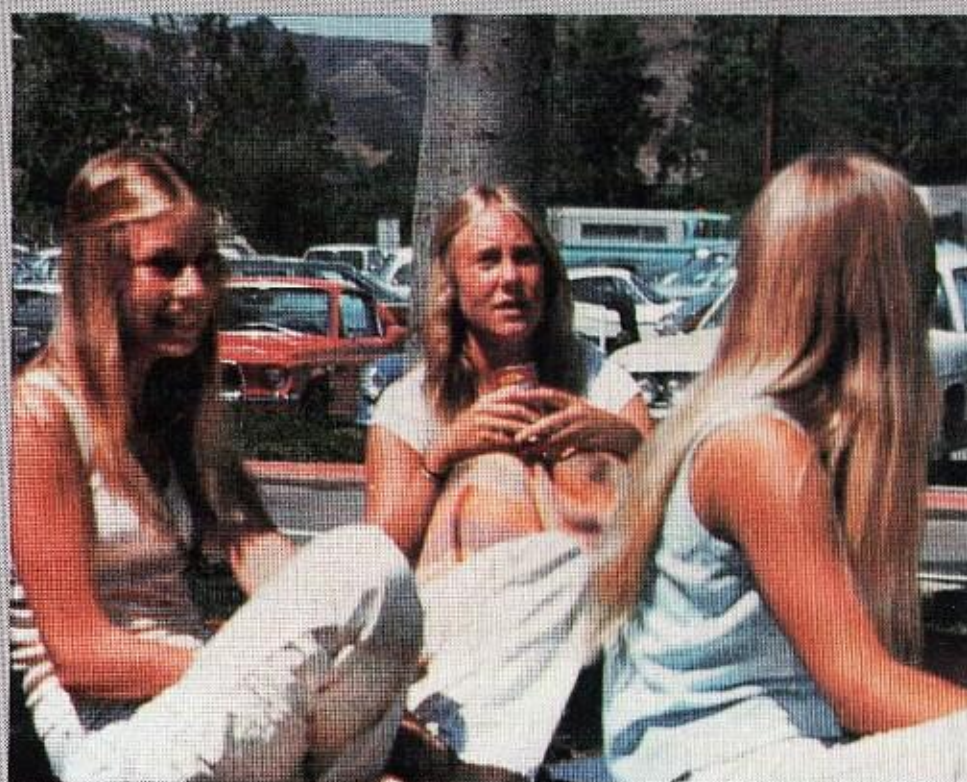

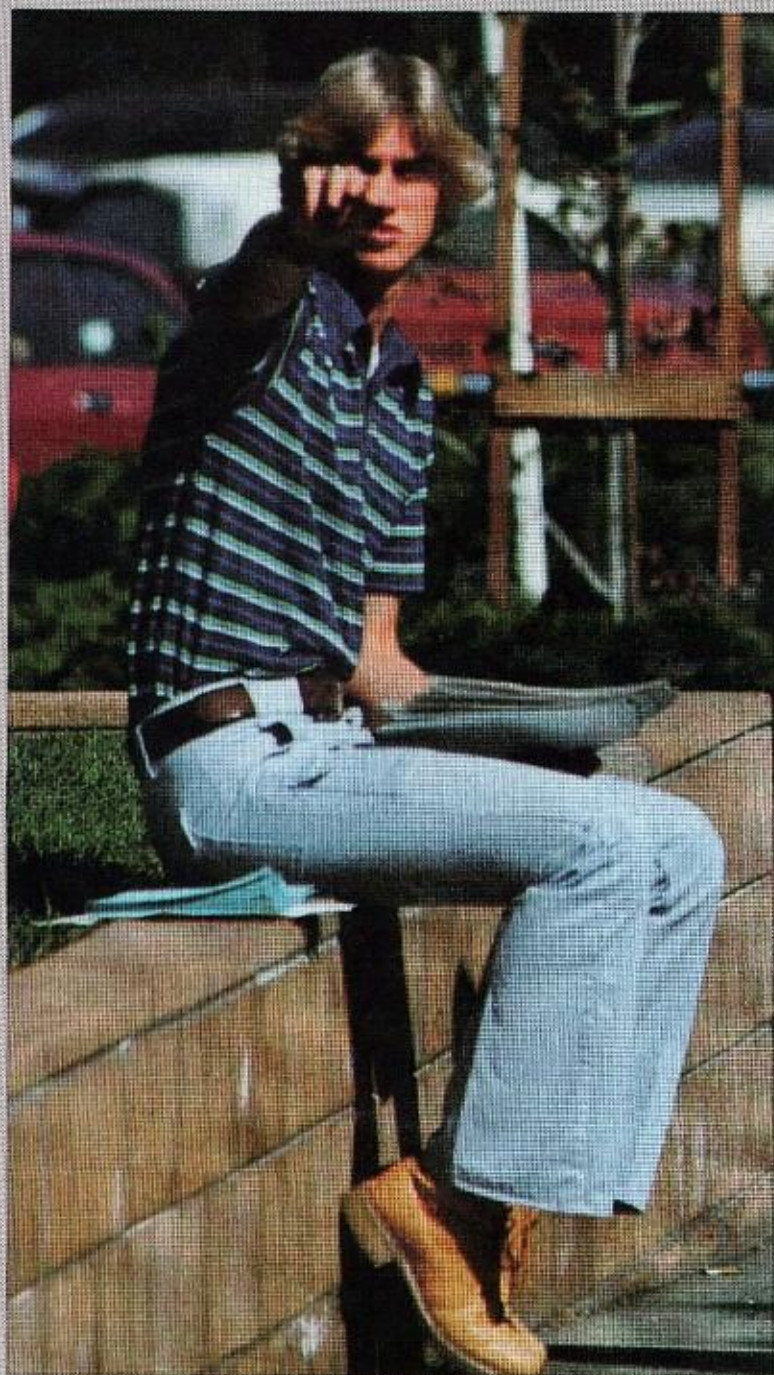

Thanks,
Cheryl Lloyd

A rainbow has many different colors, each one important to its whole. Yet none dominating.

High School is a part of our life, like the colors of a rainbow, important, yet only one of the colors of our life as a whole.

We start life looking for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Going through high school we mature enough to realize that there is no pot of gold, that each day is only as special as we make it.

Saratoga means experiences to remember

I've heard from many people that once I'm out of high school and going on to college that I may never see some of my best friends again. I hope they are wrong because I've met some really great people here.

When I'm an old man, I'll look back at my high school days when I played basketball for the team and will also remember watching all of the beautiful girls we had on campus.

This will be Saratoga to me, forever.

-Dave Marino

The first experience cannot be easy, cannot be forgotten, cannot be taken back and can never conceivably be equal to the fantasies of imagination.

-from JEREMY

Satisfaction doesn't come from having more than necessary-it comes from taking less than you need and realizing it's the right amount.

-unknown

You have to go out of your way to make other people feel good and in turn you will be making yourself happy.

-Dave Moore

Everyone I've ever known has wished me well- anyway that's how it seems; it's hard to tell. Maybe people only ask you how you're doing 'cause that's easier than letting on how little they care. But when you know you've got a real friend somewhere, suddenly all the others seem so much easier to bear.

-Jackson Browne

Although I'm in the last half of my high school years, I still have many experiences to look back on and another year to look forward to.

People are what make this world run, and people are what make Saratoga High worthwhile. I feel that I have learned more from the friends I've made in the past three years, than from any textbook I've read in class.

Saratoga High a 'benevolent dictatorship'

I love high school. To me, high school is a benevolent dictatorship, where the people are allowed to choose what they would like to do, and what they would like to be. They may choose to study and to learn and to experience life. Or they may choose to use this as a "mating market," maybe go to a class or two, then kick back and relax.

The majority of the Saratoga highschoolers are people who have chosen to study. They have made it through the emotional junior high soap opera and are here to prepare for college, make a few friends and have a good time.

-Steve Hoag

High school has been a special experience, one I will always treasure. These past four years have widened my outlook on life and filled me with unforgettable memories: class board meetings, football games, hockey and softball, falling in love, junior and senior proms, basketball games, good friends and the great times we shared.

I hope that every person will stop and realize before they leave that high school is a big part of life. Too many of us go through high school with a negative attitude, but when we're older we'll look back with fond memories. For me, high school is an opportunity to explore all aspects of myself and decide which part of me should be developed and used to help mankind stumble through history. Sure it's hard to keep working sometimes, but I always keep one slogan in mind: "Keep your feet on the ground and keep reaching for the stars!"

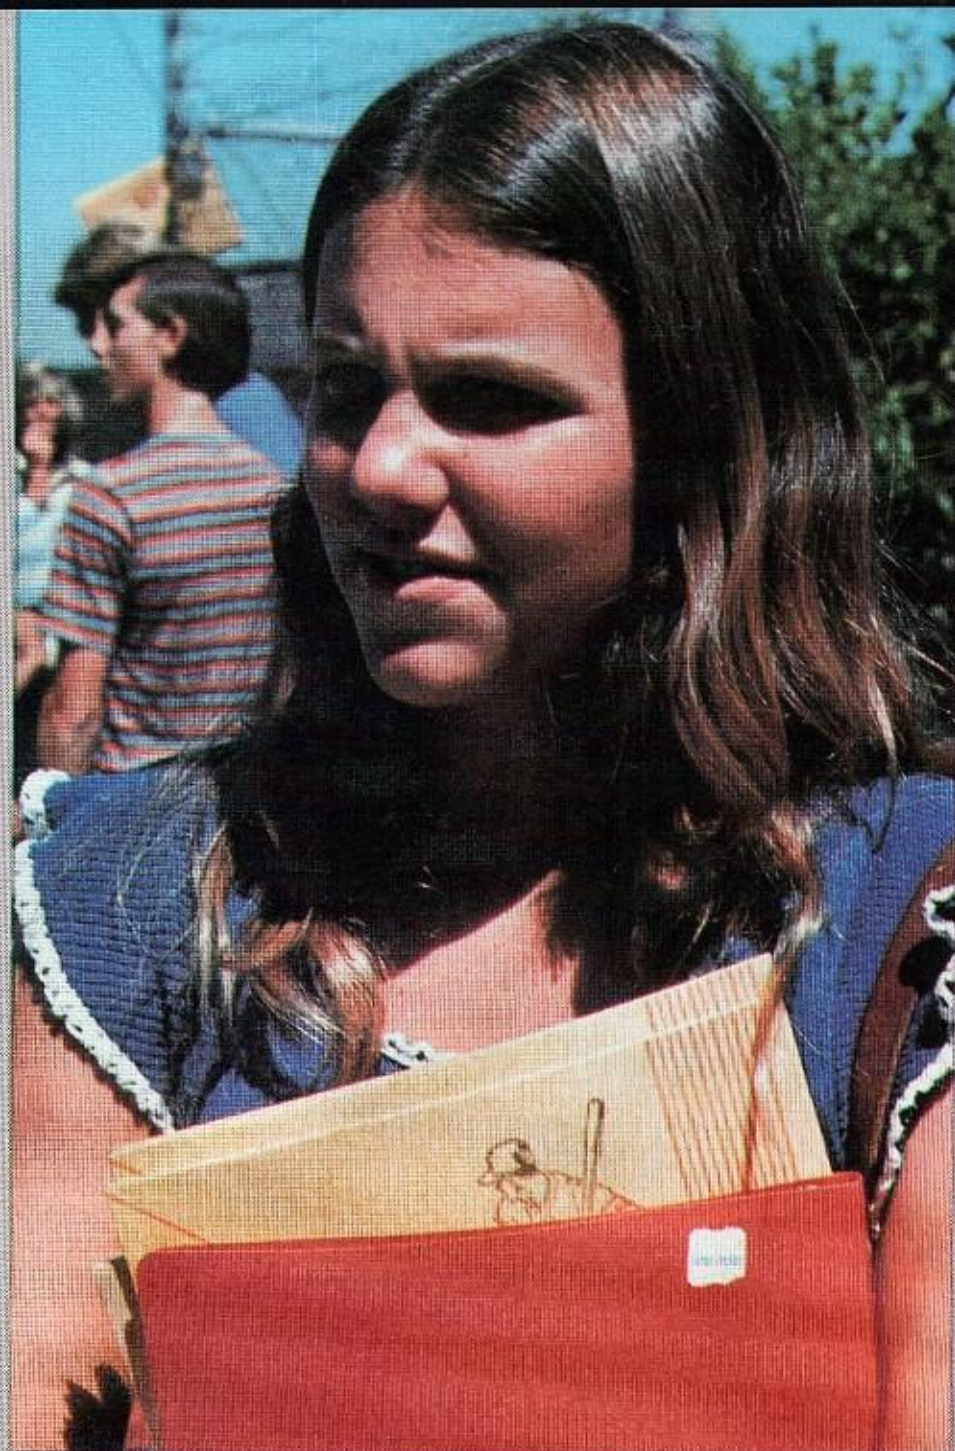

-Brian Prestwich

I think that the kids of Saratoga High have many things others don't have and they take it for granted. But I also think that we enjoy what we have, I know I do. I love knowing I'm a part of a wonderful place, a special world in itself. I'm a Saratoga High School student and proud of it!

I can look back now and laugh, but then being a freshman in our school band, it wasn't funny. You constantly hear these orders: "Keep in step you lousy freshmen!" Or you may hear this famous order from a junior, "Someone help keep the freshmen in line."

My first year in the school band was horrible! At one parade I broke a friend's clarinet by accident. It was, I am afraid a very costly accident, and for the rest of the marching season I marched with a glued clarinet.

I chuckle to myself now as I see the freshmen being yelled at. Stick it out freshmen, and next year you'll be the boss.

We did it! We're CCS Champs!

Our season was really unbelievable this year. No one thought we would win it all. But we did! We set our goals early, and went out and achieved them, with a 13-0 record.

We started out slow, with fundamentals and everything, and even the coaches were skeptical.

As I walked around school the day of our first game, people kept asking, "Are you guys gonna do it?" "Are you going to win?" What else could I say but, "Of course we're going to win! We have to, we're going to finish 13-0!"

All season long we pulled together and played as one unit, instead of 11 individuals. I think the success of the team was the result of togetherness of the players and the coaches. And we did it! 13-0-

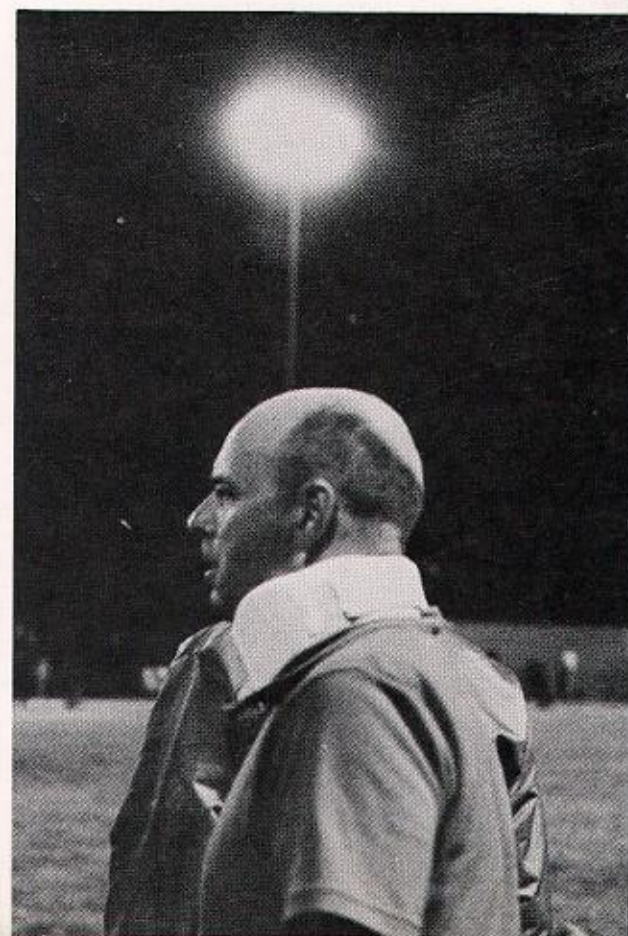

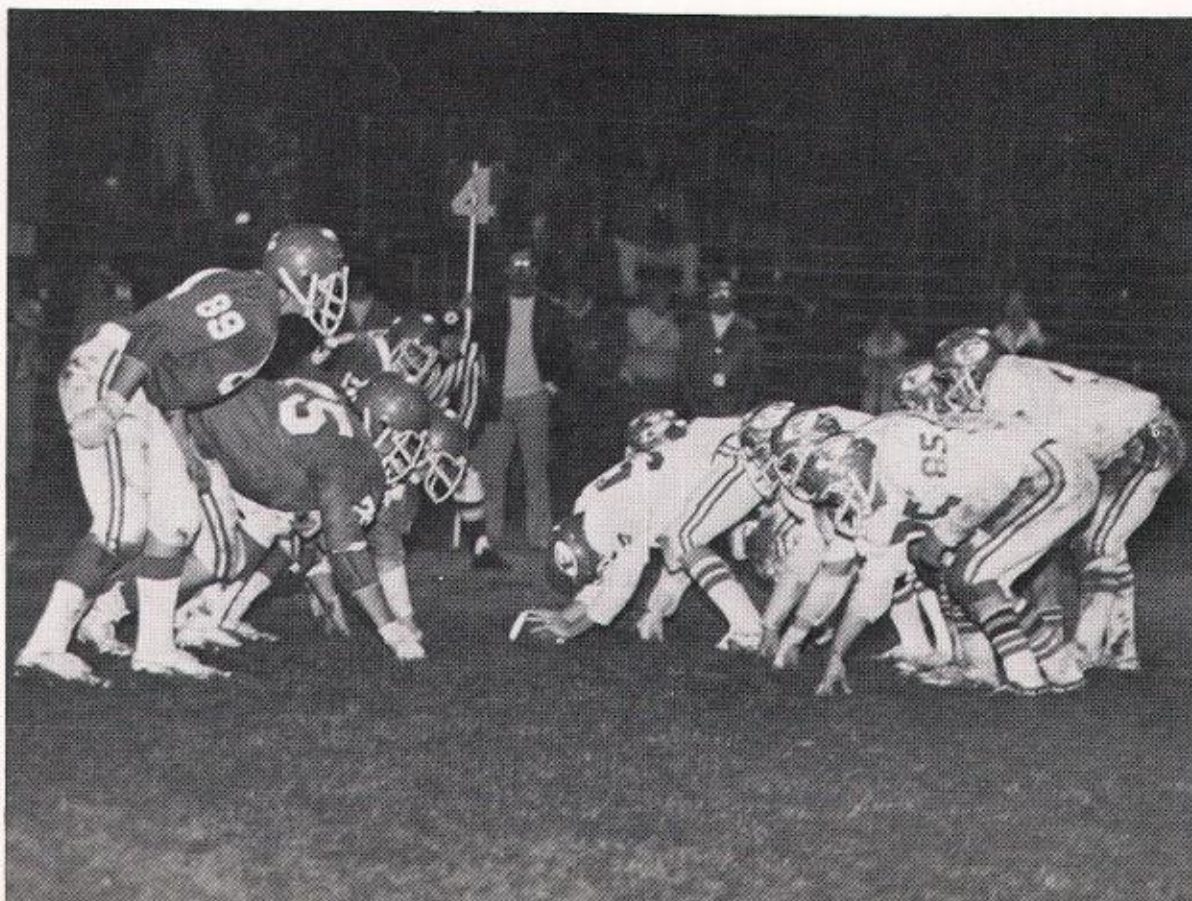

CCS Champs!

—Steve Worman

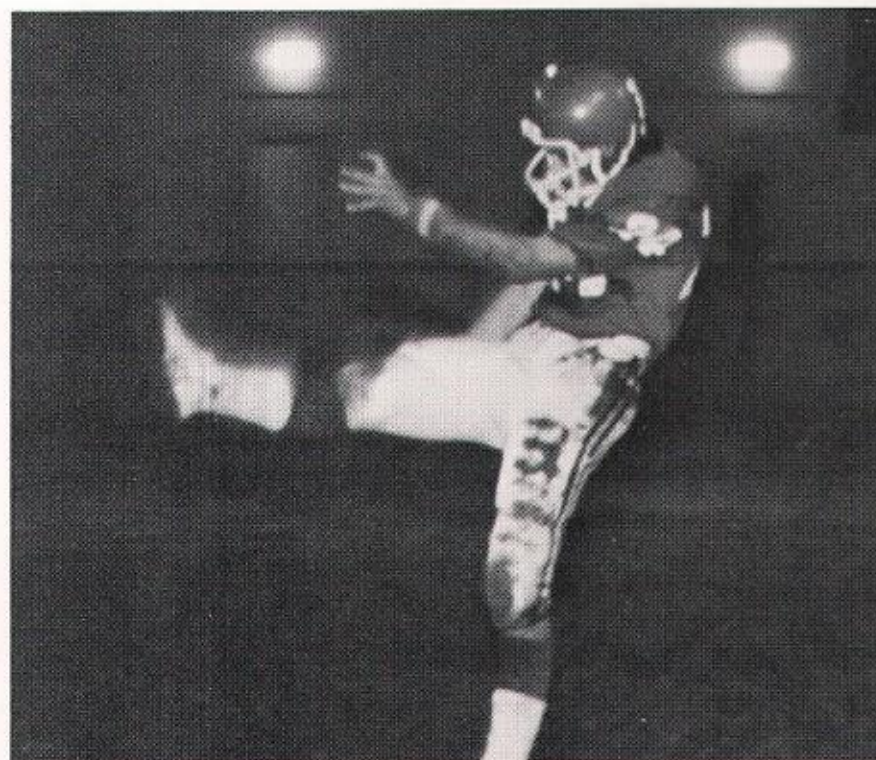

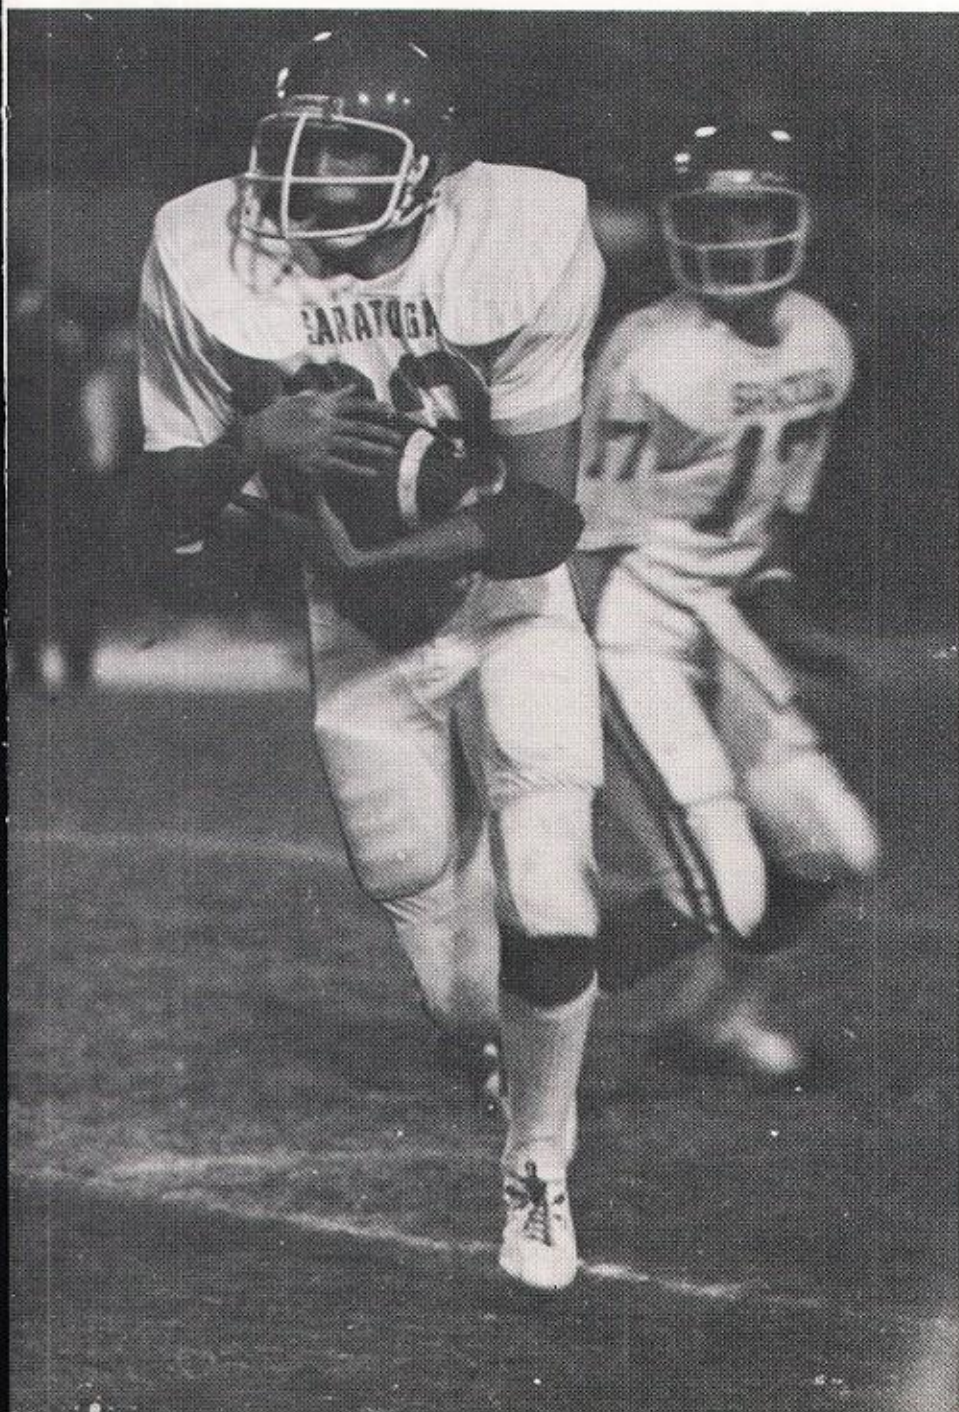

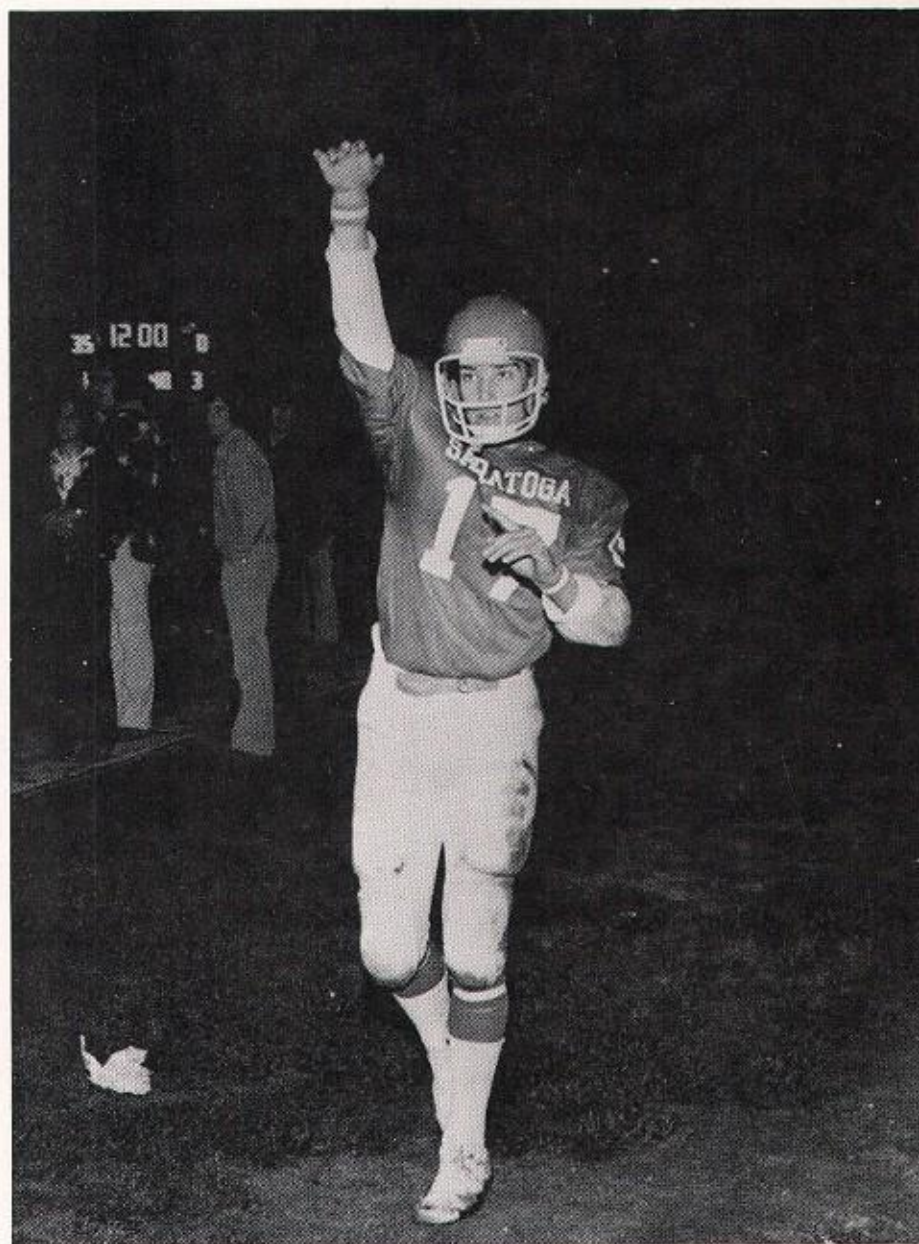

When you think back upon all the wins we had; of our tremendous success, the first that pops into your mind is WHY? Why did we win? We didn't have as much talent as Saratoga did in '73'. Sure we had a few standouts, but not enough to compare with the line of the '73' team. Well then, except for fantastic coaching, I really think the 'why' could be answered in one word; LOVE.

We were like one big family with Coach Pierce as our father. It was just a pleasure to be part of such love and friendships.

JV football splits with 5-5 year

The 1976 football season was a very good season for me as well as for the whole team. We had fun all year long even though we lost a few games. We finished the season with five wins and five losses. The record does not speak for the team. We had an excellent team, with much talent and great coaching. We worked hard all year and never gave up. When behind, we always came back, and even if the game was out of reach, we fought till the game was over. There were some disappointing events during the season, but we always seemed to fight back. I really respected the team and I hope the school did too. This is my only year to play

J.V. football and I will remember it for a long time.

—Rod Tiffie

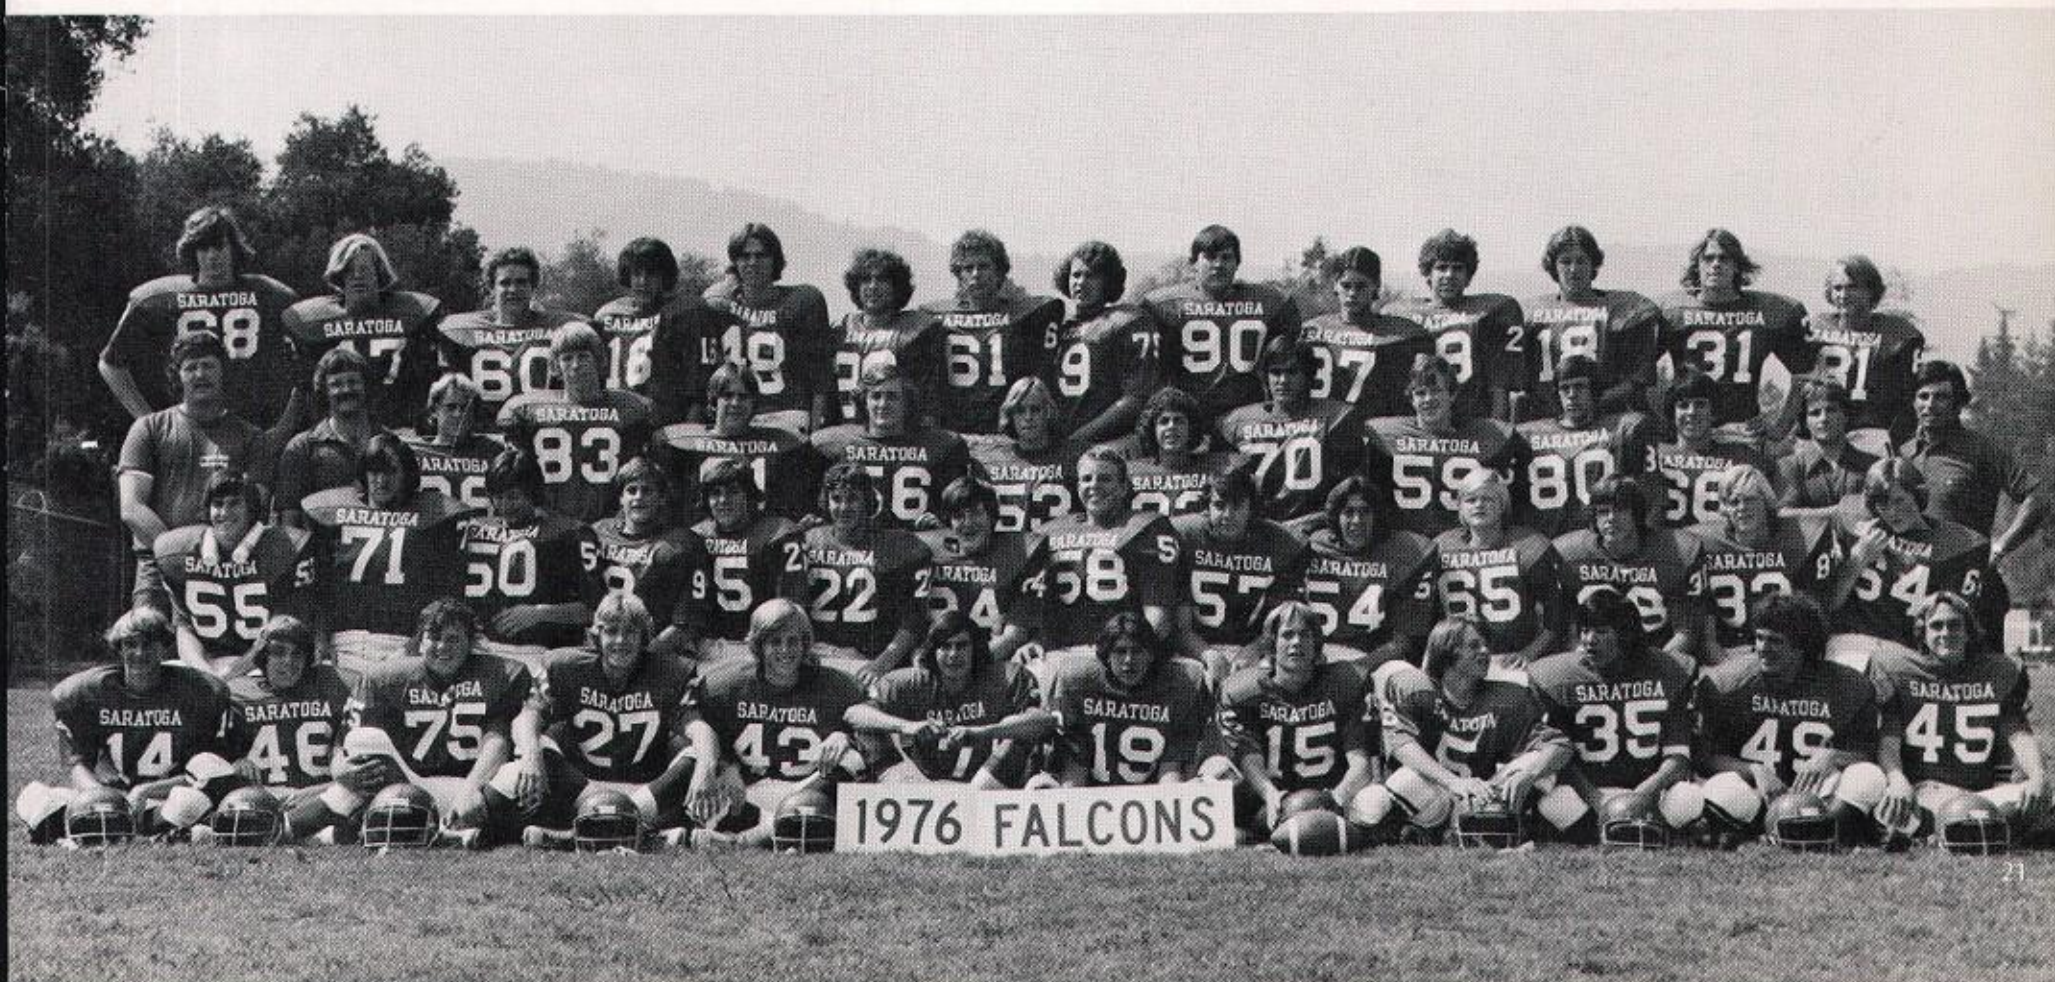

The 1976 J.V. football season was like a roller coaster ride. The season fibrillated between high and low points. Many of the low points involved injuries to many key players and other players moving away. The high points were winning key games and watching many players mature into outstanding individuals. Overall it was a great season as the Falcons ended up as co-champs of the new De Anza League.

Frosh experience rebuilding year

We had three weeks to prepare for our first season game—Lynbrook, our new league rival. We went into this game with high hopes and were looking forward to an 8 and 0 year and after our 28-14 defeat by Lynbrook we could still hope for taking the league. We learned a lot from our first game, we learned that we were small and that the most spirited team didn't win the game. Our young coaching staff, Al Elenson, Paul Quickard, Shively and Randy Cone, was led by the old man of the group George Thibaut.

After our loss to Fremont we were ready to start the season. We lost our first season game to Monta Vista. But hard working quarterback Lyndy Meggs had perfected a beautiful scramble. With great defensive efforts we were able to beat Lynbrook in our fifth season game 20-14. After a game against Fremont we finished our season with a 1 and 5 record, and a lot of experience.

C's finish with 7-won, 5-lost record

When you've played C basketball for three years you get to know a lot of people and three different teams. But, out of all three years, this last year has been the best.

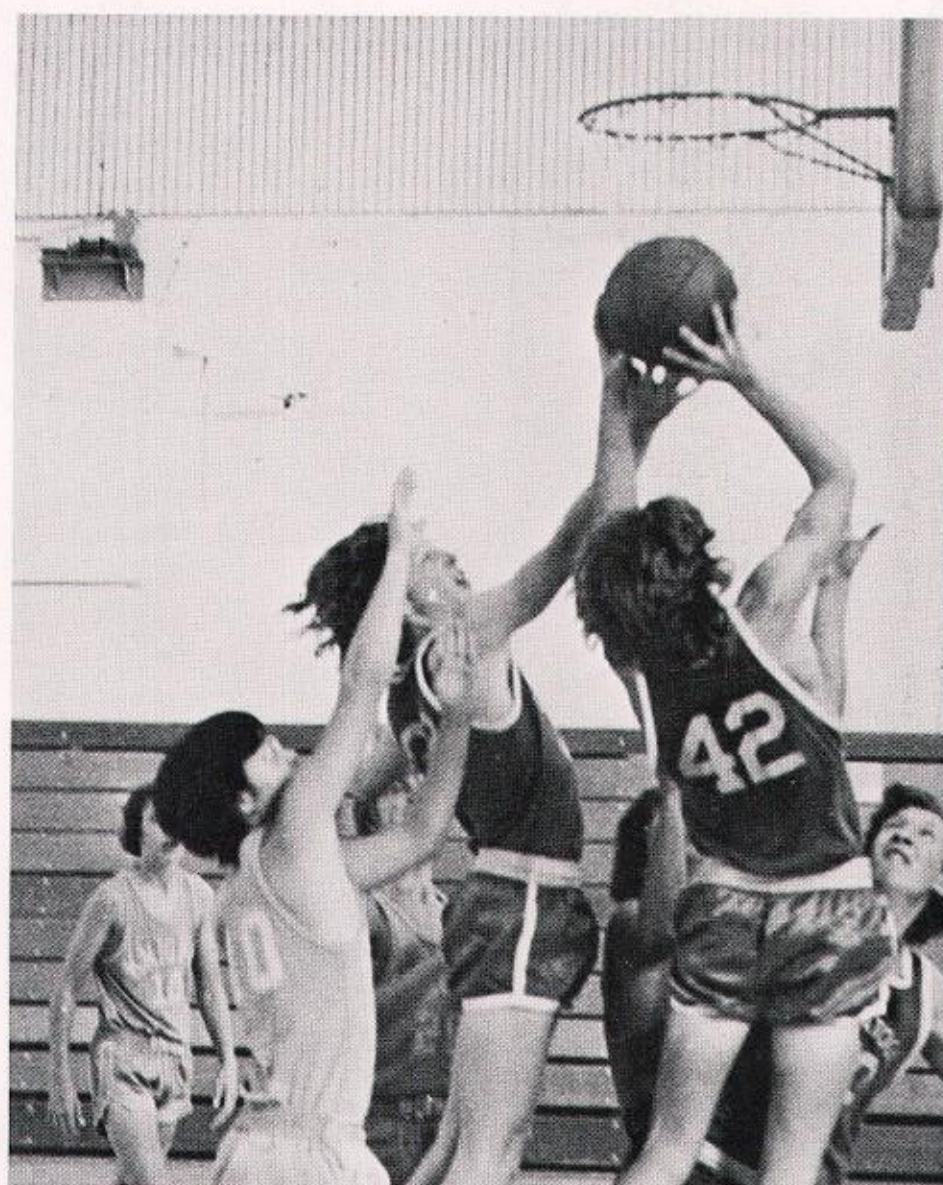

Every guy on this team put out one hundred percent. Everybody was at every practice. Our practices were not bad at all because everyone was pretty well at ease with everyone else. When we weren't taking practice seriously, we were punished by doing three man weaves. We never learned how to do those properly.

Our team ended the season with seven wins and five losses. We were capable of winning more games than we did. Although the reserves didn't play as much as the starters, they all stuck in there and gave us the support we needed. Much of the credit should go to our coach, Mr. George Wightman.

He always told us that we were better than the other team (he was right) and our confidence never faltered. As far as I can see, in a league with as many good teams as we played, we had a very good year. I wish the team luck next year.

—David Gragnola
C Team Captain

Despite a disappointing 1-11 season, the D basketball team felt they had accomplished a lot in that they learned a great deal about themselves, their teammates, and the game of basketball. The team was coached by Mike Kerns, and was led by freshmen Jim Hulme and Brad Gustafson. Derek Bazlen summed up his feelings towards the season when he said, "It was a lot of fun, especially the free Zee-meets."

Cross Country no. 1 in regionals

After running most of the summer on our own, following a build-up program put together by Coach Harmatz, we started meeting as a team on August 9 and by this time running ten miles a day.

We made a one week trip to Yosemite, including daily runs totaling ten miles, one at 7:00 a.m. and the other at 4:00 p.m. Along with the workouts we really made the best of the week, we hiked, swam and attempted to cook our own meals.

The food and elevation had peculiar effects on some of the runners. But this trip no doubt prepared us for the races ahead.

The workouts were more physically tiring than the actual races, which were more mental. Nothing was better than a pat on the shoulder and a wish of good luck from your fellow teammate. And then right before the race a short prayer to God that I'd run my best and that nothing tragic would happen.

In the Stanford invitational, the course was about 2.7 miles and our Varsity was up against about 25 teams. Even though the competition was tough we came through, with Martin Rohe in the top ten, picking up a medal and his brother Matt close behind, followed by Steve Bruns and the rest of the Varsity team achieving a first place trophy.

All the preparation, including morning runs. Often times some of us had to get up at 6:30 a.m. and run, in order to make it to first period. This, along with Coach Harmatz's well put together workouts and excellent coaching all paid off in League Finals, Regionals and CCS.

In League Finals the Varsity team, led by Steve Bruns, Martin and Matt Rohe finished as League champions for the second year in a row.

The Junior Varsity also took the League with Chuck Johnson, George Heiner and Brian Prestwich taking 1st, 2nd and 3rd places. Finishing 3rd in the League were the freshman. In the Regionals, the Varsity came through in first. Unfortunately the team had a bad day at CCS with some injuries, so they didn't finish as well as predicted.

Hockey team sports new outfits

The 1976 girls hockey team started off their season with a new look! Gone were the tunics of years past! This year the members of the hockey team were seen around the campus of Saratoga High School on the day of a game wearing their bright new red and blue kilts—a welcomed addition to this years team. Our coaches, Donnie Mason, and Kim Hoffschild, also new to Saratoga this year, have worked very hard getting us ready for our season.

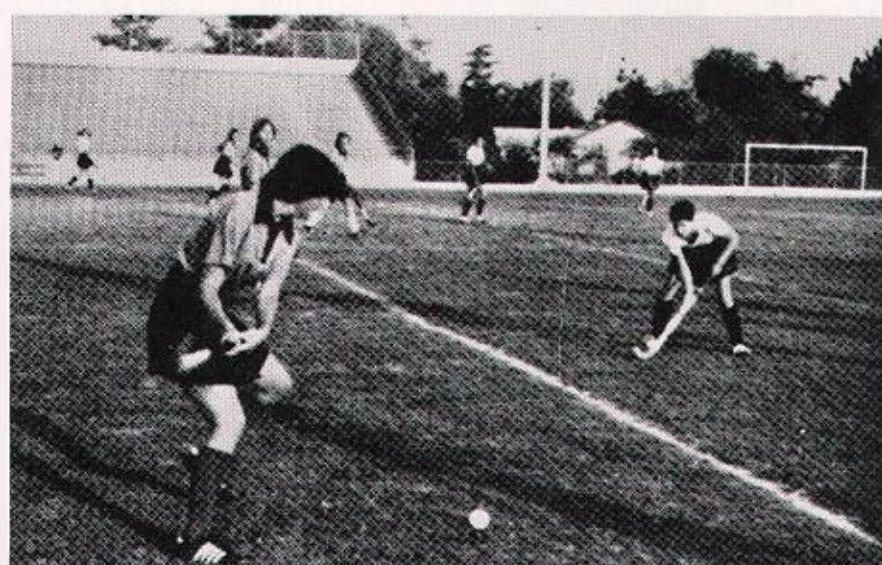

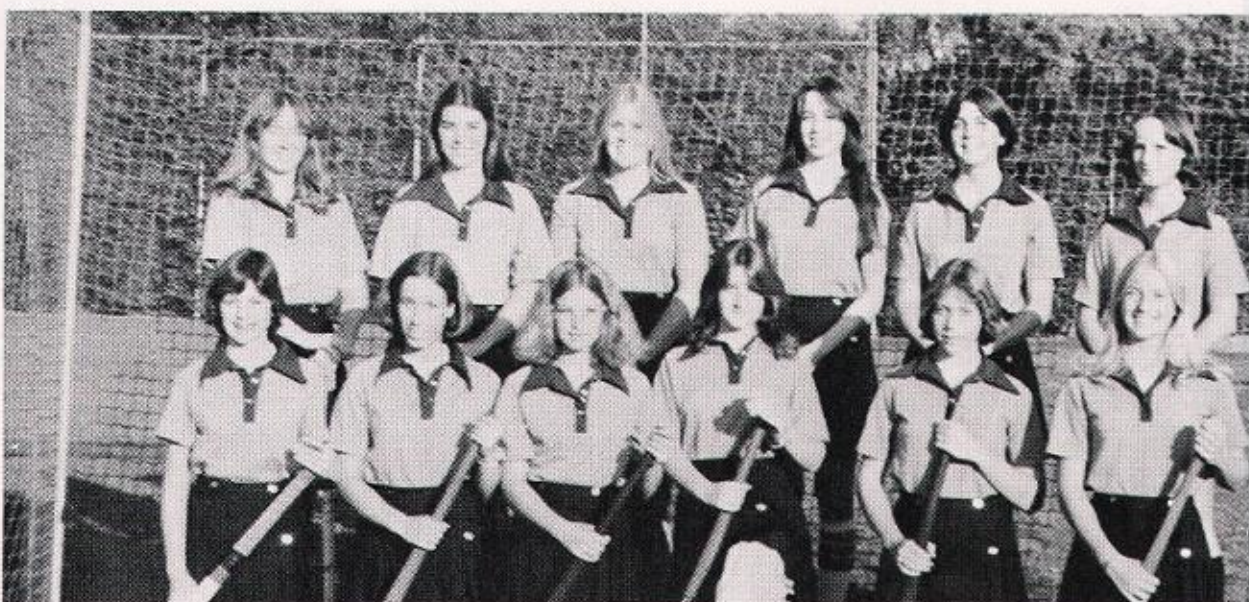

To me "team spirit" is what field hockey is all about. Its presence is felt both on the field and off. After a hard game, each girl feels closer to her teammates and coaches. Since hockey is a team sport, the accomplishments of the team as a whole are measured and not any one individual's performance which adds to this feeling of team unity and spirit.

This was my first year of playing field hockey and I feel I've learned a lot about the game. Our season was an experience. Like any sport, it had its ups and downs, but overall was full of fun! It was a great way to stay in shape and make new friends.

Poloists gain experience

Although the water polo team did not sport an impressive win-loss record, both the coaches, Mike Devine and Larry Stansfield, and the players felt the season was successful.

There will be many sophomores and juniors returning to the polo squad next year. Coach Devine feels confident that next year they will have a better win-loss record because of the overall improvement of the players in skills, attitude, and team play toward the end of the season.

The frosh team, with members Scott Aal, Jeff Bierach, Keith Barna, Scott Brown, Fred Dick, Kelly Grant, Chuck Grens, Lee Hold, Tom Mallaney, Tom McLaughlin, and Jay Mollahan, also in its first year of play, had a learning season.

Lone loss doesn't dampen swimmers

Coach Susan Gordon's Falcon swimmers faced their first defeat in ten years against the tougher competition of the De Anza League this season. They had been champions of the West Valley League since 1965.

Both divisions did manage to hold their own against the new competition however, as the varsity team took third overall and the J.V. squad emerged second.

During the season, the varsity team suffered only two dunkings. The first was against Homestead, one of the top C.C.S. contenders. The second was an upset caused by Cupertino, who combined the best swimmers from both their divisions to beat the varsity Falcons.

Coach Marti Lipman's J.V. team won all but one of its meets, with an early season loss against Fremont marring an otherwise perfect league record.

"In a way it's good to lose", philosophized Coach Gordon. "At least it will give us more incentive to work."

The varsity squad was led by freshmen Veronica Pal and Martha Evans, sophomores Kathy Maurer, Jennifer Hinshaw and Tina Brozda, juniors Sue Skidmore and Ann De Benedetti and senior Jody Tatro.

Outstanding J.V.'ers were sophomores Cindy Stevens, Denise Brown, Allison Berry and Maureen O'Haren.

Although they worked hard, the girls had fun, too. Sophomore Megan Mori recalls the season with these memories:

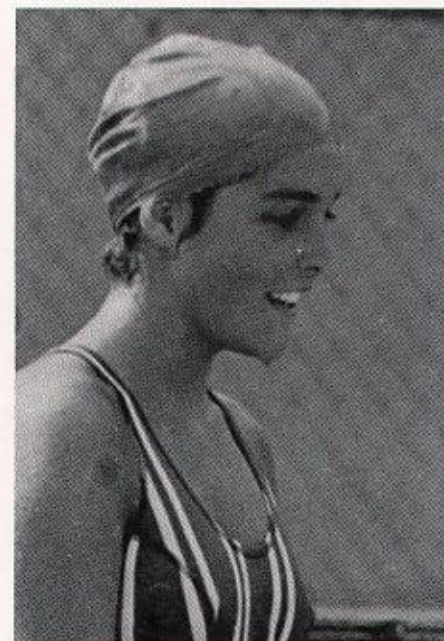

"... Wild. And FUN! ... sore muscles ... Mrs. Gordon yelling at us to calm down on the bus ... the guys (on the water polo team), accidentally missing and throwing the balls in our pool ... 'FLIRT' ... 'Diane Ferreira, could you please turn on the radio?' ... our super-neat breakfast ... swimathon? ... 20 50's on the 45! WHAT? ... you're almost done ... # Tennis finishes season as winners

The Saratoga girl's tennis team finished the season as winners. Coached by Miss Marty Peetz, the varsity team placed second in the league right behind Lynbrook after beating them in the second round 5-2. The J.V. team grabbed the title for FIRST place, beating Lynbrook 5-0. They received the experienced coaching of Mrs. Tina Kellogg. The season ended on another fantastic note when Liz Kobara and Terry Rosato took second place in doubles in the league finals. For J.V., Maggie Wright and Susie Wong took second in doubles and Adelle Andersen and Kiki Herbst took first and second consecutively.

New league challenges volleyball teams

Throughout the year we have eyed the trophy earned another year in another league; however, this is 1976 and we are pulling hard to gain a reputation in the De Anza league.

All of our teams are learning good basics, teamwork, sportmanship and commitment through the strong coaching of "steady" Ms. Judy Ellis and two-year able assistant Ellen. To date our losses equal our wins but with each game we can see the gains. The freshman additions to volleyball are great-Hello Future! Goodbye Seniors, we'll miss you but-Hello Future!

Spirit squads earn accolades

Spirit at Saratoga this year has had a great improvement over that of previous years and we all are confident that the coming years will produce even more enthusiasm on the part of the teachers themselves.

Both Song Girls and Varsity went to camp this summer and did very well. They came home with mostly superior ribbons and lots of spirit awards. The Varsity and J.V. Cheerleaders also received the Spirit stick two days in a row which entitled them to bring it home. The Flag Girls did a super job at camp also. All the squads did an exceptionally great job at camp and their performances throughout the year showed this.

Rooter commuters contribute support

I'm sure you've all heard of the meatball, the bench warmer, and the water boy not receiving adequate recognition, but the fact that you've heard about them so often indicates that their status in the athletic world is not totally obscure. I'm not here to reflect upon these people, but to reflect upon the truly unsung heroes of Saratoga football- the Rooter Commuters.

When you arrive at school to ride the rooter's bus, the typical scene is a large group of people waiting expectantly for the buses to arrive so that they might get a good seat for the trip. For the departure at 5:15, the buses arrive in the Saratoga parking lot promptly at 5:30.

In an instant, the doors open and the students pile in. The security system to control stowaways is excelled only by the airtight security of Watergate. Each person who rides the bus gets his hand stamped for identification. I'm not sure whether the stamp prohibits you from getting off or getting back on.

To avoid the unsafe condition of only two people per seat, a packing factor has been calculated based on the air bag principle. With everyone stacked in the bus, if there is any abrupt change in direction, it is accompanied by the whoosing of lungs being compressed. It is not to be said that the buses are overcrowded. Never do they exceed the maximum capacity of forty-two—in the first three seats.

The congenial personalities of the Saratoga-Los Gatos bus drivers misinterpret the whoosing of lungs and moans of pain for an unruly group of students. I understand that to acquire this congenial personality, the bus drivers are required to slam the door on their feet at least once before meeting the students. I think some exceed the minimum requirements.

The yellow peril of the freeways lurches forward into the misty night with a billowing burst of carbon monoxide and the fine mist of motor oil belching from the tailpipes.

You realize that you've arrived at the game when the bus slams to a stop and the door creaks open. Amazingly enough, there are few casualties when the students explode from the bus.

It normally takes an experienced trailblazer to find the way to the field after getting off the bus. Sometimes the faint din of distant drums can lead you to the game or occasionally a glow of light on the horizon indicates the location of the field.

The anxiety you experience in the stands is in regard to the return trip home rather than the outcome of the game-another expected victory.

After the game, as students pack into the bus, the bus driver determines the time for departure by trying to close the door. If the door closes without a hearty heave, then he opens it again until the bus reaches full capacity.

Once full, the bus lurches forward, rumbling home into the night.

So, after enduring such hardships to support our boys in red, I feel the 1976 Saratoga Rooter Commuters deserve a rousing cheer. Rah!

Rally contests boost school spirit

The spirit of 76 at Saratoga High this year was sky high. Involvement in rallies, cheering and just getting into it was overwhelming. Each class proved to be strong in rally competition as well as yelling and this added to the spirit of our school. With all this participation among everyone, Saratoga again proved that we're hard to beat!

Juniors and seniors share trophy

Homecoming this year was by far better than most Saratoga High School has ever had in years past. People truly worked hard to pull off this special event, and the work paid-off!

There was so much going on from red and white day on Monday, to nerd day, and era day. But we'll all remember getting up at 4:00 to decorate the halls for class competition.

We won't forget the rallys and watching Jeff Dennis eat 34 marshmallows all at once! Then there was the VW push race which wasn't exactly burning rubber but proved to be quite a drag race. Strength comes with age was proved in the shopping cart race, as the seniors crossed the finish line first and the juniors and sophomores and freshman came in respectively.

Then the night came, filled with tissue-paper, Elmers Glue, and staples as the class floats knew it. Also the princesses, the first king of Saratoga High, and the queen! All in all, the night proved very memorable, and one we will all remember.

On that Monday, Friday seemed so far away, but as Friday afternoon rolled around it was a continuous race with the clock. At five our float wasn't finished, the corsages and boutineers weren't bought and our dinner reservations were for six thirty. This was only the beginning.

Leaving for the restaurant late we drove down the freeway at 60 m.p.h. During dinner we were told to hurry up and drink our wine, and at 8:30 we had to tell the waiter to forget the souffle that took 45 minutes to prepare. We had to be at the game in 15 minutes.

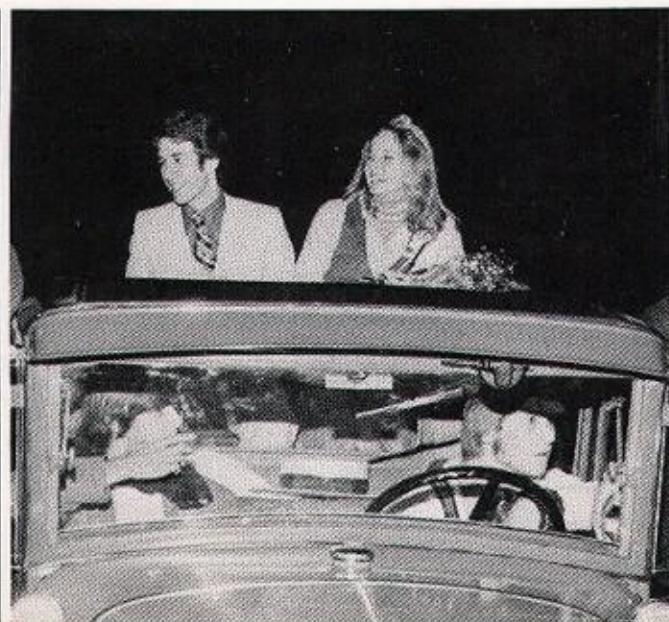

Arriving at the school three minutes before halftime, we learned we had to pay to get into the game. Once inside, we discovered we had lost Bill and Muffie somewhere, but we couldn't wait any longer so we ran down to the cars, hopped in and pretended to be calm.

We will never forget walking down the muddy field, clinging to our escorts for support, and laughing at Bob's joke about falling on our faces.

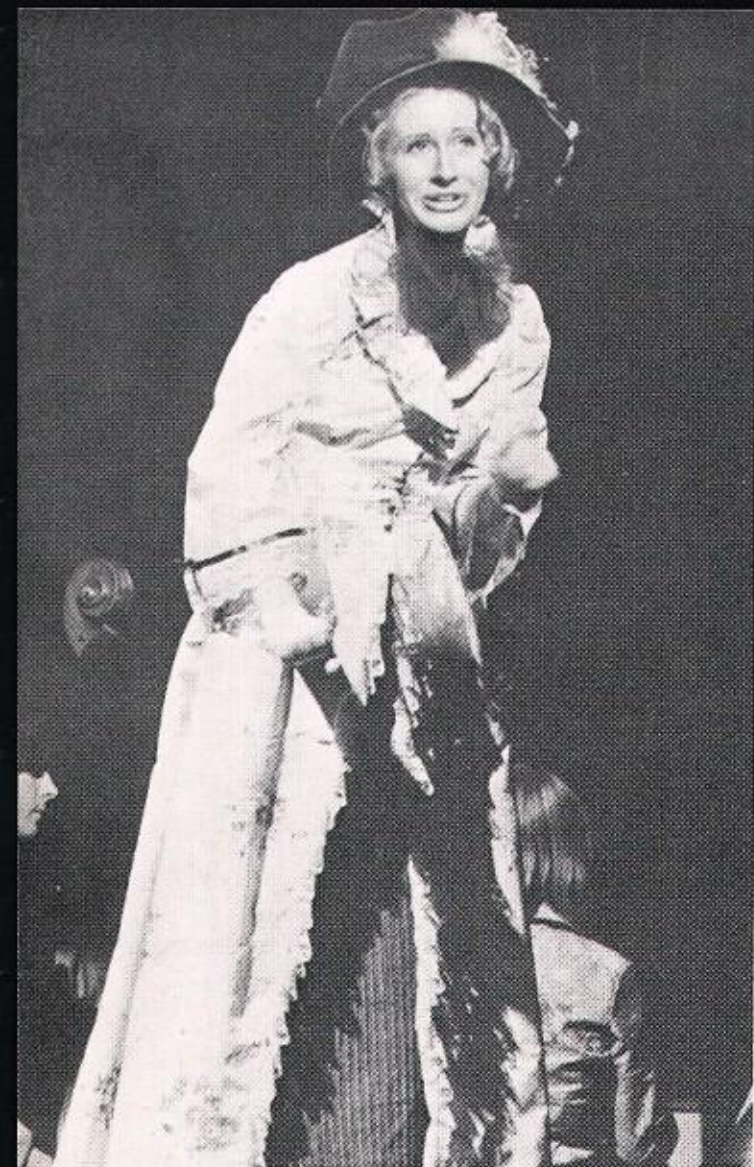

However, we made it to the platform. Waiting for the crown seemed like forever as the excitement built up. When Sue was announced queen we felt very, very happy for her, and relief too, because it was over, and the champagne and chocolate chip ice cream made our memories complete.

Dolly says hello to big crowds

In our lives we are faced with competition in practically every function we engage in. This is not a wrong way of doing things, for after all, our educational, and economical systems are based on competition.

A group was formed this fall with one goal in mind, to make an audience laugh, cry, and dance inside themselves. This is a difficult task but not an impossible one.

Hundred of hours were spent together, pushing and pulling our emotions in every direction. After a while certain barriers were broken. These barriers which are present and possibly even established in school, restrict us from freely showing our feelings and recognizing the true character that lurks within each one of us. As show time neared we started to realize how much love we all had shared, and we began to appreciate it. We found that we were like a huge family who hadn't even known each other in September.

When opening night finally arrived, we climaxed with an incredible force which swelled from the hearts of both the audience and the stage. If we can be so bold as to speak for everyone in the show, we would say that those first three hours on opening night, made every hour of work pay off. Every show seemed to generate more emotion, as closing night neared, we realized things would never be the same again.

Closing night finally arrived and we gave our statement to the audience. As the curtain closed our hearts forced us to either smile with excitement, or to weep because it was over. After the show things tapered back to normal, but the memories will last a lifetime.

Speech, debate team revived

Since the late 1960's Saratoga High had been without a speech and debate team but this year things changed with the introduction of Ms. Kathy Esteves as discussion and debate teacher. She spent many lunch periods and weekends organizing and coaching students interested in refining their speaking skills for local competition.

The Saratoga speech and debate team attended four meets sponsored by local high schools. Students entered such events as dramatic interpretation, humorous interpretation, original oratory and extemporaneous speaking.

Success was limited due to the fact that the Saratoga team was the smallest and newest entered in competition. However, they did gain recognition through their early meets through such students as Martin Tuttle, Lucy Contini, Bryan Graveline and Shawn Cartwright.

It wasn't easy starting up a team what with having to put up with names like the mouths and representatives of Gabriel but if the team was able to withstand those jibes they should go mouthing off for years to come.

Saratoga's chess team captured the West Valley League chess Championship this year by defeating Branham, five games to two.

Omar Billawalla was the team's standout, going undefeated through the whole season. Troy Kirk and Isaac Engel are the only seniors on this year's varsity squad, so adviser Norm Wild expects a strong team to return next year.

On a recent Monday our fourth period English class had the chance to interview Miss Esteves, the new speech teacher at Saratoga High. We prepared questions ahead of time. As she walked into our room all eyes were upon her, but she just casually propped herself on top of the student desks and with a big sigh said, "OK., fire away."

Miss Esteves is a 22 year old graduate of San Jose State with a B.A. in Drama and a minor in music. She also has the honor of holding the title of "Miss Santa Clara County." These were some of the questions that were asked: How did you get interested in the Miss Santa Clara County Contest? I always wanted to be in a contest like that just to prove to myself that I could do it. One day a friend suggested it to me. She had already entered. I asked myself, "Why not?" so, there I went. What have some of your experiences been as Miss Santa Clara County? Well, once I was asked to wear an eleven-thousand dollar diamond. I'm asked to a lot of ribbon cuttings, banquets and speeches. I've never made so many of them in my life. The amount of people you meet is fantastic, especially the little kids.

They really admire you.

What do you do in your spare time? I love baseball, gymnastics and dancing. Dancing! I guess I'd say I have inherent Latin beats. I also enjoy traveling and playing the piano. If I were a millionaire, I would probably spend my life traveling ... meeting people ... living. I adore autumn days, dark days with stormy weather, which coincides with mystery. Mystery stories -love them! I guess I'm a Taurus all the way. How did you become motivated in the teaching career? I think I've always had the career of teaching in mind. I love acting and drama. I thought, "why not combine it?" I love teaching kids. It's a great feeling being able to share your knowledge. How do you feel about women's lib? Women, as far as I'm concerned, are just as intelligent as men. Are you planning to marry in the future? I'd love to share my life with someone, but I haven't any plans in the near future. We all learned that Miss Esteves is an exuberant, energetic, vibrant person that seems positive of herself. We hope her life will stay successful, as it has been so far.

Now that classes this year are supposed to be emphasizing careers and how each course you take can relate to an occupation, it is only appropriate that the English department receives the special recognition which it deserves. According to tests given to high school seniors throughout the county, students at Saratoga ranked in the 90's in English related subjects. What better preparation is there for any career, and life in general, than knowing the basic skills of writing and grammar?

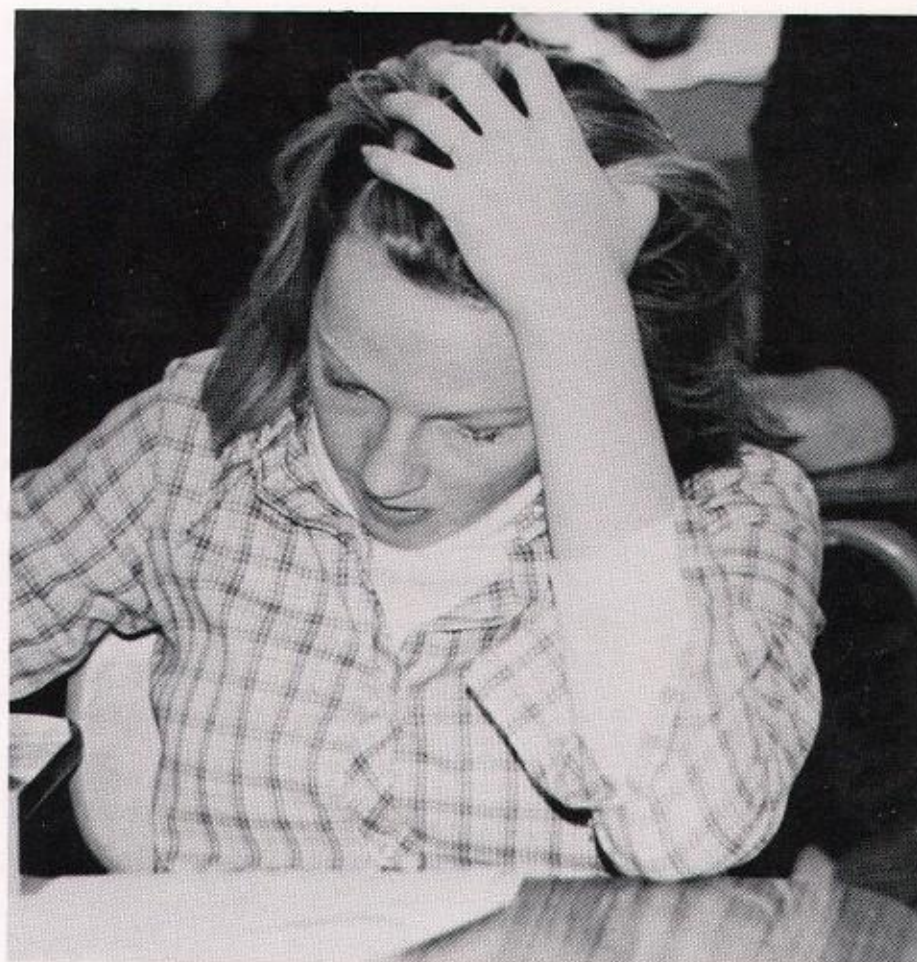

No matter what field you enter - whether it's as a nuclear scientist, anthropologist, or newspaper editor, being able to read and write clearly is essential, and according to the study taken, Saratoga students are pretty good at both!

With Mr. Henry Rogalsky transferring to the counseling department, two new teachers, Mr. Al Ellenson and Mr. Bill Drennan, joined the Saratoga math staff. The math department is now the second largest in the school and despite some complaints about the relevance of algebra to the average Saratoga student, over three quarters of them are taking it or some other math class.

Mr. Ellenson said that he enjoys teaching at Saratoga, finding the students unusually motivated and receptive to new ideas. He feels that this makes his job a good deal easier, especially when compared to the other areas in which he has taught.

The following are an approximate statement of my personal perspective of the process we call Saratoga High school.

At this point in time Saratoga High seems to be drifting DOWN STREAM in a larger national process. As a people we U.S. Americans are more and more electing to turn backs on the beautiful challenge placed on our backs by the courageous visionaries of the period in which our country was founded.

We seem to be replacing the values of life, liberty and justice for all, with those of pleasure and convenience. We are failing to develop our awareness about the HIGH COST of supporting our pleasure and convenience. We are not really helping each other or our young people to develop concern about how very expensive our life style is in terms of misery and oppression of our fellow human beings at home and abroad. We are not helping each other to develop an awareness and concern about ways we can begin to show our respect for the delicate balance of the wheel of nature. We are not really building an understanding of the need for the love and compassion of us humans for our earth and for all living creatures who travel with us through space.

Drafting program is one of the best

Saratoga's drafting program is considered to be one of the best in California by other drafting teachers both high school and college. The level of achievement by the students allows them to compete successfully with college students in the area of technical illustration.

Saratoga High students from the drafting program are in demand for related jobs in industry. Some companies come to us and ask for our students because of their broad technical background and the craftsmanship they possess.

The students who go on to higher education are usually given the option to take advanced courses in the drafting area. This allows them to take more advanced training and specialized courses sooner than normal.

—Gerald Hansen

We are failing to focus on the spiritual resources within us and our universe which were so much a part of the perspective of the founders of this great revolutionary process we call the U.S.A. To expect Saratoga High School to swim up stream and provide any kind of beacon light shining on the great ethical principles which can shape men's lives would probably be to expect the impossible. Yet this impossible dream, this small ray of hope is what brings me back on Monday mornings.

Probably one of the best memories anyone could have about school is a good teacher, someone who can make you learn without giving you the feeling that you have to.

After two years with Spanish teacher Mrs. Carolyn McKenna, I realize that she fits into this category like a glove.

While Spanish is described as a "romantic language," let's face it; doing verb drills all period every day is not going to keep anyone on the edge of his or her seat. Mrs. McKenna, however, plans skits done in Spanish, creative writing in Spanish and contests in Spanish. We read plays in Spanish, and even an abridged version of DON QUIXOTE DE LA MANCHA. Periodically, students ask her to explain certain passages in the book that they don't understand, and "Senora McKenna" acts the scene impersonating the self-righteous Don Quixote or his corpulent, bungling friend, Sancho Panza. It may look strange to walk into the classroom to see her waving around a homemade wooden sword while doing an impression of Don Quixote, but Mrs. McKenna puts communication before dignity, and losing a little of that dignity means nothing to her, as long as we understand what she is trying to say.

Whether she knew it or not, Mrs. McKenna conveyed another message to me besides the meaning of Spanish words. She likes what she is doing; she loves it in fact, and anyone can see it as her whole face seems to light up when she sees a student just catching on to an idea, or when she is waving her wooden sword around, or when she pretends to put an "F" in the gradebook during a mock argument with a student.

The foreign language department at S.H.S. meets with close to fifty percent of our current student body, and, offers five years of Spanish and French, four years of German and three years of Latin. Activities range from basic skills in language learning (fun with verbs and grammar) to discussions of literature and culture of Western Europe and the classics.

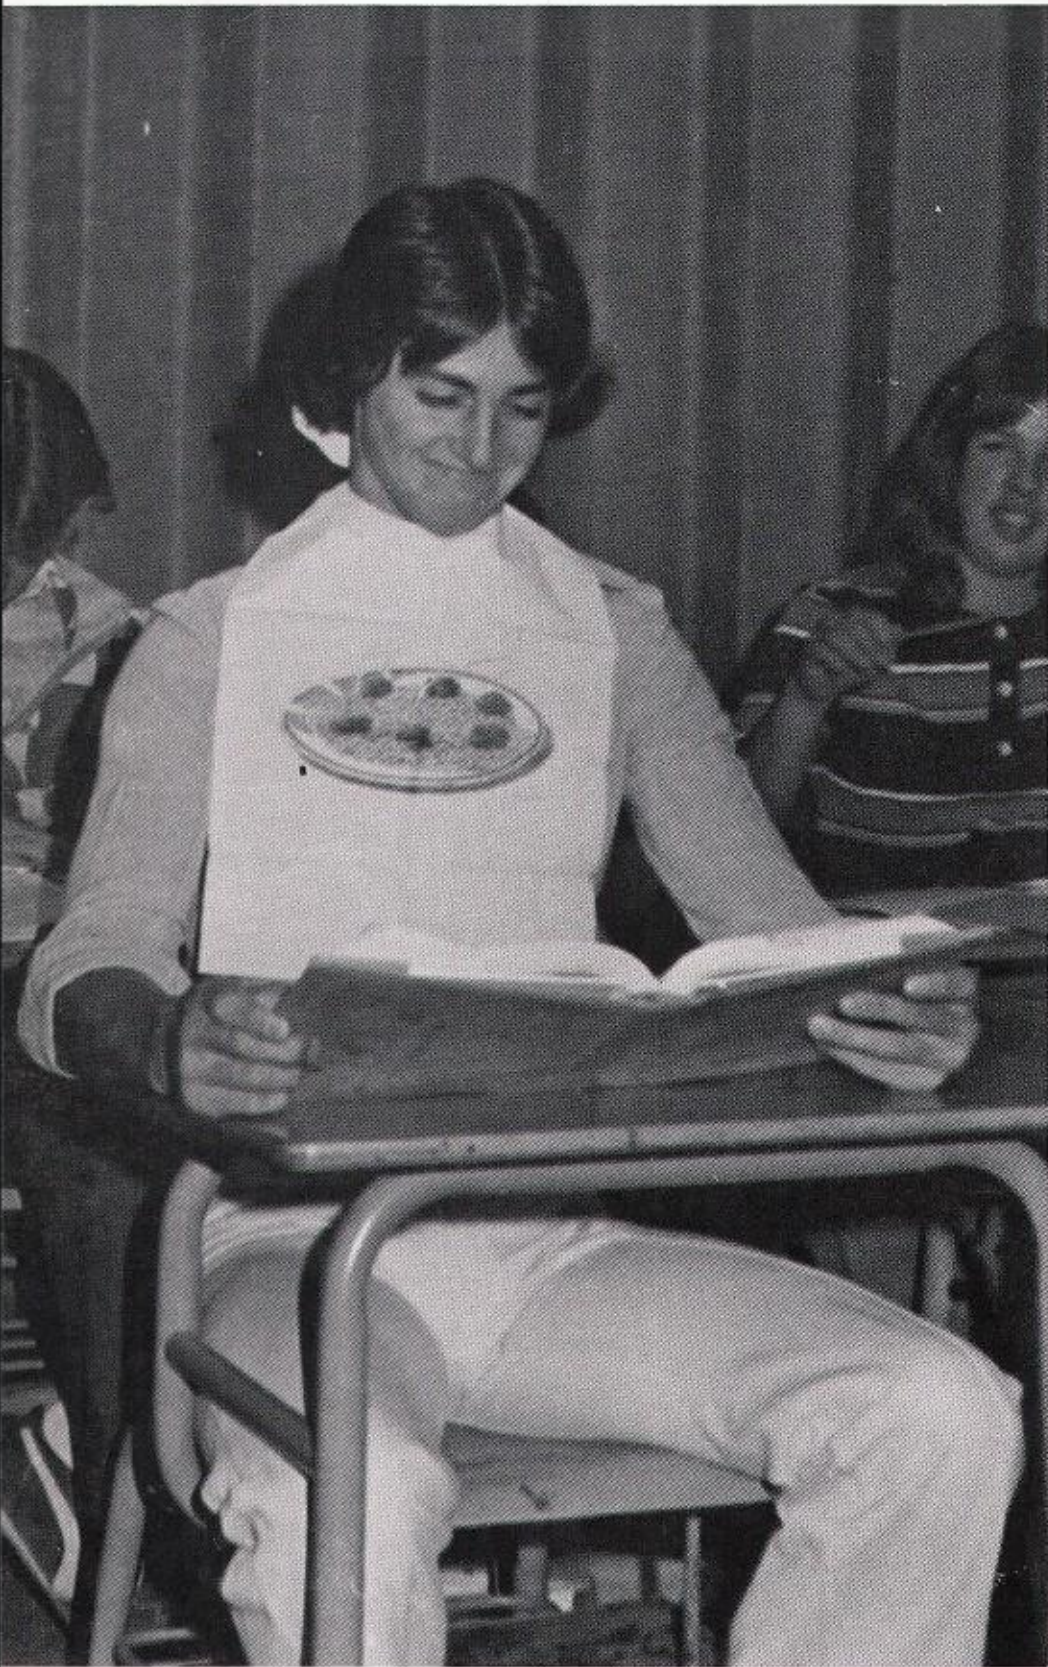

Most of the current staff hold bachelor as well as master degrees in their respective subject matters. Largely enthusiastic toward their classes, the staff enjoys most of Saratoga high school's better students. Language classes have compound difficulties as we must make student achievement both a learning experience and hopefully, some fun.

Highlights of our program are found in the success which students have on the Advanced Placement exams for which they receive college units for their successful placement in advanced classes at the university level.

Hopefully, another highlight and perhaps the most important will be found in the ability to communicate in another language-Porque ya se sabe que nos esforzamos mas!

Social Studies had a few new additions this year. First, a new class, World Affairs which was taught by Joe Calpin. Second, Ms. Velma Lim became the first full time woman on the faculty since Miss Mangum's retirement two years ago. Third, the social Studies faculty got a new office with carpeting, and matching yellow cabinets.

There was a new trend in teaching, going towards extending education beyond the classroom to "where it is really happening." Teachers tried to get students to have first hand experience. Some, by having field trips to San Juan, a city built around tourism, to taking them to Safeway's distribution center in Richmond.

Mr. Denny Daetz took several students on a live in study tour to Ghana West Africa.

Dr. Hugh Roberts and Mr. Greg Bougerie, from the language department took about thirty-six students to Mexico for a week during the winter break.

There are over 500 students enrolled in classes in the music department. That means about one fourth of the student body actively studies a wide variety of musical interests at Saratoga.

We are fortunate to have course offerings which range from our full Symphony orchestra to four concert bands, three choirs, a jazz band, a 200 piece marching band, and two classes for students who just want to learn about music; music appreciation and guitar.

The department continues the high quality of its instruction that led to the award-winning performances of recent years.

If one were to walk in the small gym on a Tuesday or Thursday—you would find Mrs. Peetz and 62 or so students jumping about everywhere. It's quite a sight!

I—the roaming reporter, asked a number of the future dancers of America a few questions.

"What is always said in class?" I asked.

Many replied, "5,6,7,8."

A few others were:

"But, Mrs. Peetz, I don't understand!"

"How's that again?"

"Gosh, I don't know!"

And my favorite reply, "Well, who asked you to talk?!"

As I watched the late students come in to the small gym, Mrs. Peetz could be heard saying under her breath, "Better never than late."

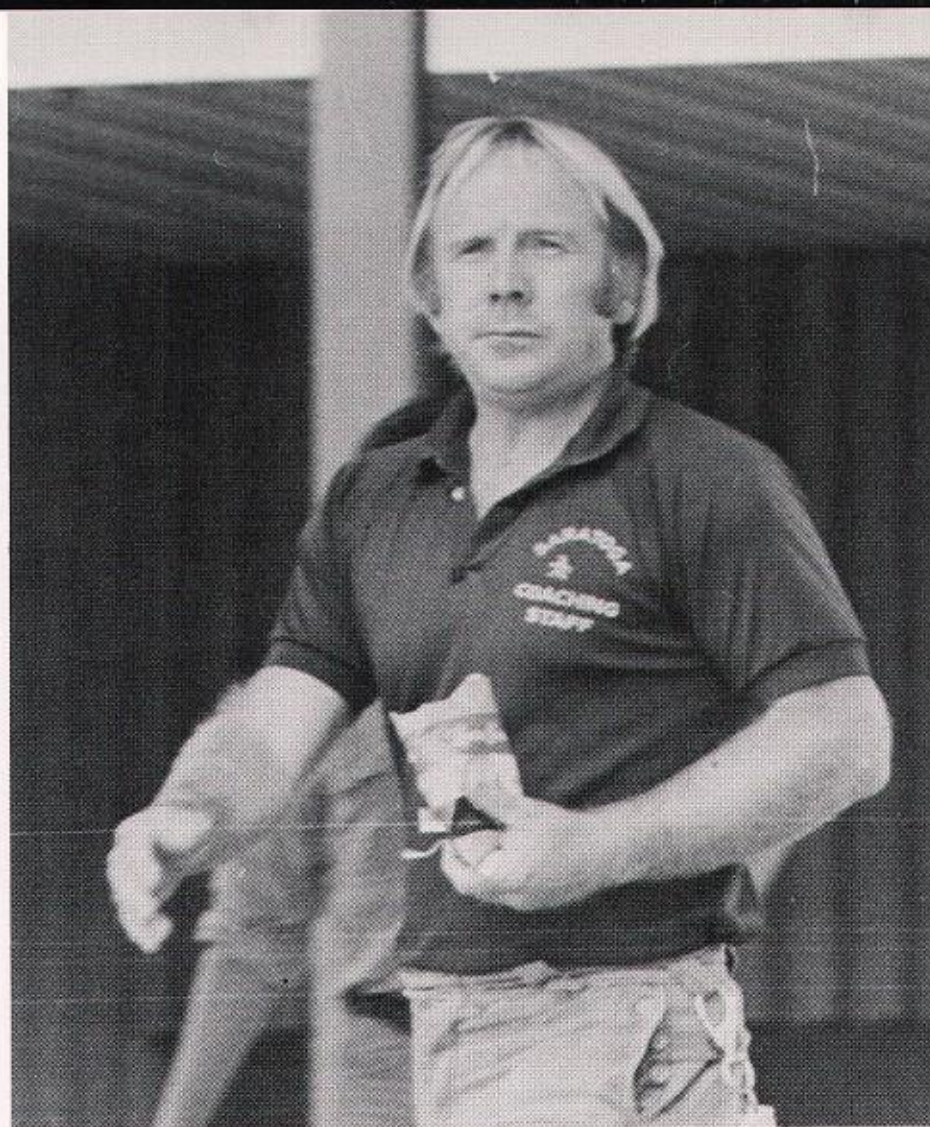

The class was rather large this year and one student commented that next year it should number fewer people and have the class go a full year so they could put on two productions.

Not everyone knows that "dance production" meets every Tuesday and Thursday starting at 7:40 and ending at 9:30. I asked one of the gals how she liked having to get up so early and she bluntly replied, "I hate it."

Next year the class will be offered again and I hope that they have an even MORE successful year.

This year, Saratoga High School has offered an entirely different Physical Education Program. All courses offered, including competitive sports, are now co-educational. If a girl feels she has the ability to compete on a traditionally all-male team, she is welcome to try out—and of course, vice versa. I have participated in both a session of a class which met during regular school hours and also in the all-new "Extended Day Program."

These classes are held either in the mornings or afternoons, before and after school. The school plans on offering such things as horse-back riding, bicycling, sailing and many others. I was enrolled in a sport which I found thoroughly captivating, the all-time favorite, "Bowling."

The bowling class starts at 7:00 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings the student doesn't attend school until 2nd period. Individual transportation is required and attendance is very important. These classes last two hours and much can be accomplished in this time. I find this program enjoyable and I'm sure those involved agree.

New dean finds 'spirit' varied

"Spirit! Quite a broad topic to write on-three hundred words she said, whew! How do I write thirty words or three thousand words on what I feel-what I see? How can I write in flowing verse or non-verse what I hope will dominate not only the Saratoga students days-academic and activities-but their entire lives."

Spirit! The scholars define it as an enthusiastic loyalty to ones school, a mood, a disposition. Individuals, Saratoga High School individuals define spirit as everything from football to German Club from cleaning the campus up to striving for A's on a test. They wear their red and blue and grey proudly because somewhere in their hearts or their minds or their emotions they know that the word Saratoga means more than a community but a communion; more than a committee, but a commitment to excellence.

What is the force that pulls the football team together (that's the word - "together") to win a coveted championship? What is the force that propels scholars to do their best - be it a National Merit Nomination, a C.S.F. award, or the very best they can do - whether it be an A or a C. What is the power that moves the spirit squad, the Pep Club, the rooter's to support athletic teams and athletic teams to practice in order to succeed? What is the strength that propels people - teachers, staff members and students, administrators and parents to get involved in all that is Saratoga? It's that commitment to excellence. The desire to do the very best in everything we Saratoga High School "lovers" set out to do - that's the power I see, that force that I feel. That's spirit.

Change marks counselor's debut

"Change" keeps ruts from getting too deep, water from growing stagnant, and keeps people alive and active with new experiences and challenges. My change from the role of a teacher to that of a counselor has been an interesting and challenging one this year. My new position as counselor has provided me with a new perspective on the problems, frustrations, victories, and achievements experienced by students. The total educational program of Saratoga High School has been observed from a different angle.

One of the most exciting aspects of working with teenagers is to observe the changes in each student as they progress from Freshman to Senior standing. Each change brings new problems to be solved, new achievements to be shared. Many problems that students faced were solved, some were not, and others will just need more time. And through it all this one thing I learned clearly: that is, that I have much to learn.

Varsity basketball upbeats the year

For the basketball fans at Saratoga High School this year's varsity team proved to be an exciting one, with five players Don Herick, Rob Babcock, Greg Jones, Dave Marino and Mark Strasburger back from a last year's team that was just in the threshold of being a winner. There was a good nucleus in which to build a successful season.

Don Herick started his third year on the varsity and proved to be one of the top players in the central coast section. He was definitely the main cog in the Falcon machine being named by his teammates as the team's Most Valuable Player for each of the last two seasons.

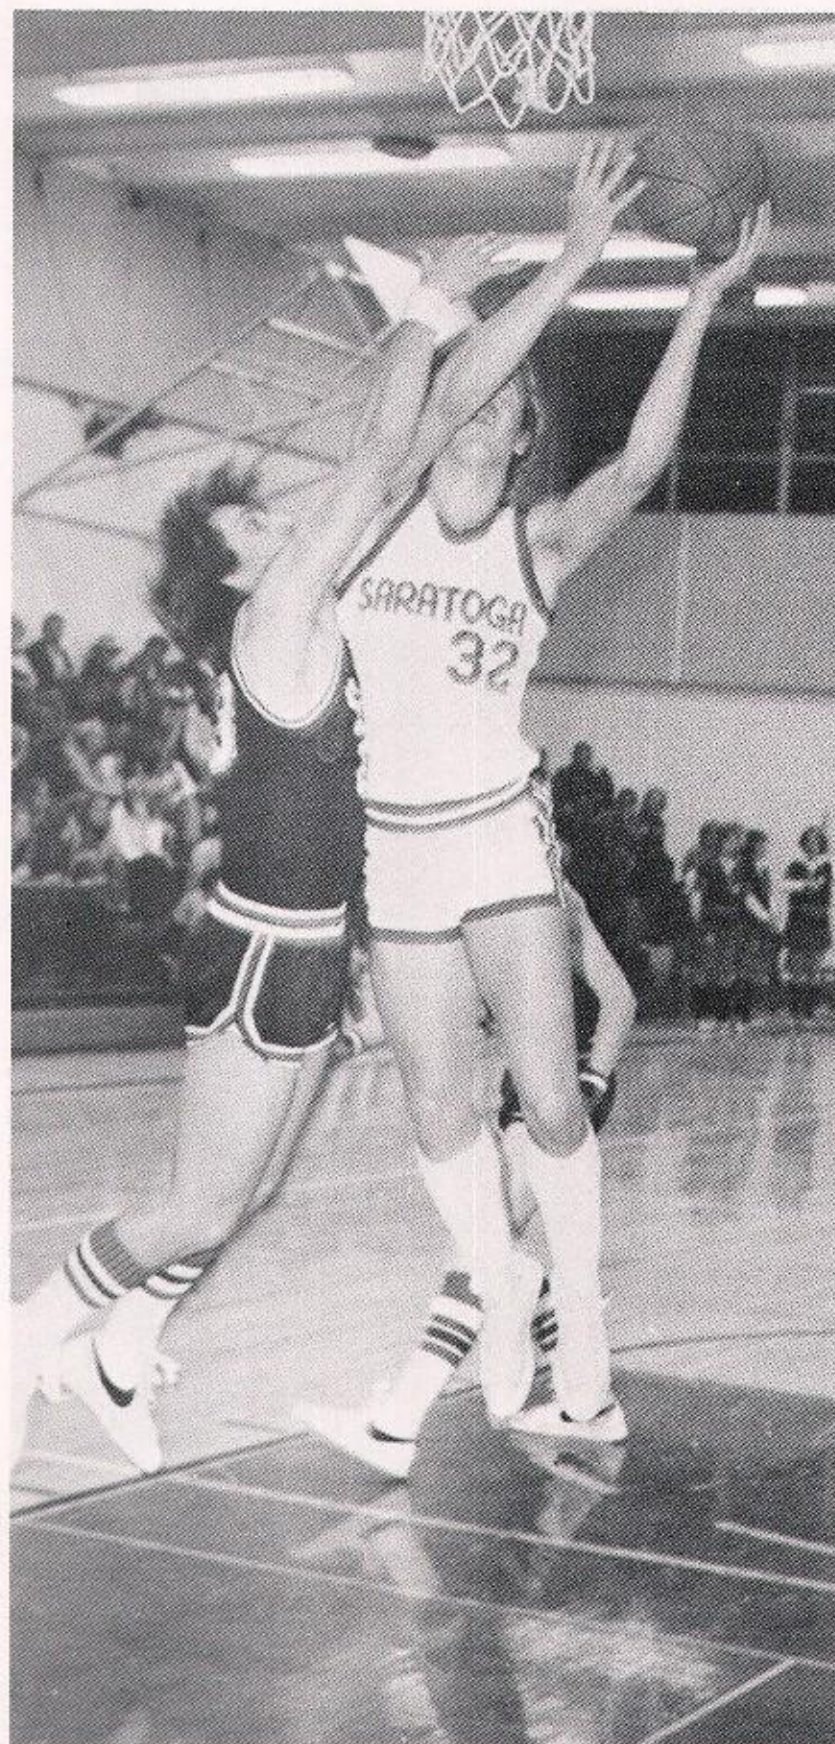

But the most improved area could be at the guard position where two sophomores Peter Smith and Randy Arrillaga have displayed their fine talents. Their development at these two positions meant the difference between a successful and unsuccessful season. Junior Mike Cooley has also shown vast improvement and will be battling for a starting birth.

The Falcons employed an aggressive pressure defense along with a quick releasing fast break in an attempt to put points on the scoreboard. We entered competition in the new De Anza League which included the six teams from the Fremont District and Saratoga High School. The biggest confrontations were with a tough Monta Vista squad and a tall Cupertino team.

However the Falcons, this year, have improved shooting and ball handling and definitely pulled a few surprises in this strong new league.

J.V. Cagers tied for first place in league

With the season about half over, the junior varsity basketball team has compiled an impressive 5-1 record in league play, and a 12-4 overall record.

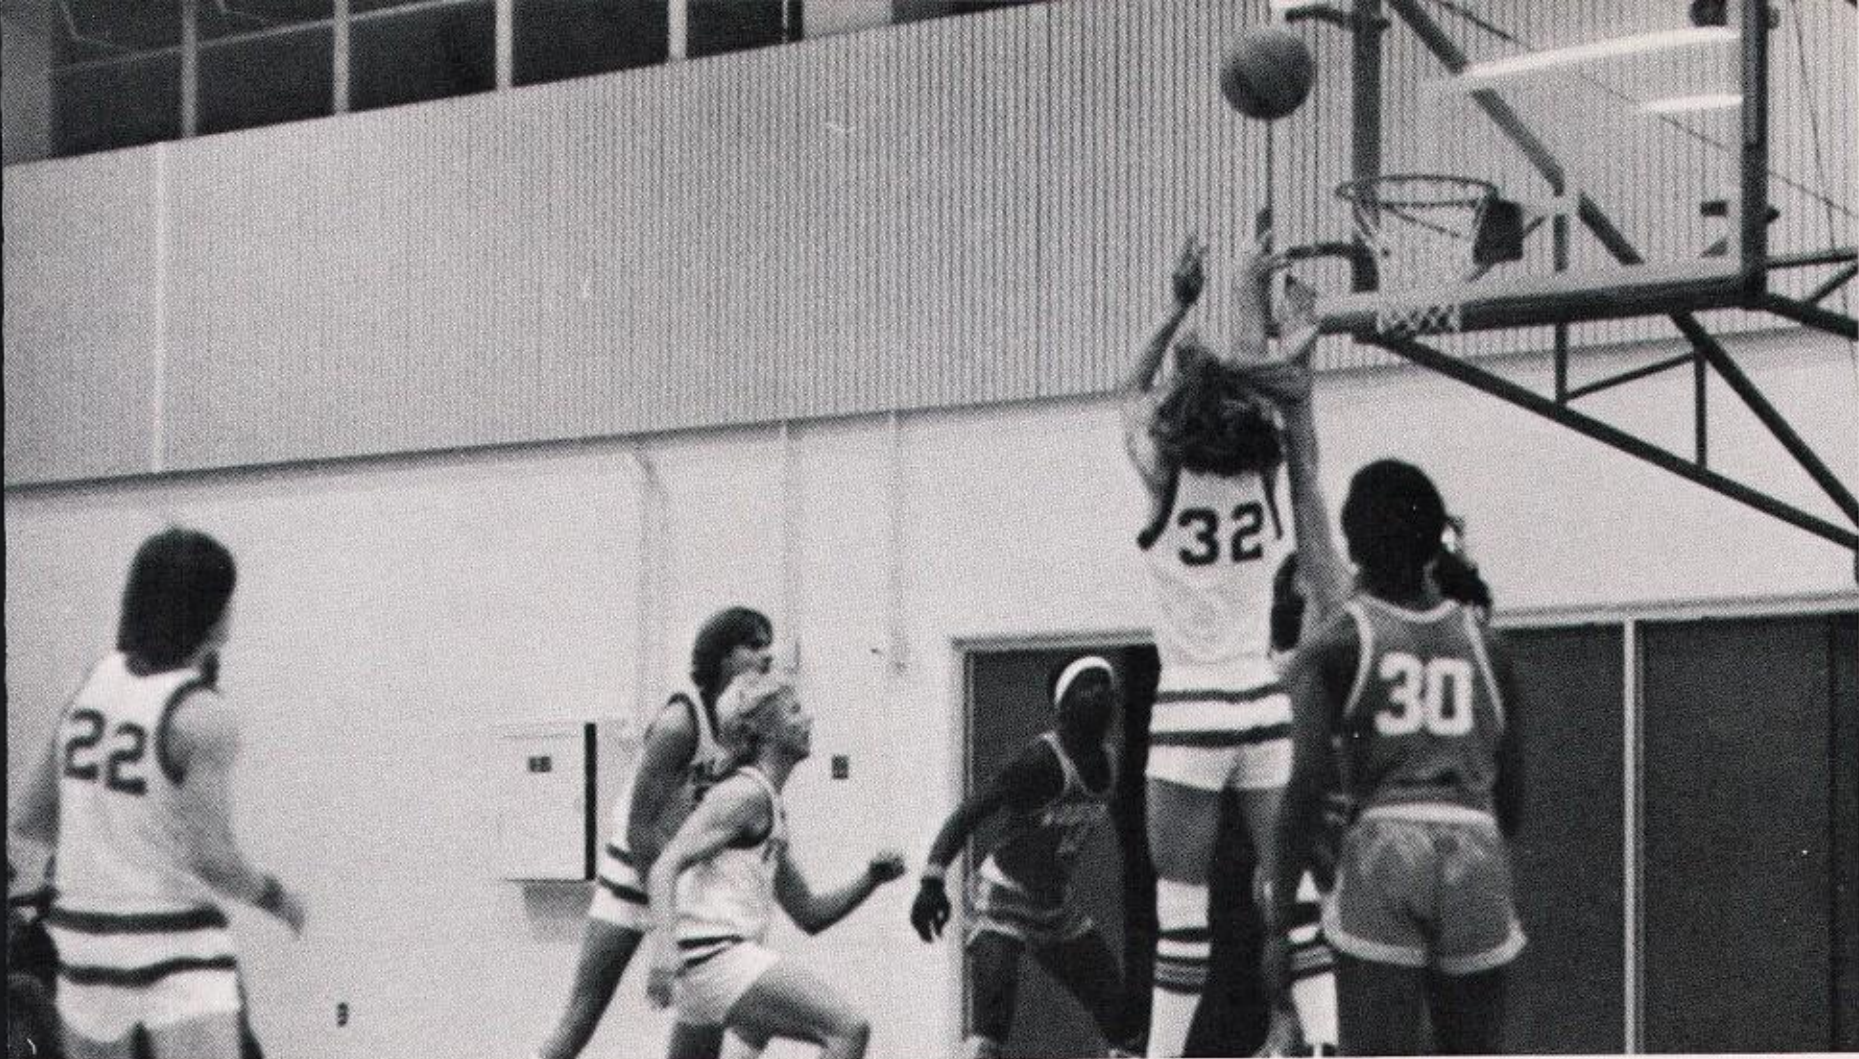

In the new DeAnza league, they have defeated Sunnyside 55-32, Homestead 50-39, Lynbrook 51-43, Monta Vista 38-32, and Cupertino 44-32. Their only defeat was in the hands of Fremont, where the final score was 41-34. They are presently tied for first place with Lynbrook and Fremont.

According to coach Joe Calpin, "we are definitely not playing up to our potential - but we're still winning." Junior Mark Pattin is optimistic about the outcome of the season, stating "we SHOULD win the rest of our games; the league's pretty easy."

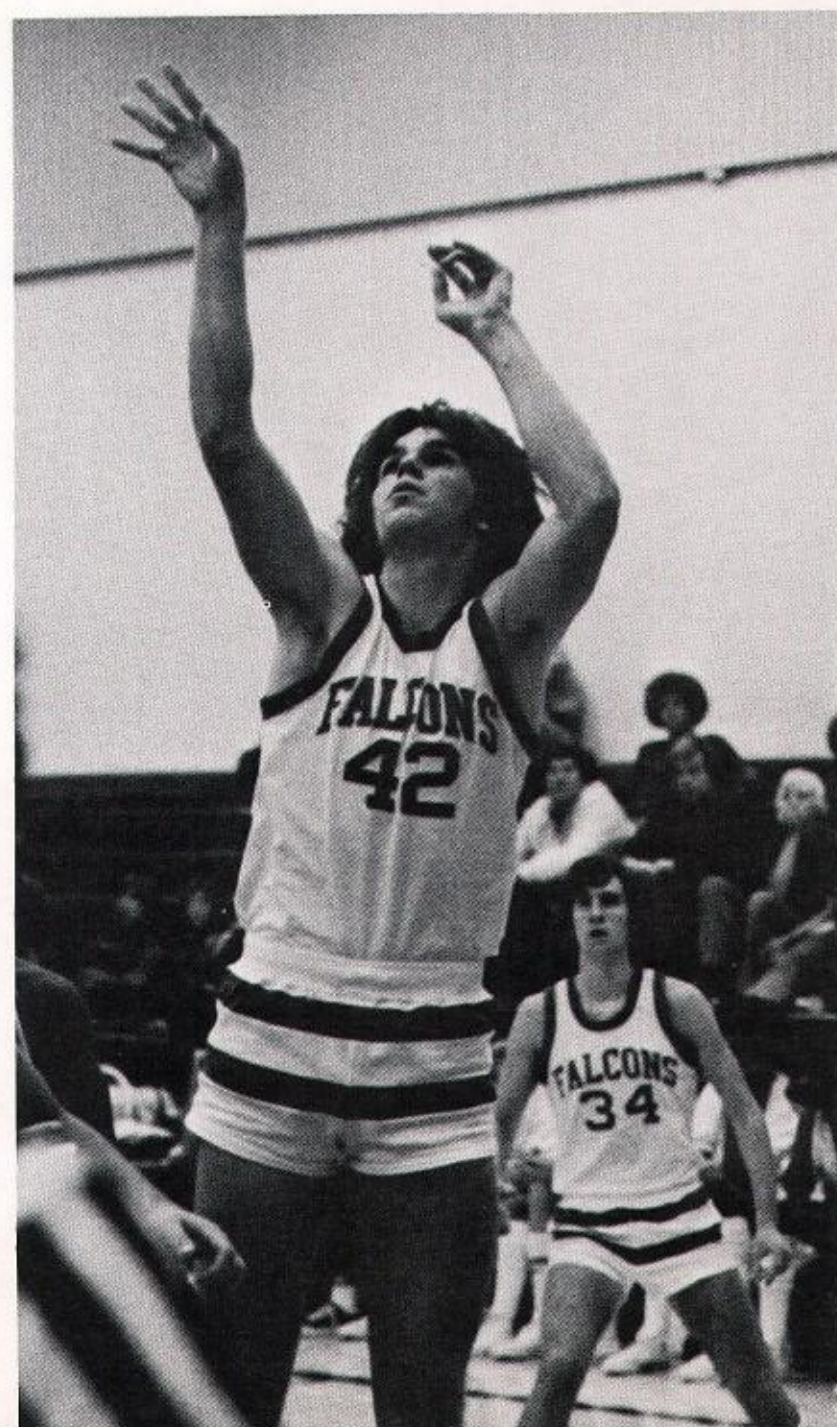

The team is led by captains Jaime Miller and Neil Hickman, and spurred by high scorer Mark Chamberlain, who is a junior.

Freshmen pleased despite disappointing year

Although their season did not reach their high expectations, the freshmen basketball team was not altogether disappointed with themselves. "It was fun because I made a lot of friends and I really like the competition and teamwork involved," says freshman Keith Barna. # Girls' basketball adds two new coaches

Girls' basketball in '77 was the best ever. With the addition of two coaches, each team had a coach of its own. The girls worked out with coach Wilson and the boys' basketball team in the beginning of the year to get in shape.

Spirit was higher than ever. The players had respect and admiration for each person. Every person had an important role, and if someone started to fall down, there was always someone ready to help and get her back up.

—Aimee Toussaint

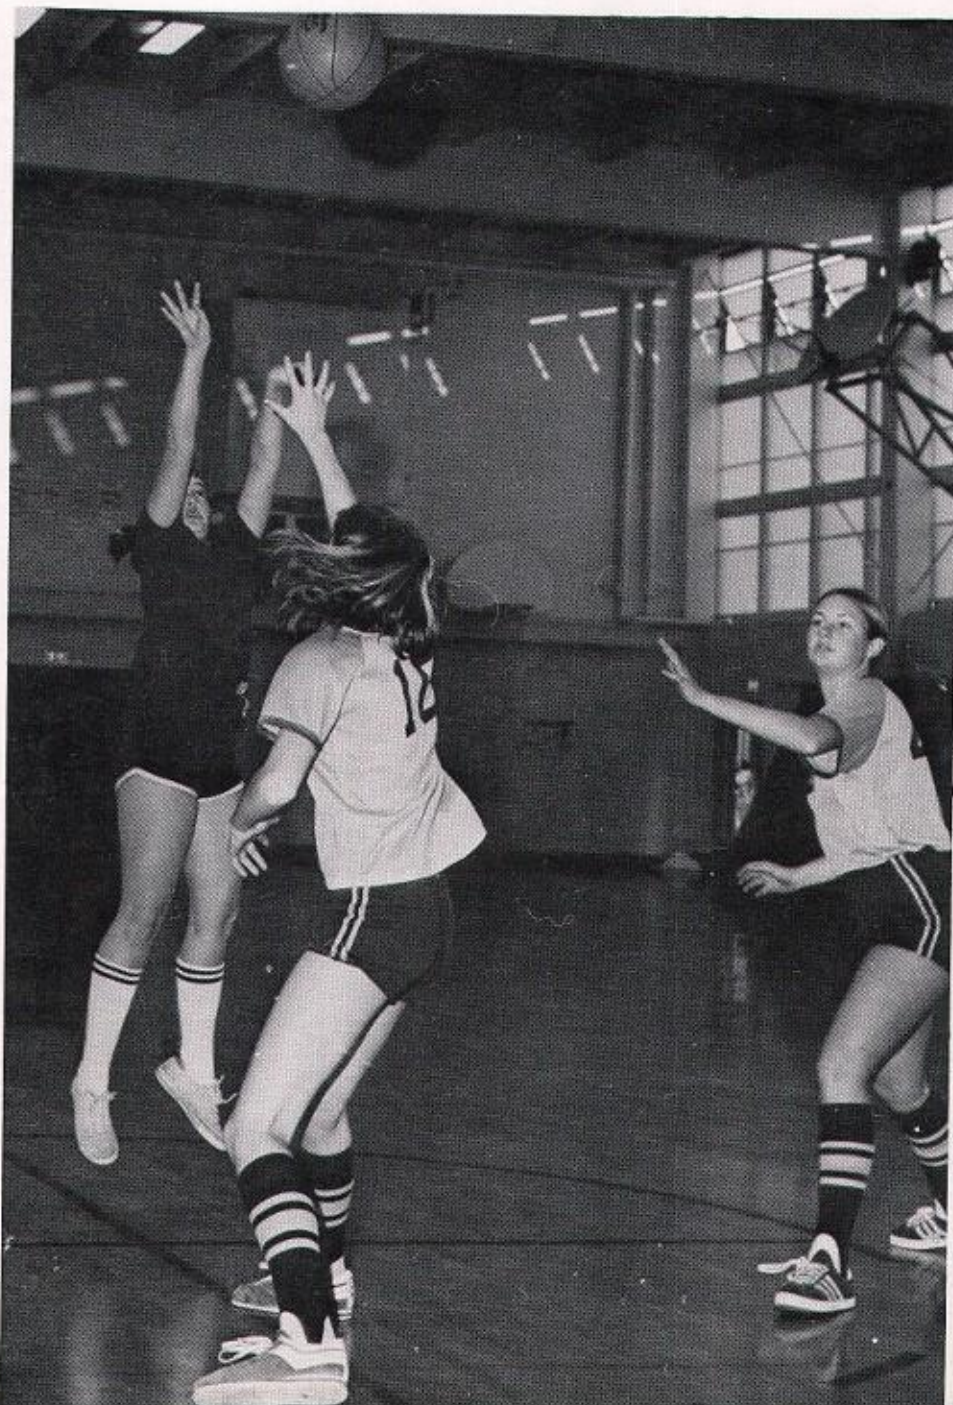

I think all sports are great, especially basketball!

This year Saratoga High School has two new coaches, Donnie Mason, the "C" coach, and Becky Orahood, the "J.V." coach. They are both really good coaches and know what they are doing. I think they're doing a super job.

We also have Ms. Sue Gordon, our varsity coach, who has been coaching girls' basketball here at Saratoga for four years straight.

What I really like about our "J.V." team is that everyone works together to win and guess what? ... we do win!

The Saratoga Varsity soccer team, as was expected, won the league again. Although they entered the tougher, more competitive DeAnza League this year, that did not stop the Falcons from compiling a perfect record in league play. The varsity team was rated number one early in the season and kept that rating by defeating every team in their way. The only flaw came in the Blackford Tournament where they tied 0-0 Against Sunnyvale. With a 21-0-1 record, they took on Leigh in the C.C.S. final on March 5. Leigh scored in overtime on a controversial offside. Many think the game and championship was stolen from Saratoga...

Scoring came from forwards Ted Rafalovich with 21 goals, Eric Price 17 goals, Kevin Hamilton 14 goals and Alex Viva 7 goals. The remaining 15 goals were scored by assorted halfback and forwards. The offensive unit was well balanced, skilled, and accurate as a season high 74 goals were scored.

The defense consisted of the much talked about "Ozone Layer" in which fullbacks Kevin Vandermate, Jon Lindstrom, Mark Graham, sweeper Ruben Viva, and much improved goalie Jeff Burke, retaliated continuous threats from opponents.

All-League players from Saratoga were forwards Kevin Hamilton, Eric Price, halfback Alex Viva, and fullbacks Ruben Viva and Jon Lindstrom. Honorable mention went to halfback Vince Tubbs and goalkeeper Jeff Burke. Eric Price received DeAnza League most valuable player. Selected to C.C.S. All-Tourney team forwards Ted Rafalovich, Eric Price and fullbacks Jon Lindstrom, and Ruben Viva. Ted Rafalovich was also named most valuable offensive player in the C.C.S. playoffs.

Although this year's Junior Varsity soccer team consisted of three sophomores and fourteen freshmen, they managed to put up quite a battle against their bigger, more aggressive opponents.

A small, but very skillfull team, they used grace rather than force to conquer the majority of their opponents in the new league.

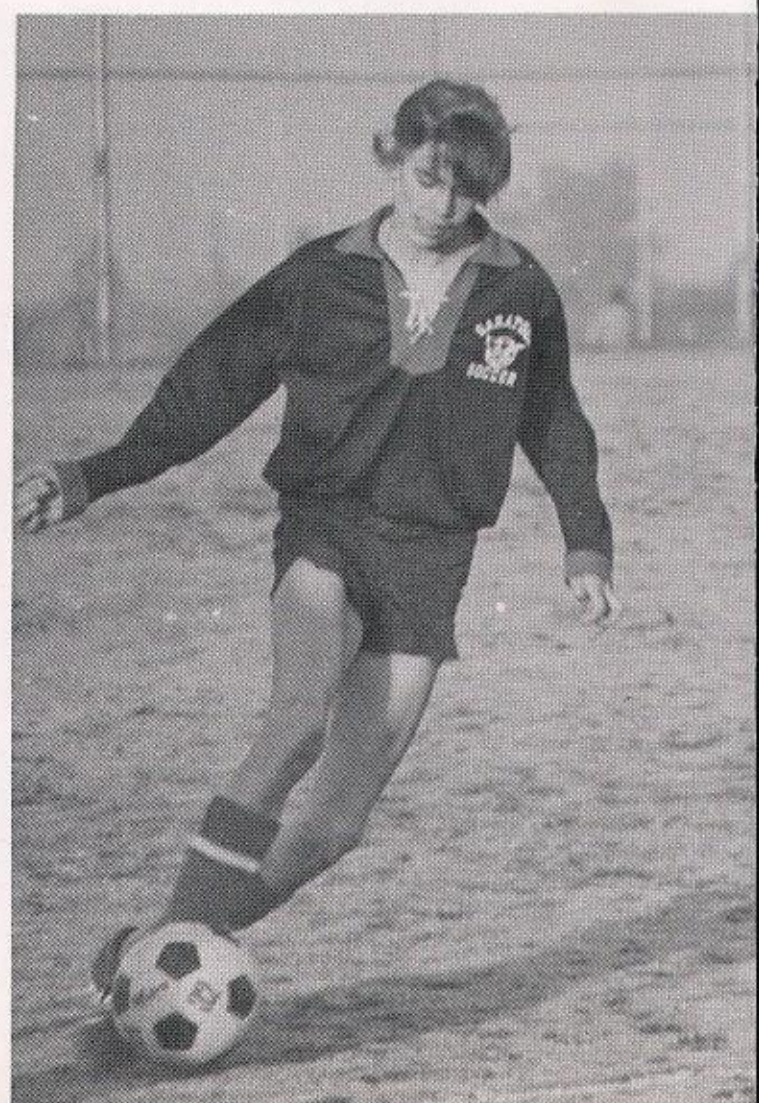

The skill and sportsmanship shown by the team will definitely improve the Varsity teams of the future.

Girl kickers debut '77

The year 1976-77 was the first for the girls' soccer team at Saratoga High.

The players thought it would be hard to start playing together as a team, especially with our first game less than a week away, but our coaches gave us the coaching we needed.

The temporary coach, Mr. Costanzo, helped us out during the first week, while our regular coach, Mr. Goni, coached football and so Mr. Costanzo retired undefeated as our first game was cancelled ... the other school didn't have a team!

Through all the screaming of names, the orders for sprints, the yells to dribble, to calls of panic to "pass it," the team became closer friends. We all either met new girls, or furthered our friendships with old friends.

Everyone is learning to take criticism, and realizing how much practice improves our game. But best of all, we are having a good time and enjoy what we're doing!

Powder Puffers finally win

The 1976-77 Powder Puff team started out badly with a loss to Cupertino for the juniors, and a tie for the seniors. Sue Gratz made the first touchdown for the junior team as she broke loose on the right side for a 45 yard run, early in the first quarter. Cupertino scored three times, but late in the fourth quarter Lori Holst hit Carol Cole on a big pass play totaling 70 yards and a touchdown bringing the score to 14-18. The Falconettes still stood a chance but the clock ran out when they were on the Cupertino 14 yard line. The only score in the seniors' game was made by Irene Economy on a run around the left side.

After this game the juniors and seniors combined forming one team. Cupertino wanted a rematch in which they defeated Saratoga once again.

After Christmas vacation the Saratoga Falconettes faced the Los Altos Knights, in which they got their first win in Saratoga Powder Puff history, with a final score of 27-13. The first touchdown was made on a 15 yard pass play from Yvette Forcier to Carol Cole early in the first quarter. Followed, touchdown runs by Irene Economy and Liz Reardon and another pass from Yvette Forcier to Sheri Wenzel. Then they faced the Lynbrook Vikings in which they lost 7-2.

The Falconettes went on, to play St. Frances and a game tournament. The Powder Puffers played extremely well especially the defense headed by big, tuff, Nancy Head, Jennie Takahashi, Holly Richards, Marlene Anderson, and Julie Larson.

Senior wrestlers provide leadership

The Falcon wrestling team was a very "young" team this season. The majority of the wrestlers were underclassmen and both the varsity and junior varsity coaches were new to Saratoga High.

Five seniors, Joe Milazzo, Andy Morocco, Greg Lahann, Brad Davis and Travis McNulty, provided leadership and help to the younger members of the squad. The team laid the groundwork for the future.

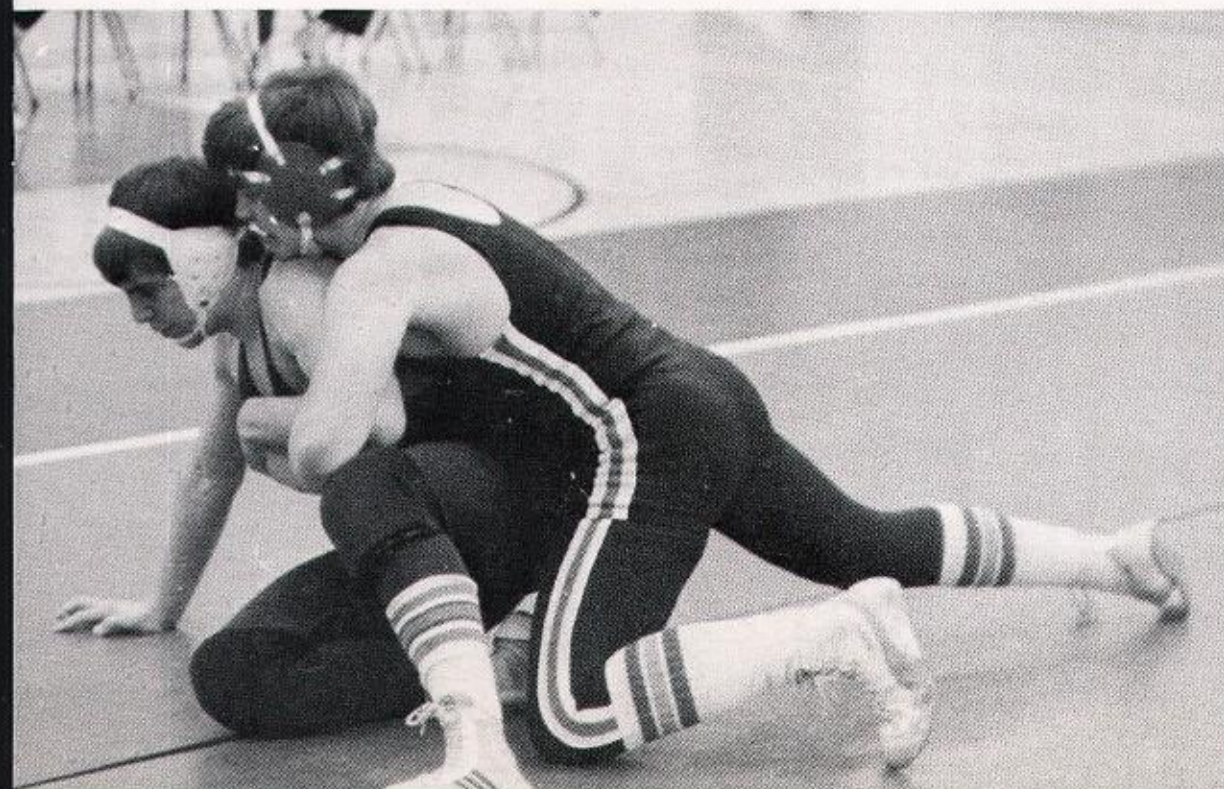

The junior varsity had a good season and most of these wrestlers will return as members of the varsity of '78.

-Bill Drennan

I personally think wrestling is a very—well, a gross sport—to put it bluntly. As I was getting my daily Zemi, I could see through the door leading into the small gym where the wrestling team were practicing their skills. I somehow recognized a couple of my friends and started to watch them. What a horrible, rough sport I thought. Exhausted, but looking satisfied after a well-won wrestle, Cy Tabari, Roger Prince and Scott Nielson all came over to have a "sip" of my Zemi. I told them what I thought of their sport and they quickly told me that I was completely wrong. "It's a sport of skill," they told me. "While you're wrestling, you have that guy's life in your hands—one little tug and that could be it."

After that comment, I decided I'd better not argue with them.

Deadlines peril Talisman staff

I really didn't understand what a responsibility I had as editor until that first deadline. The first day in class when I presented my plans and ideas for the Talisman to the yearbook staff. I was excited and anticipated the best book Saratoga High had ever seen. All I needed was a motivated staff and a lot of patience. I found out soon enough that my patience was limited when it came to teaching how to do layouts, proportion pictures and type copy. And I guess many on the staff didn't like me too much, especially just before a deadline when I'd constantly be on their backs for pages due.

As you flip through your book, glance at the pictures and skim the copy. I hope you'll think about how much work went into putting the yearbook together. Adrienne Cordova (my co-editor) and I worked hours and hours on these pages, worrying and praying that they would be good and you would like them.

The yearbook staff was the best I've seen in years and I've been on the staff since freshmen year. They were cooperative and did their best. And I never could have made it without Adrienne who did all the worrying enough for the both of us!

Journalists expend time, effort

While the school newspaper, the Falcon, takes only about ten minutes to read, well over ten hours of work are put into each issue. Any member of the journalism class can attest to this fact; they are the ones responsible for all of the writing and production work except for the final printing, which is done at the district office.

Staff adviser Mr. George Scott maintains an informal atmosphere in the classroom, giving the editors some freedom to experiment and learn by trial and error. Almost everyone is constantly working, but there is no one busier than the editor and chief typesetters who have, on occasion, stayed at school until 7 p.m. adding finishing touches to the paper.

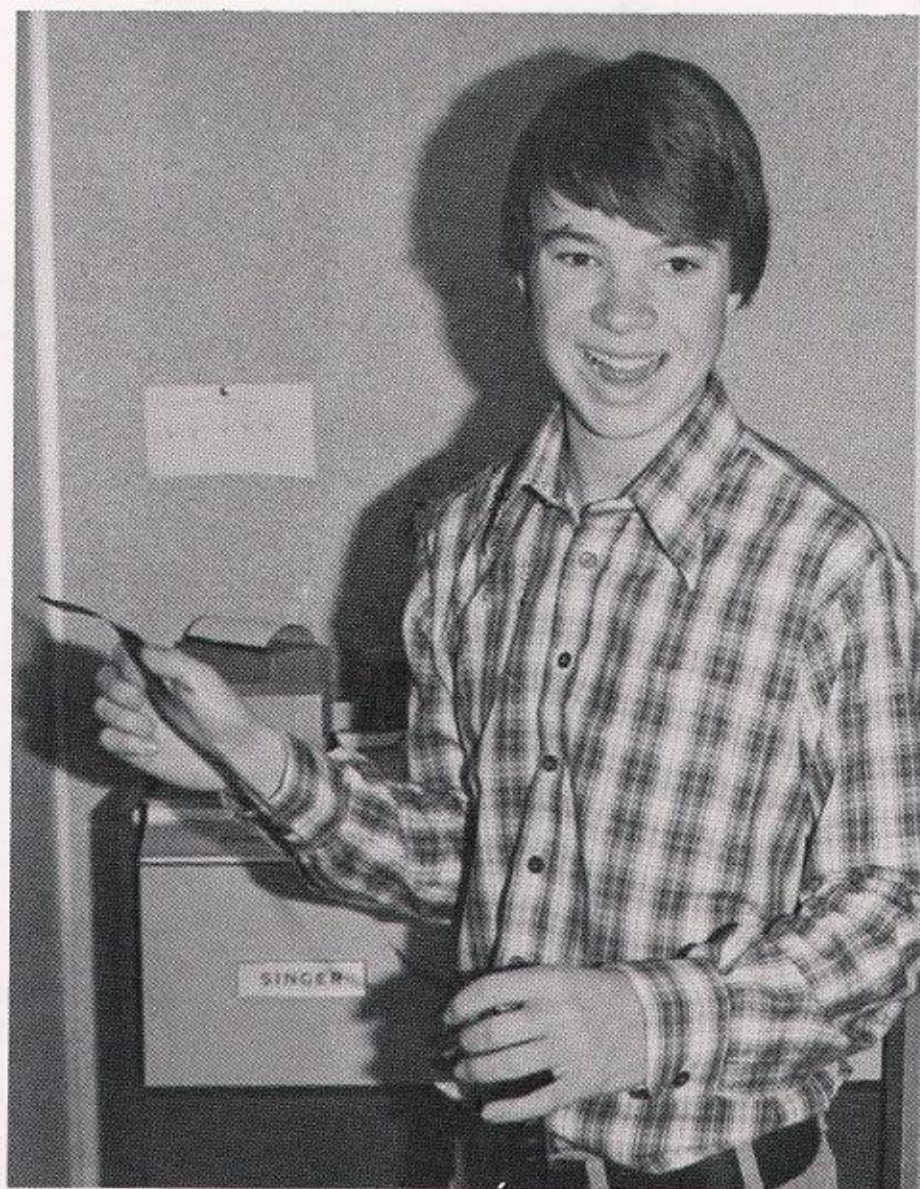

Although the official journalism class doesn't begin until fifth period, many staff members are in PO6 during lunch to help out with the typesetting, headline-making, proofreading or to finish up writing a story.

Whether it is brought on by the mutual responsibility of getting a paper out, or the informality of the class, or the common interest in journalism, there is a closeness among staff members that can't be found in other classes. Some of the more dedicated staff members also share a kind of unique craziness. It's not an uncommon sight to see Martin Tuttle mumbling a passage from "The Wizard of Oz" after hitting a "kill line" on the typesetting machine for the sixth time, or editor Jeff Peline singing "Moon River" while proofreading copy.

"I guess those guys spend too much time in PO6," explained chief typesetter Del Leu, wearing a pair of authentic Mickey Mouse ears for no good reason at all.

Music lovers are early-risers

With Saratoga having such a vast number of people involved in its musical program it was clear that the music department had to add another concert band.

The new group is called the Chamber Band, while the former Chamber Band is now called the Wind Ensemble. Along with these bands are a Symphonic and a Concert Band who both march during the first semester and play concerts during the second semester.

In the years past Saratoga has always taken superior ratings in local and state festivals. The groups' quality insures that the future will be the same.

Saratoga also has a great Stage Band that plays rock music and popular songs. The Stage Band also places excellently in special festivals for stage bands.

Both the Stage Band and the Orchestra meet during A period every day. Getting up to be at school at 7:30 AM everyday takes a lot of love for music.

Music department numbers group

What would this world be like without music? Any kind of music, rock, classical, jazz etc. What would we tap our feet too, or snap our fingers to? Just think how it would drive people insane. Music is the greatest thing that ever happened to mankind, it gives us pleasure in every way.

-Chris Westbrook

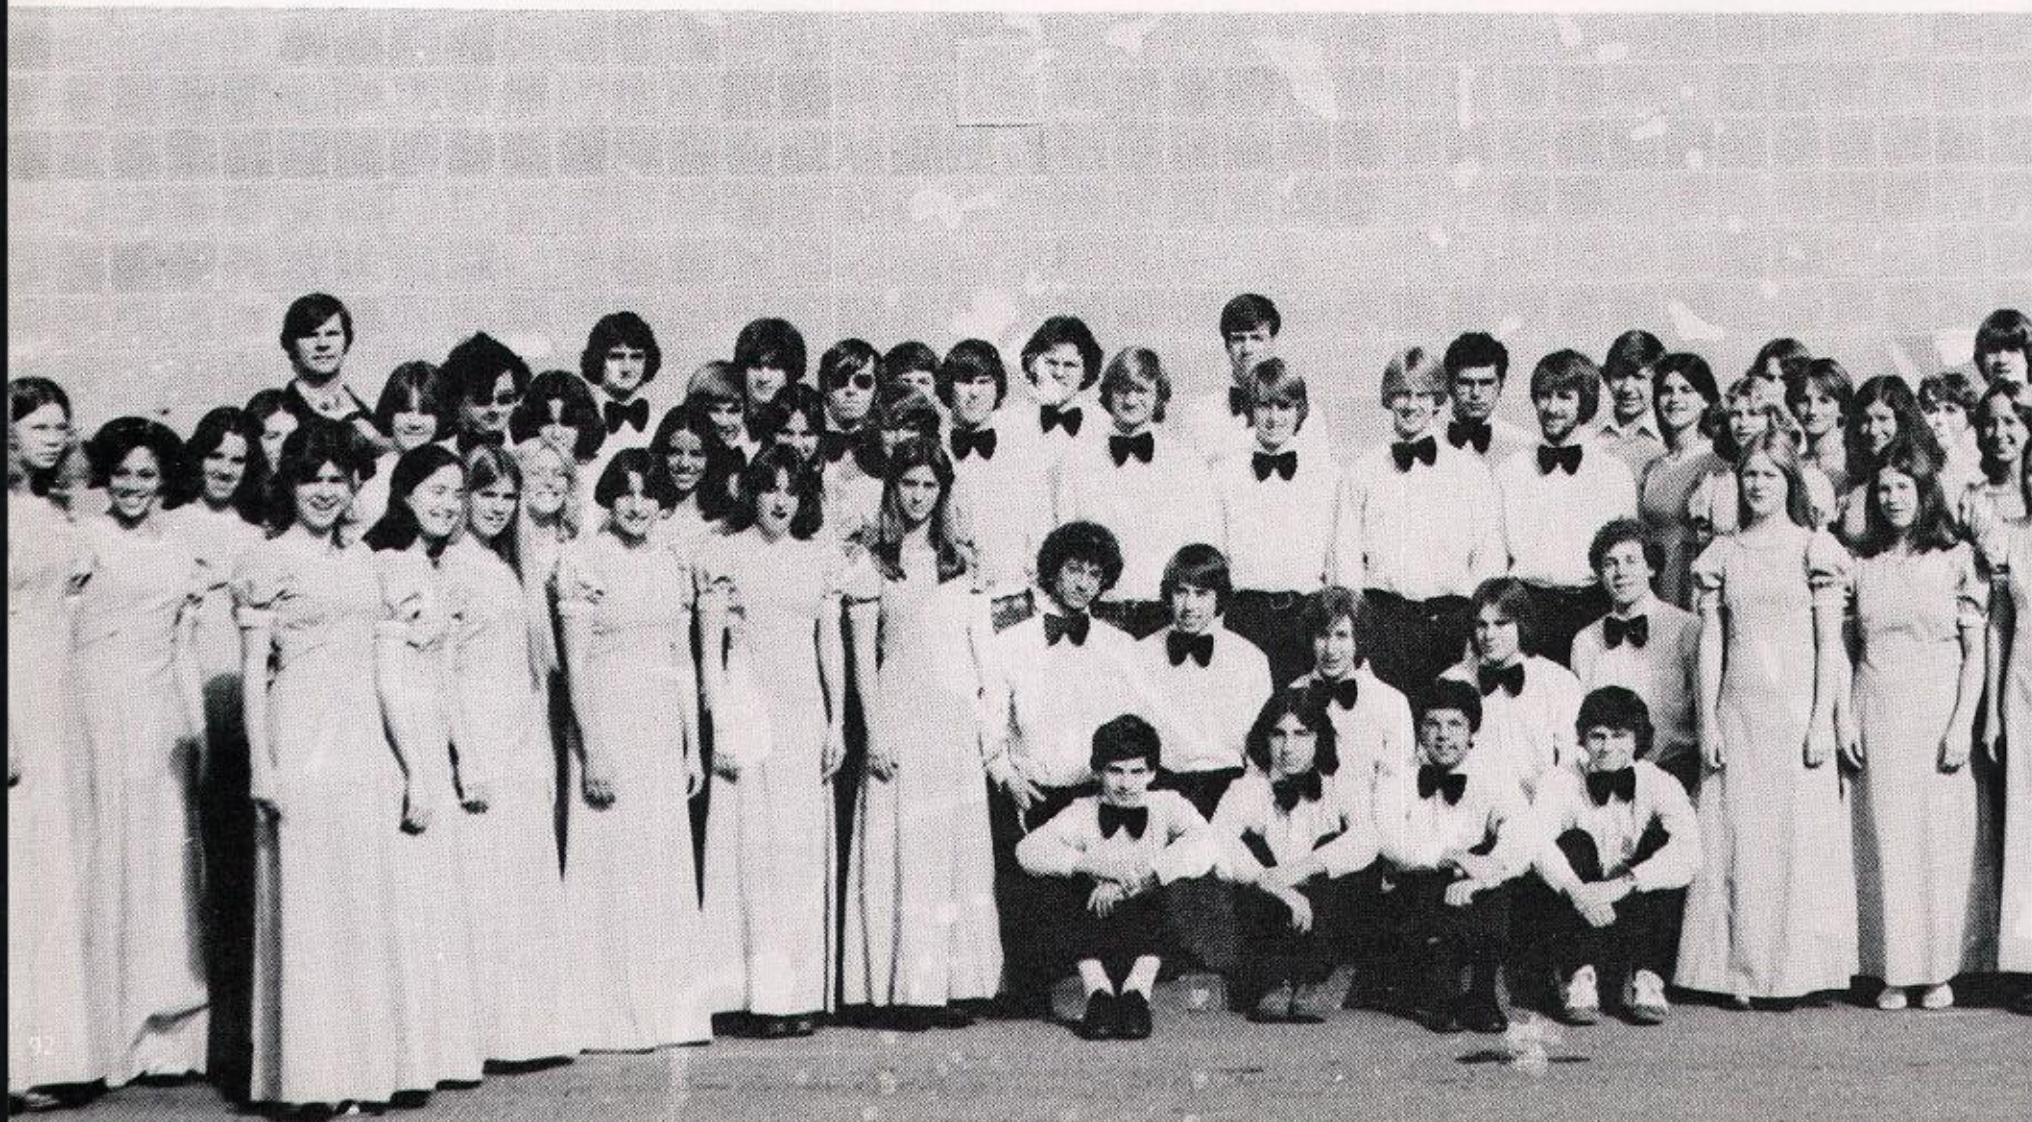

The music department is probably the largest department at Saratoga High. Not only does it offer many alternatives to the over 500 students involved, but teaches them something which they will retain for a long time. I think most every student who is enrolled in a music class enjoys it. I know I do.

-Marybeth Travis

The music Department is really great! We have it all together, and as a result, this is probably one of the best years of music Saratoga High has seen so far.

I would like to say "thank you" to Mr. Page, and Mr. Northrup for their time and help.

Early risers filled dance class

Getting up at 7:30 in the morning to dance for two hours straight may not be everyone's idea of how to spend two mornings a week. But this year, about sixty girls and two guys not only did it, but most of the time we did it cheerfully. Anyone who was around school at that hour would probably be laughing at the sight of all of us running down to the locker room dressed in only leotards and tights, and sometimes pants. Every Tuesday and Thursday morning I would ask myself if dancing was worth all this trouble. My answer was always the same. Yes, it was worth it.

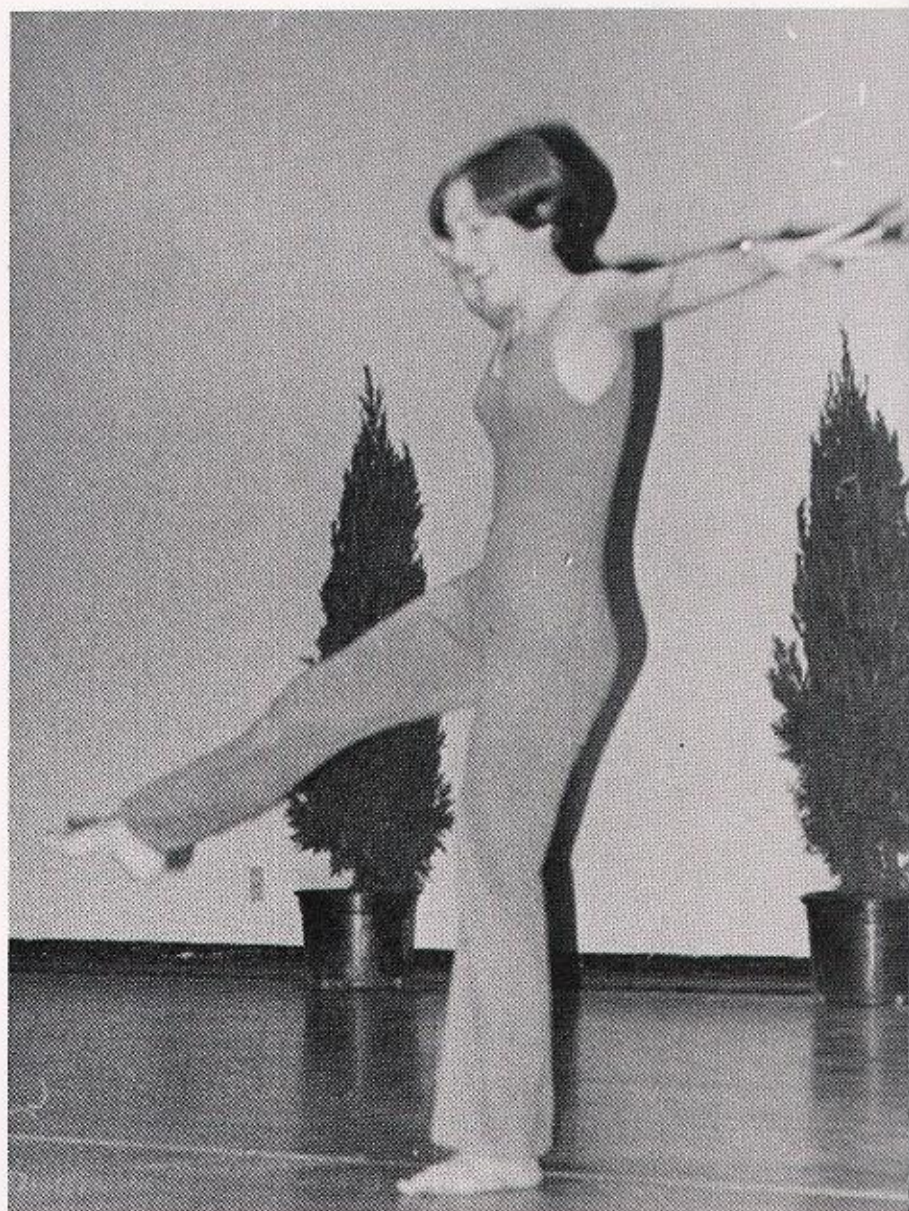

Dancing is much more than a form of physical exercise. Dancing is a way of expressing how you feel, and along with it comes the added bonus of getting and staying in good shape.

When I think back on all the fun I had getting ready for the concert, and all of the new friends I met, I feel really good inside. From the first day of class to the last, people cooperated with each other and helped each other with their dances and technique. We all learned so much.

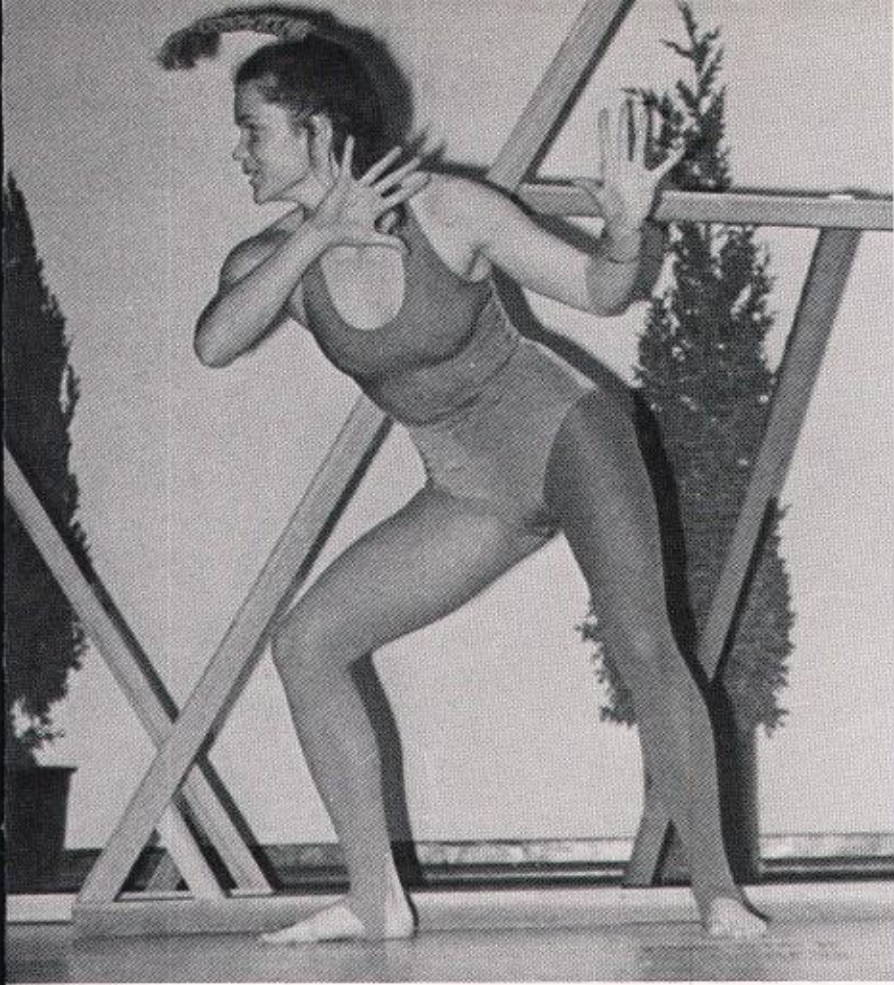

I'll never forget the night of the concert. When we were on stage before the lights went up, we could see all the people in the auditorium. But when the lights shone out on me, I felt as if I was sitting on top of the world.

ASB Officers rekindle school spirit

Being Student Body President has taught me that it takes an awful lot of energy to work with so many different kinds of people. It has shown me that sometimes you have to work with what you've got, not what you want.

One thing I've noticed this year is that the apathy that still exists at Saratoga is more evident among the faculty and administration than the students. Whether it is the result of the work done during our term, or the influence of Mrs. Perry, or just a natural tendency in students, or just a combination of all three, one of this year's accomplishments has been the rekindling of school spirit and student involvement. This has been reflected by the increasing participation in rallies, dances, and extracurricular activities in general.

I had only been in student government for one year when I became student body vice-president and it was a super honor for me to be elected. I wanted to focus on two main areas this year: communication and student activities. Jon and I often tried to spice up the announcements in the morning with "the adventures of Captain Galaxy" the "morning calisthenics" announcing what that days lunch would be and other weird things, but it was all to get your attention. We also expanded the student council by adding one member for every third period class to get more feedback from students.

As far as activities are concerned, I tried to have something going on for every open Friday night on the calendar, as well as some Saturday nights. We tried some new activities this year like parent-teacher sock hops, fun nights, a hypnotist show and dance concerts, and they all went over pretty well. More people seemed to participate because of the different things we tried, but it was activities director Mrs. Karen Perry, with all her support and encouragement, that really gave school spirit the shot in the arm that it needed.

Freshmen raffle big chocolate bar

This year was a pretty good one for the freshman class. Many of the freshman participated in the many dress-up days such as, Halloween Day, and School Colors Day during Homecoming week. And much enthusiasm was put in at the rallies. Some of the things sponsored or participated in by the freshman were; a dance with the Garcia Brothers, a Valentine's Week, and a terrific float also for Homecoming.

So, For the freshman class, it was a pretty good year.

I looked at Saratoga High School in shy, timid eyes, scared of the thought that I may some day be there. As I grew older I began to think that it wasn't so bad. When my eighth grade year ended, I realized what I was in for. Summer seemed to fly by without a worry. I thought to myself that I would make it, if everyone else has.

My teachers have given me a tremendous amount of help, and I especially want to thank Mrs. Sheldon for all of the grammar, spelling and punctuation instruction.

I'm sure that the rest of my stay at Saratoga High will be of great help to me in future years, especially when I have to look for a job.

Saratoga High School is a lot different than I had expected it to be. I had been told that my freshman year would be difficult, and that the juniors and seniors would be hard to get along with. It wasn't like that at all! The seniors were very helpful when I was trying to locate my rooms in the beginning of the year.

I haven't really had any arguments or disagreements with anyone at school, and I have made many new friends. My first year at Saratoga High has been very enjoyable and I hope the coming ones will be also.

Freshman class brings new spirit

Saratoga High School is a big place. It has a lot of activities and clubs to offer, to make going to school a little more pleasant. Saratoga High is also great academically which has a lot to do with our great staff here. Even though I've only had a little taste of this school, I love it already! Your high school years are supposed to be some of the best years of your life. By the way things look now, they will be, because Saratoga High School is great!

—Christi Corbett

I can't believe it! High school takes up practically all of your time. Besides all of the regular classes, look at all the extra-curricular activities to get involved in. And the old saying, "Ooh, It's a Freshman" has really faded. We're no different, next year's Freshman will face the same problems. But it's worth it!

Girls lead class again

Well, they've done it again, the girls have taken over the sophomore class offices as they did last year. I personally would like to see some opposite gender holding those offices. I'm not saying the girls did a poor job—heavens no!—but I've always preferred that "other" type of human being.

Thank Goodness we'll be juniors next year. Say, guys—how 'bout running for President or V.P.? I'm sure there are some of you leadership type guys out there—somewhere in this school.

Speaking of girls, our class officers were very busy for us organizing fund raisers and activities. Among them was a Carnation sale for Valentine's Day. You wouldn't believe the admiration the kids showed towards one another. It turned out we could have sold three dozen more. A good day to remember.

Our May 27 Dance, featuring Gabrielle, was an enjoyable evening with profits for our next activity.

The class of '79 had such a great time their freshmen year at the beach, they decided to do it again. Sandy and burned, the underclassmen rode home for the last time together as a sophomore group.

Sophs remember driver's ed.

These great bunch of guys make up the Saratoga and Los Gatos High School Driver Training Staff. The classes which run after school, Saturdays, and holidays train over 900 students during the school year.

The course consists of two phases, Driver simulation and In-car training.

The simulator, commonly referred to as the "stimulator" is designed so that students have the opportunity to learn driving procedures, techniques, and methods of perceiving hazards. Each student has their own car which is identical to the real thing. (They also break down like the "real thing".) The students "drive", following cars on a screen. (Look left, look right, proceed, remember that gang?)

One advantage of Driver simulation is that the film can be stopped at any time to discuss common student errors.

"This would be ideal," says one instructor, if it were possible to do the same thing in the in-car portion of the course.

If a student does make an error in the actual driving, hopefully the instructor will catch it in time.

One new nervous student asks, "Are all those driver training stories true?" And most instructors, their hair rapidly getting gray, slyly smile, nod and drive out once again with a new group of kids.

—Donald Meyer

Now we made it through one year of high school (only three more years to go!) As we start our sophomore year we have many memories to carry us on. We've made friends and done things that we'll never forget. All of the people we've met have added to knowledge of life.

As we continue through high school we will make more friends and be close to more people than at any other time in our lives. All of them will leave an impression that will always be remembered.

If we don't take advantage of this opportunity we're cheating ourselves out of the best part of our lives.

—Ted Hanson

We are great this year since we're sophomores. This year we are better than freshmen! We're bigger, better, faster, stronger, more intelligent, responsible, reliable, coordinated, organized, taller, better looking, patient, experienced, and respected than we used to be. Why, we're almost bionic!

"We weren't that bad!"

"We weren't that bad!" "Were we really like that?" "We never did that!"

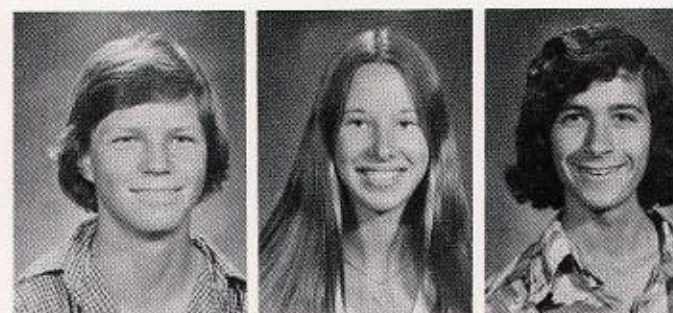

These phrases can be heard from almost every sophomore when he sees a freshman run by.

When ever we see a freshman we all feel like upperclassmen for a minute or two, but then we remember that it was only last year that we were the "freshmen."

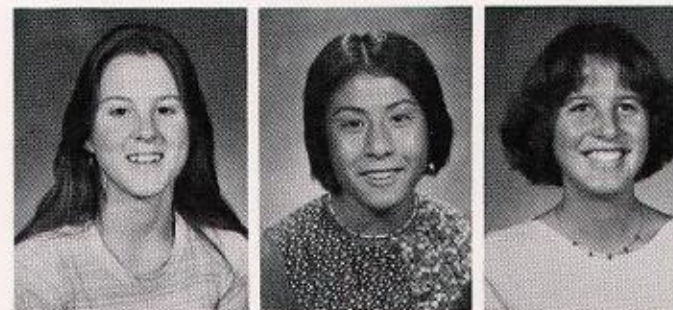

Next year we'll probably say or think the same things about sophomores!

This year has been absolutely fantastic for me! When I was a freshman I had to learn that to be happy and enjoy school I had to be active in as many activities as possible. Sometimes I didn't plan my available time right and I had too much going on all at one time. Once I almost collapsed from exhaustion- but I still loved it! I have met and made friends with so many new people. All I can say is I hope my junior year is as good as this year is. School is definitely what you make of it.

Brave Boris boldly bares bias

Despite popular belief I didn't come to high school to attend and participate in the classes, but to learn from them. I'm not a student (what a humiliating thought). Actually, I'm on sabbatical, gathering data for my latest book on human behavior, entitled: HIGH SCHOOL ATTENDANCE IN SARATOGA, INNATE OR INSANE, which will be published next fall.

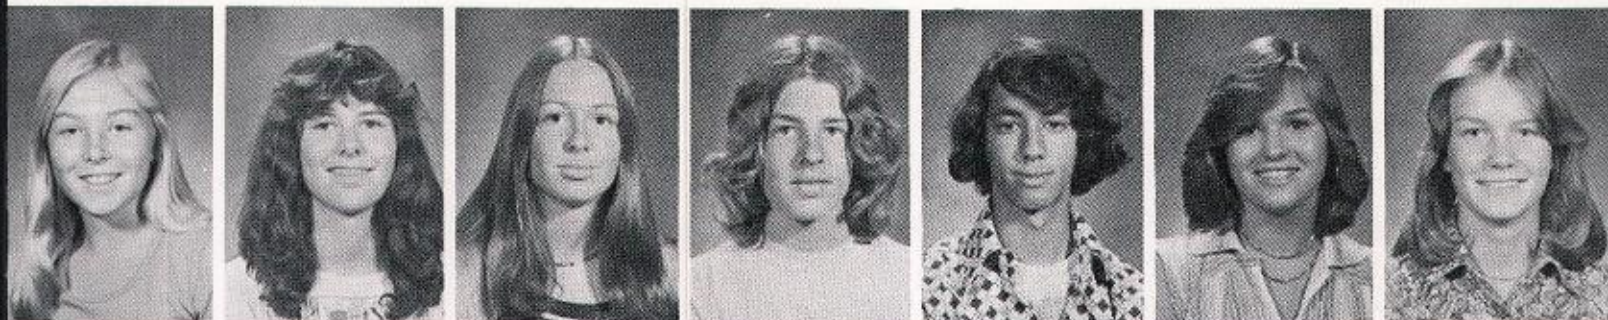

The main problem with Saratoga had to be with the irrelevancy of the classes. Geometry, english, biology —what useful skills do they teach you? At my former school, such classes as "Advanced Dog Evasion" "Sandbox Maintenance II", and "Preparation for a Career in T.V. Advertising" were always applicable to the ever-changing needs of today's industrial society.

The social life here is really bad. The humans actually prefer those weird, animalistic rites called football, and dancing to loud noises than having a midnight gathering on the backfence. Humans are very strange.

Successful year reflects junior involvement

My junior year has been really exciting!! I've enjoyed being a class officer, and never before have I been so into school. I dig it. Overall, my junior year has been the very best.

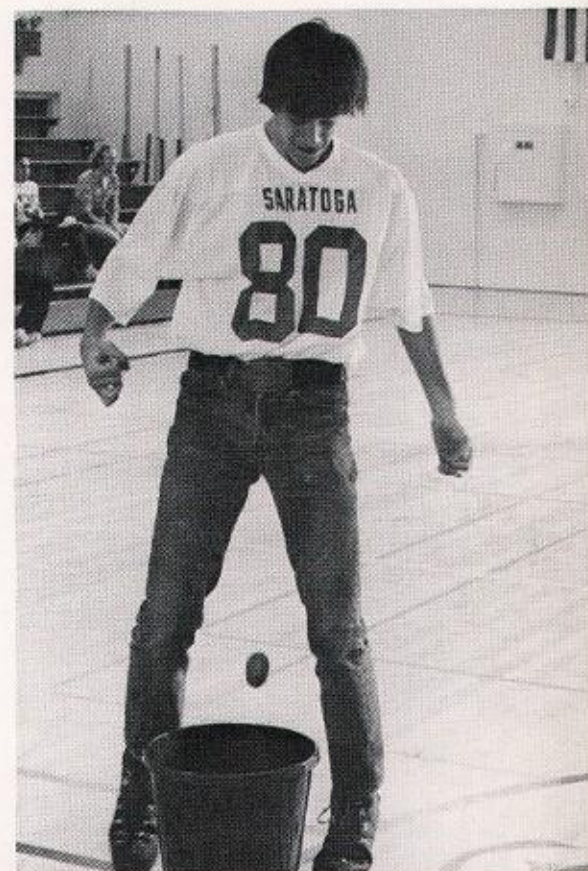

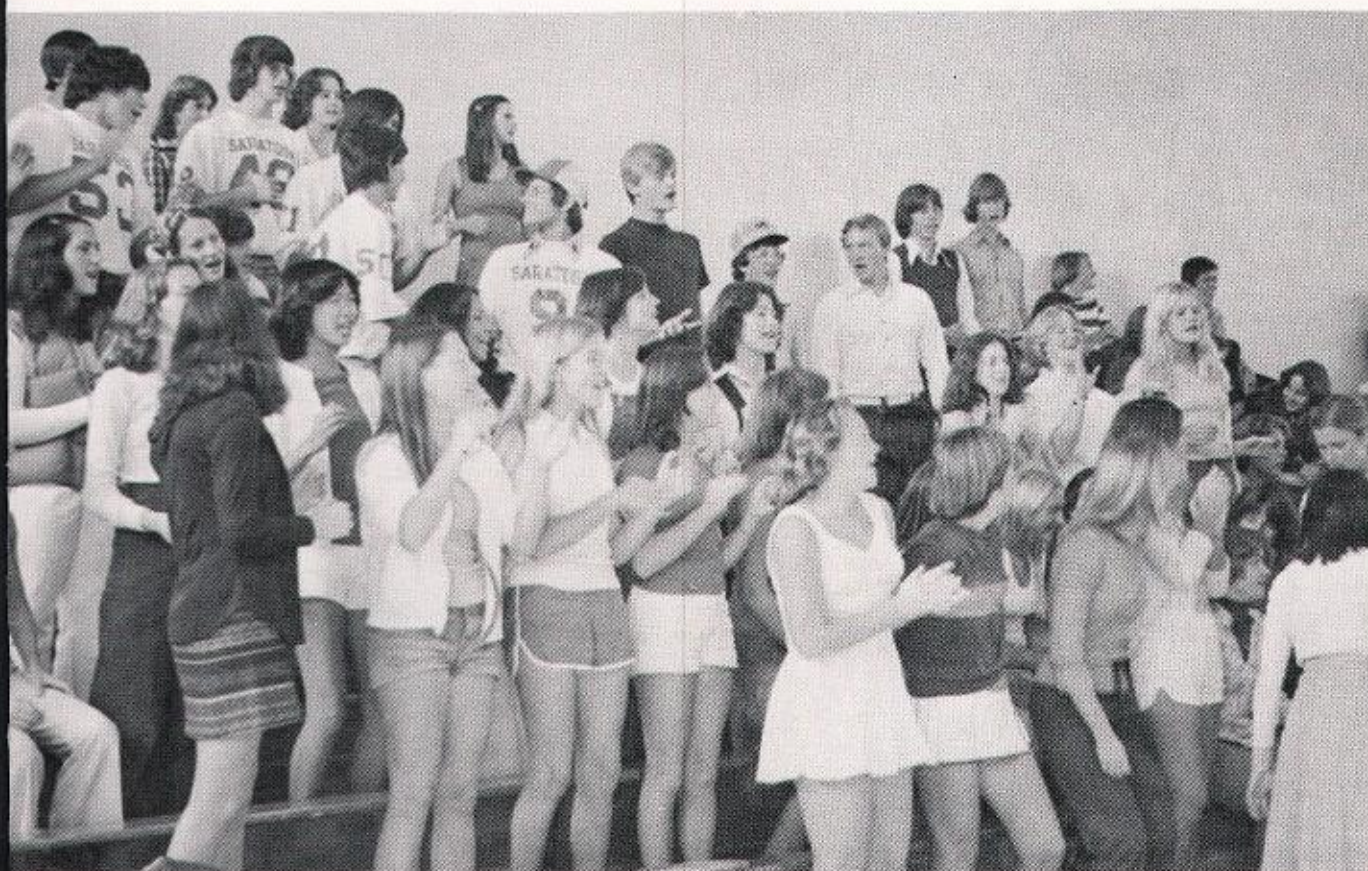

-Bonnie Bridges
Junior Secretary

My junior year has been a fun, exciting time which I shall never forget. My teachers and friends as well as more involvement in school have made this year much more enjoyable for me. Attending early student council meetings, counting money for the CSF dance and other activities have made my junior year quite rewarding. I look forward to my senior year with great expectations!

-Susie Wong
Junior

This year's junior class has been very successful mainly because of one reason, more junior involvement than in previous years. The junior class officers started off the year's activities as soon as school opened, rather than waiting a couple months, which was another great factor in the success of the class. Early in the year the Big 11 held their first sock-hop dance with the band Hush. There was a numerous amount of student participation in decorating, making refreshments, and selling tickets. A few appointed juniors judged socks and the winners were awarded prizes. Overall, the class of '78 participated in many various activities this year such as, the Halloween pumpkin carving contest, T-shirt sales, and candy cane presents, but one of the activities in which the juniors had a really fun time and proved to the whole student body their unity was during Spirit week. During that week we made a prize-winning float depicting the stars of the 1920's. Many juniors helped in the making of the costumes and the float itself. One morning during this week the juniors arose bright and early at 4:00 a.m. to decorate the school in fashions of the 1920's. As the Spirit week came to a closing, the junior class received the first place trophy for the most spirited class.

I enjoy being a junior, but I'm not really looking forward to my senior year, and graduating, just to become a freshman all over again.

—Mark Nishimura

In your junior year, you can make it as much fun as you want, or as dull as you want.

—Doug Sanders

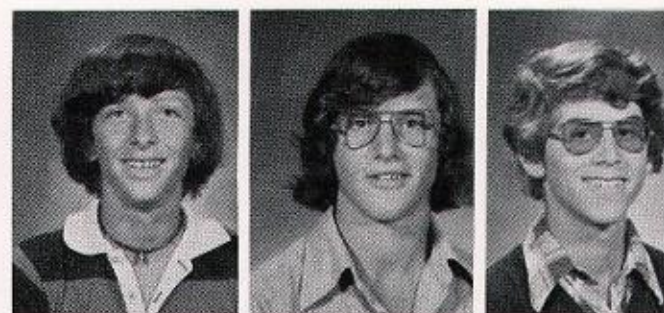

To be a junior is to wish you were out of school.

—Curt Huber

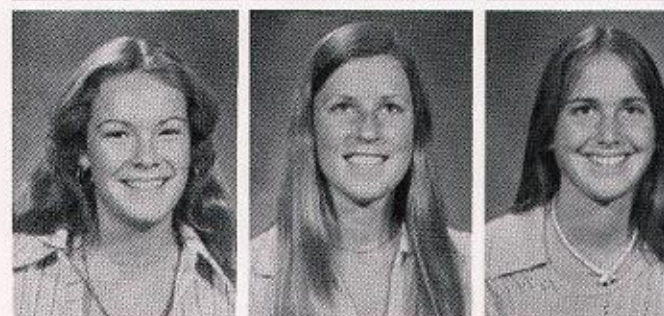

Getting out of high school. That's what most juniors are looking forward to. Everyone says your high school years are your best. I guess they have been pretty good, but I sure hope that they're not the best years of my life...only the beginning of the best.

Juniors discover goals

I know I'm a junior, but sometimes I still feel like a freshman...new names and faces, unfamiliar classes and regulations, changing seasons and personalities, an unending variety of good times and bad. I find myself surrounded by the same type of people, yet every year it seems like they're become-younger or could it be I am really getting older...?

I'm constantly being reminded of the big, real world that's waiting for me and how soon I'll be there...it scares me. So for now I am taking advantage of an old cliché telling me that my high school years will be among my best...and I should have fun while there's still time.

It seems like only yesterday

As I finish up my third year at Saratoga High, I can't help but be amazed at how fast the last three years have gone by.

It seems like just yesterday when I was looking up at the room numbers and not knowing where I was going. It seems like just yesterday when I was taking drivers training and the simulator course.

Everything seems to have happened yesterday, until I think that this is our junior year and we only have one more year to go. It's hard to believe that we are almost through and are getting prepared for the rest of our lives.

I am always going to remember the exciting moments I had and the friends I made in the last three years here at Saratoga High.

Swim coach develops potential

High School swimming was always the time of year I looked forward to. It seemed that there was no way that you could do badly. But the best part was having your buddies with you at meets. The race was yours to swim and win, but you always did your best because your teammates wanted you to do well as much as you did.

It's hard to believe how Coach Devine can develop potential in everyone. He puts out the criteria and it's up to the swimmer to make himself what he wants. And it still means as much to me now as it did when I was a freshman to hear Coach Devine tell me that I'm doing a good job.

But the most interesting part of swimming was the uniqueness of the people who go out. I've never had so many guys stay away from me in the locker room as I did in high school. Swimming seems to bring out those hidden drives and desires that one acquires from reading nasty novels. And the taper for finals seem to bring these to a rigid peak.

And finally I want to thank my mother and all swimming mothers, Coach Page, Ann Skidmore and Coach Devine for making it the best it could be.

—Chuck Kessel

The starter pulls the trigger and "BANG" goes the gun and the timer's reflexes jump as they start their stopwatches too early. As the sun goes down and your ears are ringing and your clothes are soaked from being splashed — well, this is what it's like being a timer for a boy's swimming meet.

There are a few advantages of being a timer I am pleased to say. After each event one must ask the swimmer's name in whatever lane you may be timing, and by-golly, you run into some "muy guapo muchachos" from other schools. "Hi, could I have your name, grade and uh, telephone number?" I must say, they are a bit surprised...

League title in sight for Falcons

The Falcons enter the new DeAnza baseball league as strong contenders for the league title. The team is made up of many returning veterans and a strong pitching staff. Returning starters of last year include; Rob Snyder; Mike Ward; Mike Lopina; Courtney Smith; Jeff Palacios; Tyler Lawton; and Matt Courtney.

The addition of some talented newcomers and frosh-soph standouts, Jim Gragnola, and Ted Rafalovich, prompt Coach Costanzo to call this year team, "potentially the best team since I've been at Saratoga."

Varsity softball sports new uniforms

In accepting the challenge, we shall dare
To search for knowledge, skills and truths to bare
To strive for perfection, because we care
To find friends, through joys and sorrows we share

I thank the Lord for the opportunity to have worked with Saratoga teams. I hope that each athlete I have come in contact with has had at least one success, learned or perfected at least one skill or strategy, has made at least one friend and when all is said and done can look back and smile.

—Donie Mason

The girls' softball team this year had a very bright season, largely due to the enthusiasm of the new coaches Donie Mason varsity, and Noel Jr. Varsity.

High hopes for a great season were realized with eight returning varsity players and ten jr. varsity. Donie Mason, with a great coaching record, has always produced a winning team, and we had to keep that record. Besides having new coaches this year we had a new field, which makes playing a lot easier. Another great thing was our new uniforms.

Playing on the school softball team is a lot of fun, as well as a great experience of learning how to win as well as lose. A new dimension this year is sliding. All we can say is "Hey whoo, Los Gatos Community, here we come." We'll all remember this season for all of the good times on the bus, and most of all trying to forget the pain of practice, games, and trying to get up the next morning and roll out of bed.

Girls track shows potential

Open race for track championship

Going into the 1977 season it seems like a wide open race for the D.A.L. Championship. The Varsity who went 9-2 last year looks even stronger. This years Varsity team is led by: Steve Bruns (2-mile), Martin and Matt Rohe (mile). Steve Cuneo, Mike Miyanaga, John Hites, Mike Quita (sprinters), Dave Dunlap, Tim Linrud, George Heiner (long and triple jumpers), John Armstrong (high jump), John Adams (discus), John Schreiner (pole vault), and Bob Fontana (shot put).

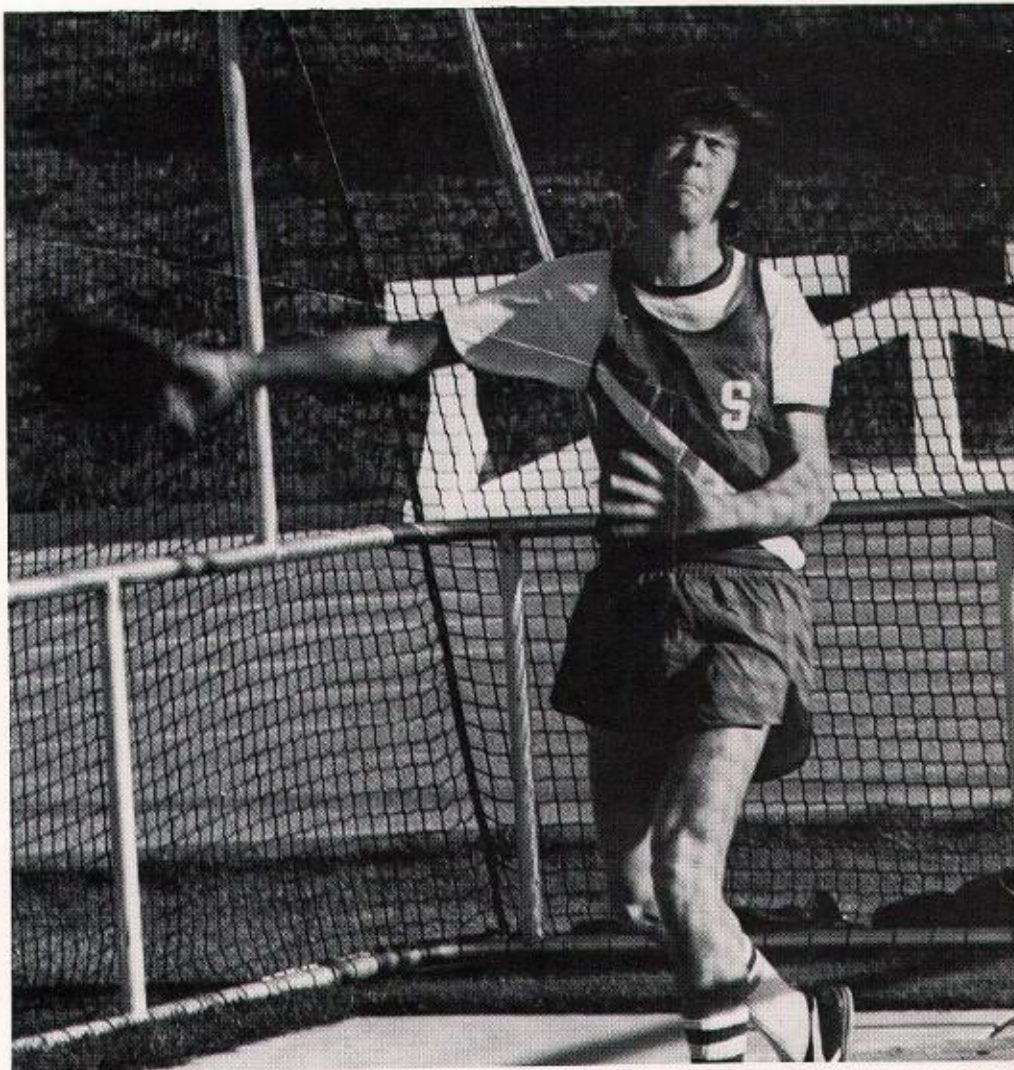

The coaching staff of George Wightman (head Coach),

Glenn Harmatz (distance runners), Alen Ellenson (sprints and relays), Bruce Smiley (long jump, triple jump, sprints), Steve Chappell (pole vault, high jump), George Thibeault (weights), have a building program of over 175 athletes.

The JV's frosh, and girls teams also look very strong. The JV team is led by JV's Rob Orlando (JV 100-220), Dave McLaughlin (440), John Clary (mile), Steve Campbell (sprints). Frosh team- Jeff Watkins (440, 880), Glen Chen (sprints), Jeff Sloan (sprints), Frank Muhktar (high jump, pole vault).

Golf requires skill, concentration

Golf is a sport that you have to participate in both physically and mentally. If you have a solid swing to go with a clearly positive confidence in yourself, the chances of you being a success on the course is very good.

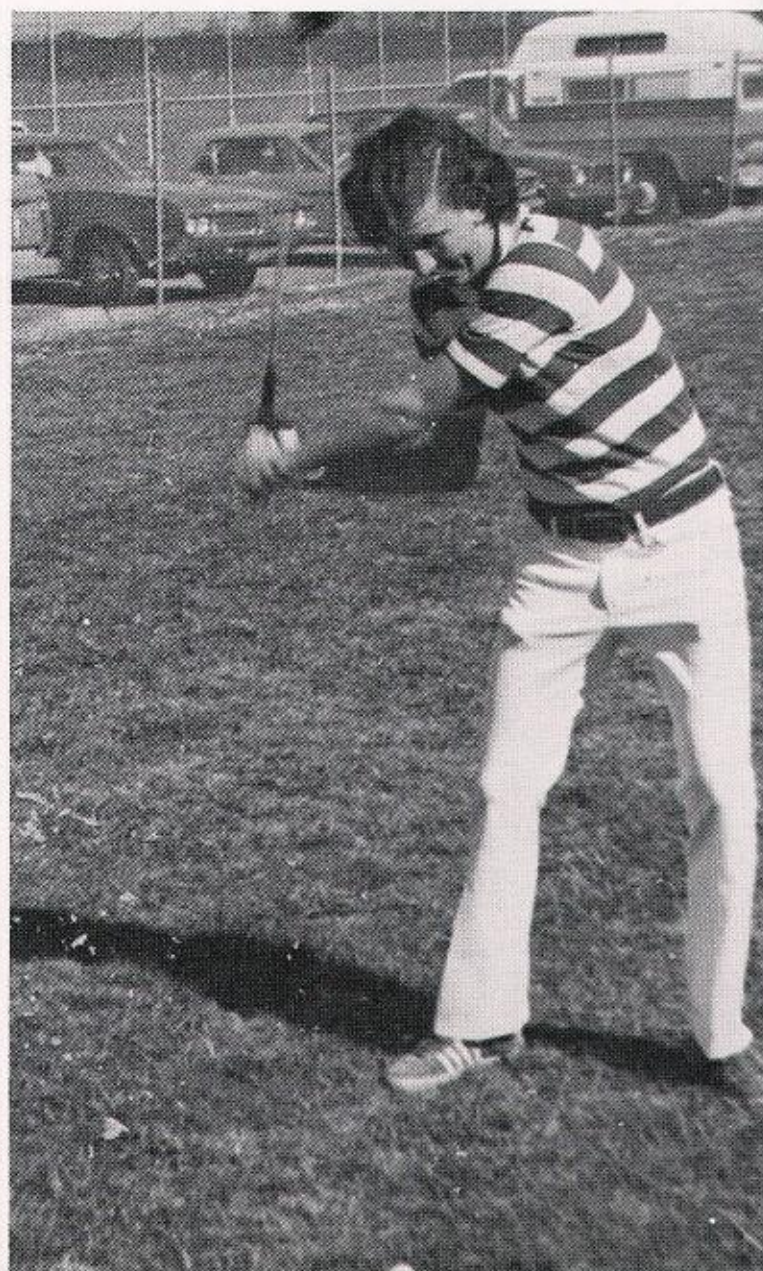

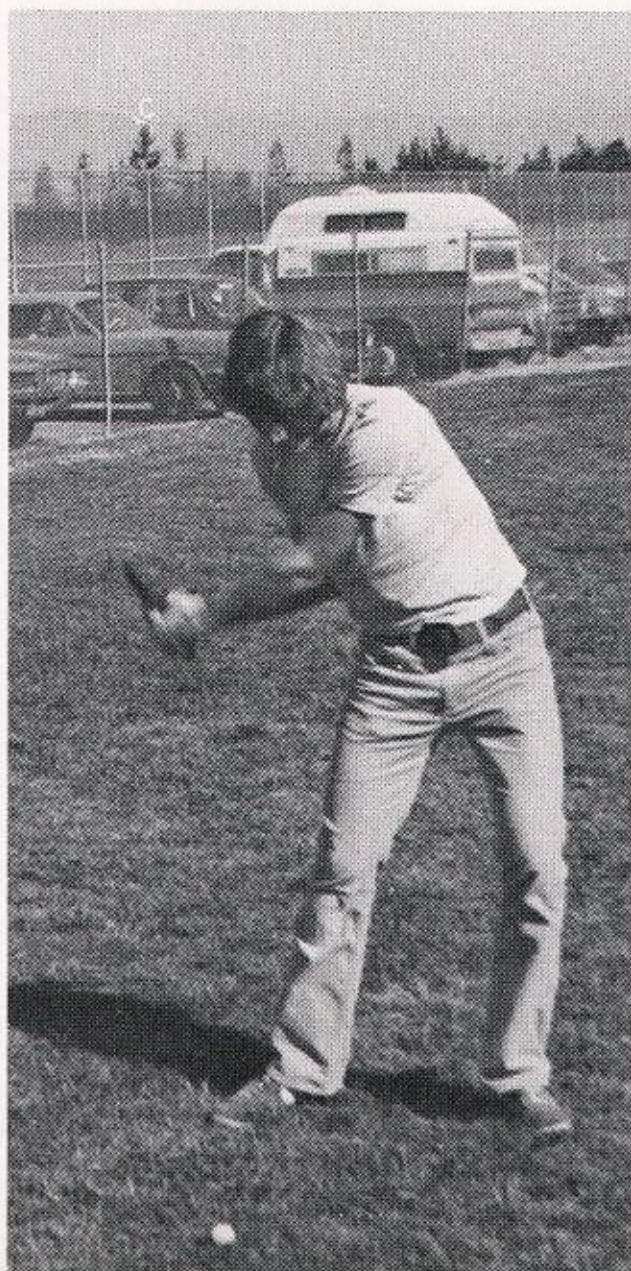

I've been playing on the golf team for three years now, and I've met many new faces. All my teammates have grown to super friends of mine. This year has proved to be no exception. I wish all my teammates luck in their golfing future.

Hard work pays off for gym team

The gymnastics team had a very productive season with new coach Mrs. Peetz. It proved to be a successful team.

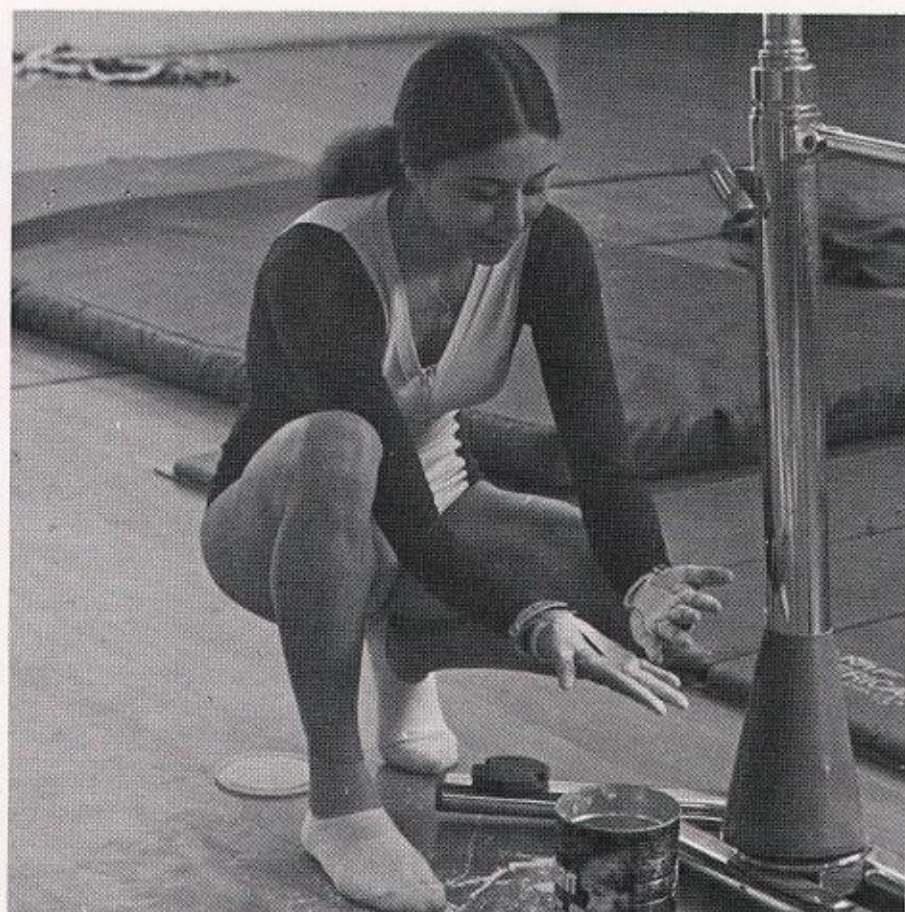

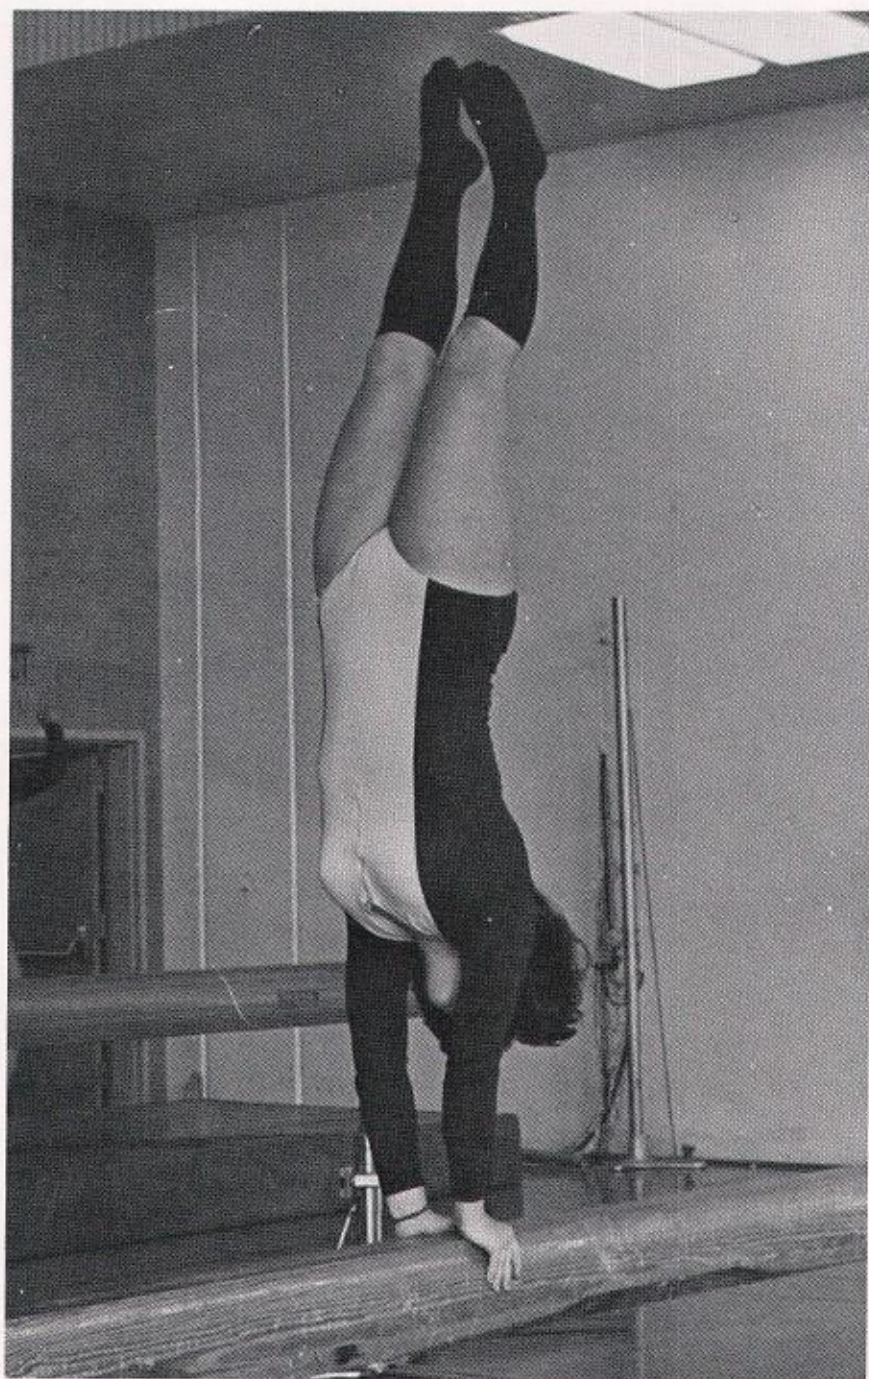

We wanted to work hard this season so we could get a good reputation in the new De Anza league, and we did! There were quite a few girls on the team who were in a club or who used to be in one. This benefited the team a great deal. Some of the girls who were in clubs were: Bettie Aseltine, Debbie Bruno, Pam Dorr, Laura Epstein, Colette Joe, Maureen Oharen, Laurie Olesen, Cathy Mingrone, and myself. This helped the team very much in the optional competition. In the compulsory division we also did very well. The new freshman really made a good showing.

We had a couple practice meets to start off the season, they were against Leland and Branham. These were the toughest teams we competed with, luckily they aren't in our league. Then we started off our league competition with Cupertino. From then on we had meets every Thursday night till the end of the year.

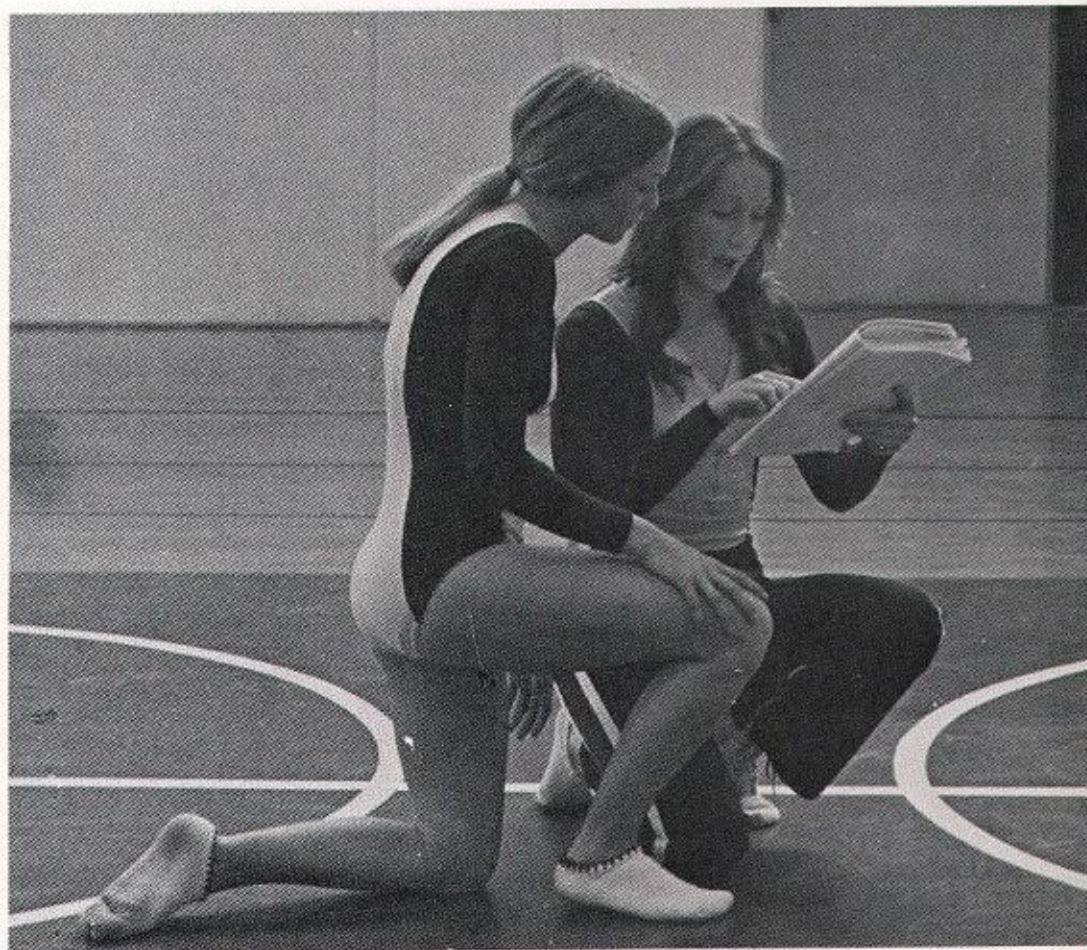

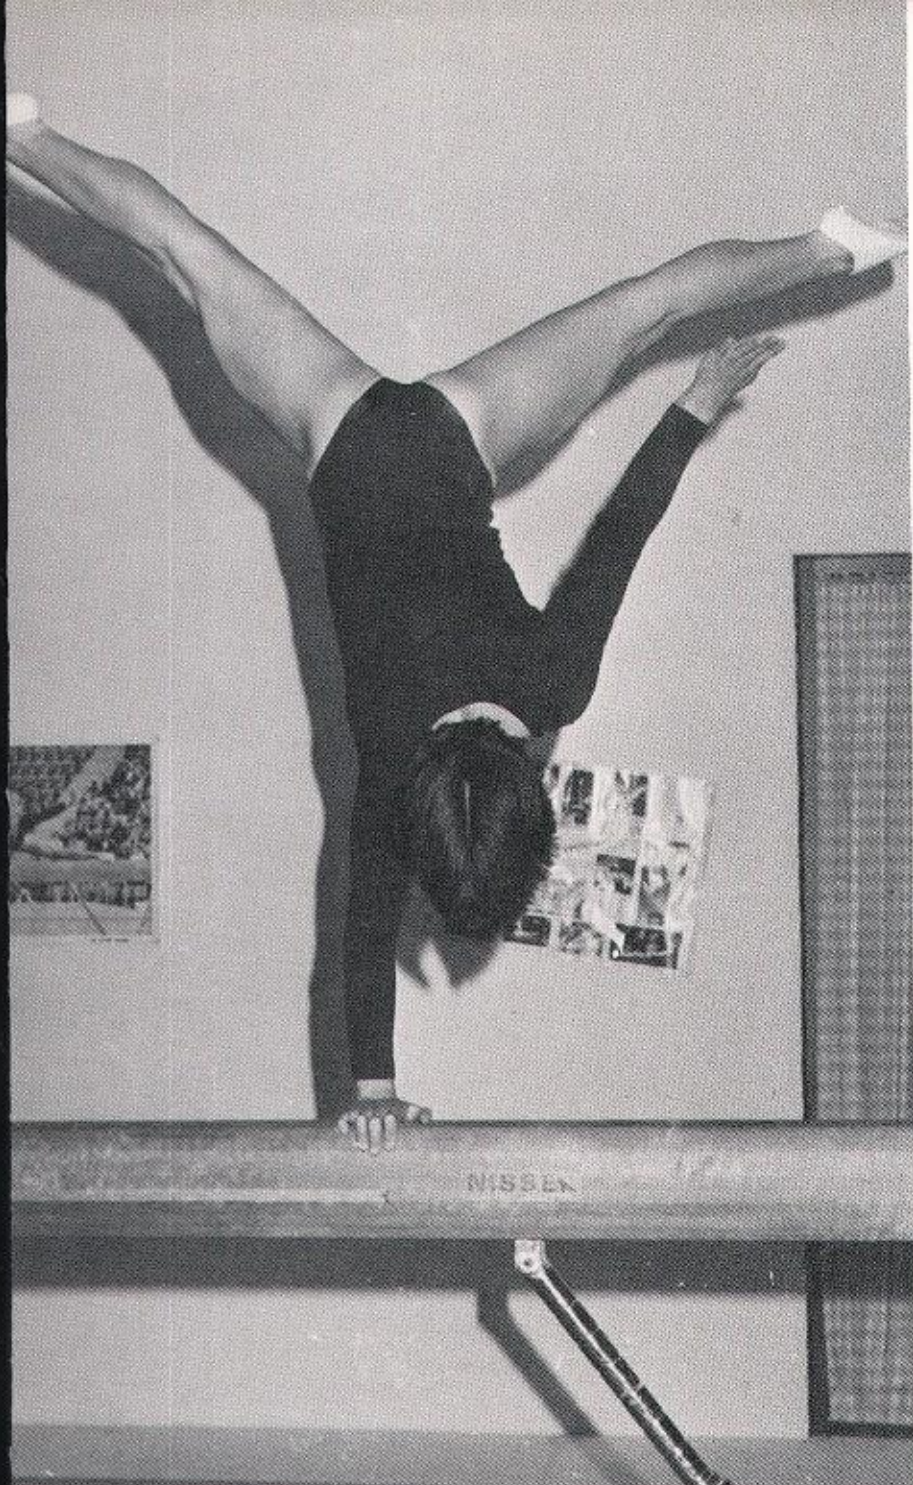

I really had a great time being on the gymnastics team because everyone was really nice and helpful. We practiced really hard and it all paid off in the end!

Students trek south of the Border

"I can't believe it! We're here!"

"Wow, look at this!"

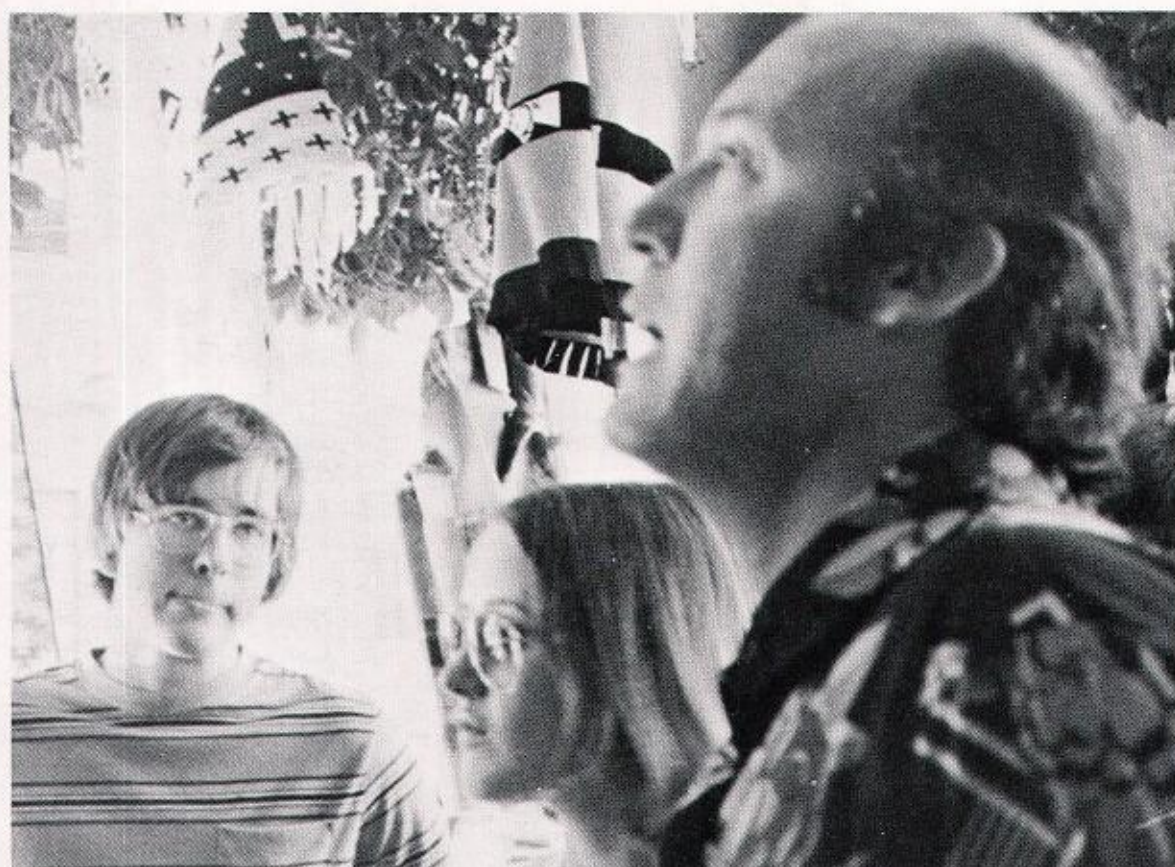

These were just a few of the comments as a plane with 22 students and seven adults from Saratoga touched down at Mexico City International Airport, for a week's stay in Mexico. The trip was a combination of learning and pleasure, and if there ever was a more enjoyable learning experience, I can't think of it.

We spent a total of eight days in Mexico; five in Mexico City and three in Guadalajara. The two cities were very different, but both had their good sides. Mexico City is the cosmopolitan center of Mexico. It seemed like the city never stopped. We went all over the city to see the sights, and we even traveled to the outskirts of the city a couple of times to go to Xochimilco Floating Gardens and the pyramids at Teotihuacan. In the city itself we saw Chapultepec Park, the Museum of Anthropology, the San Juan Market, and the Ballet Folklórico, to name a few.

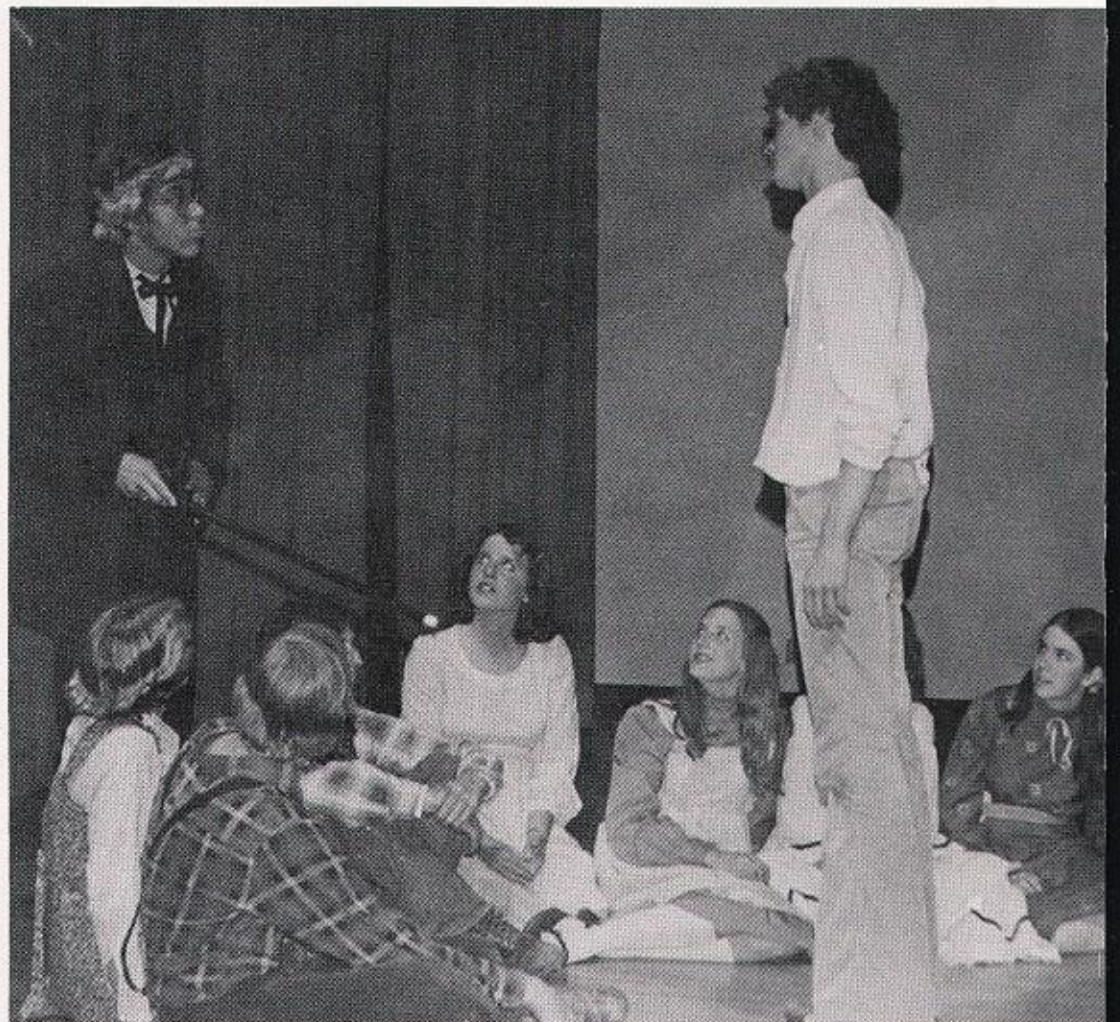

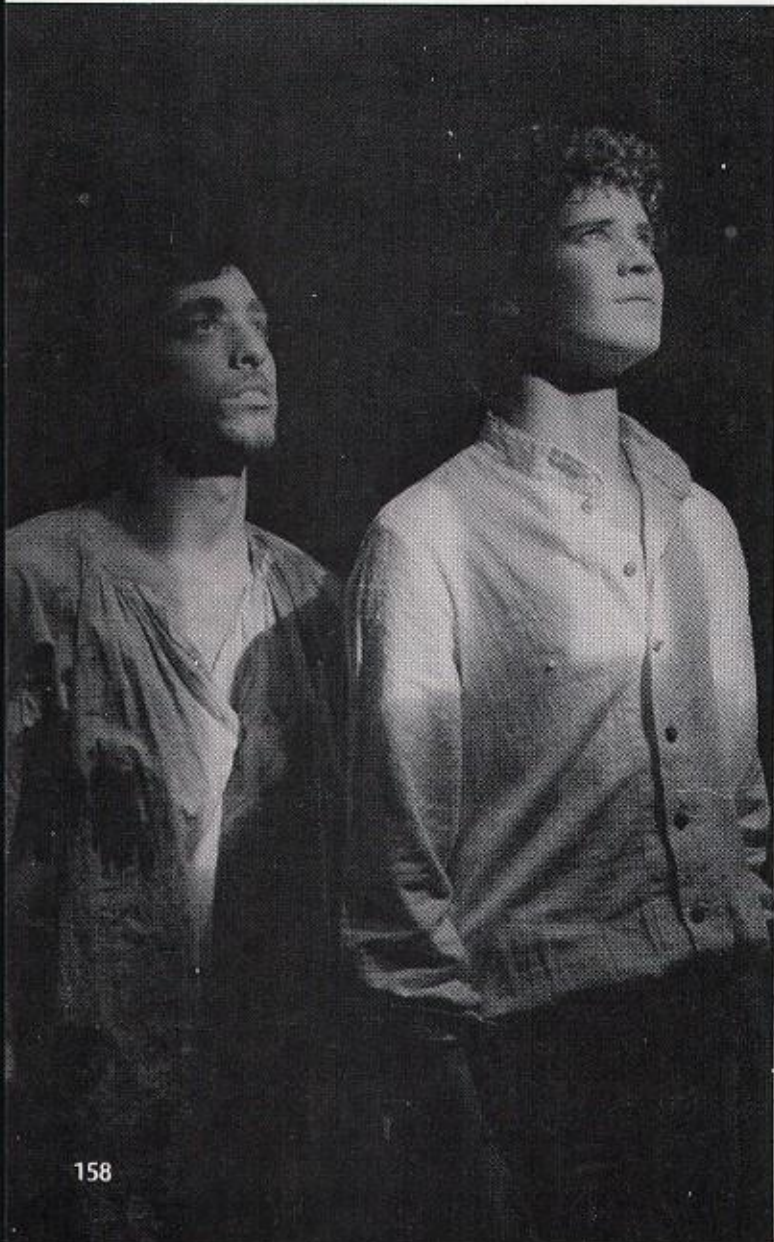

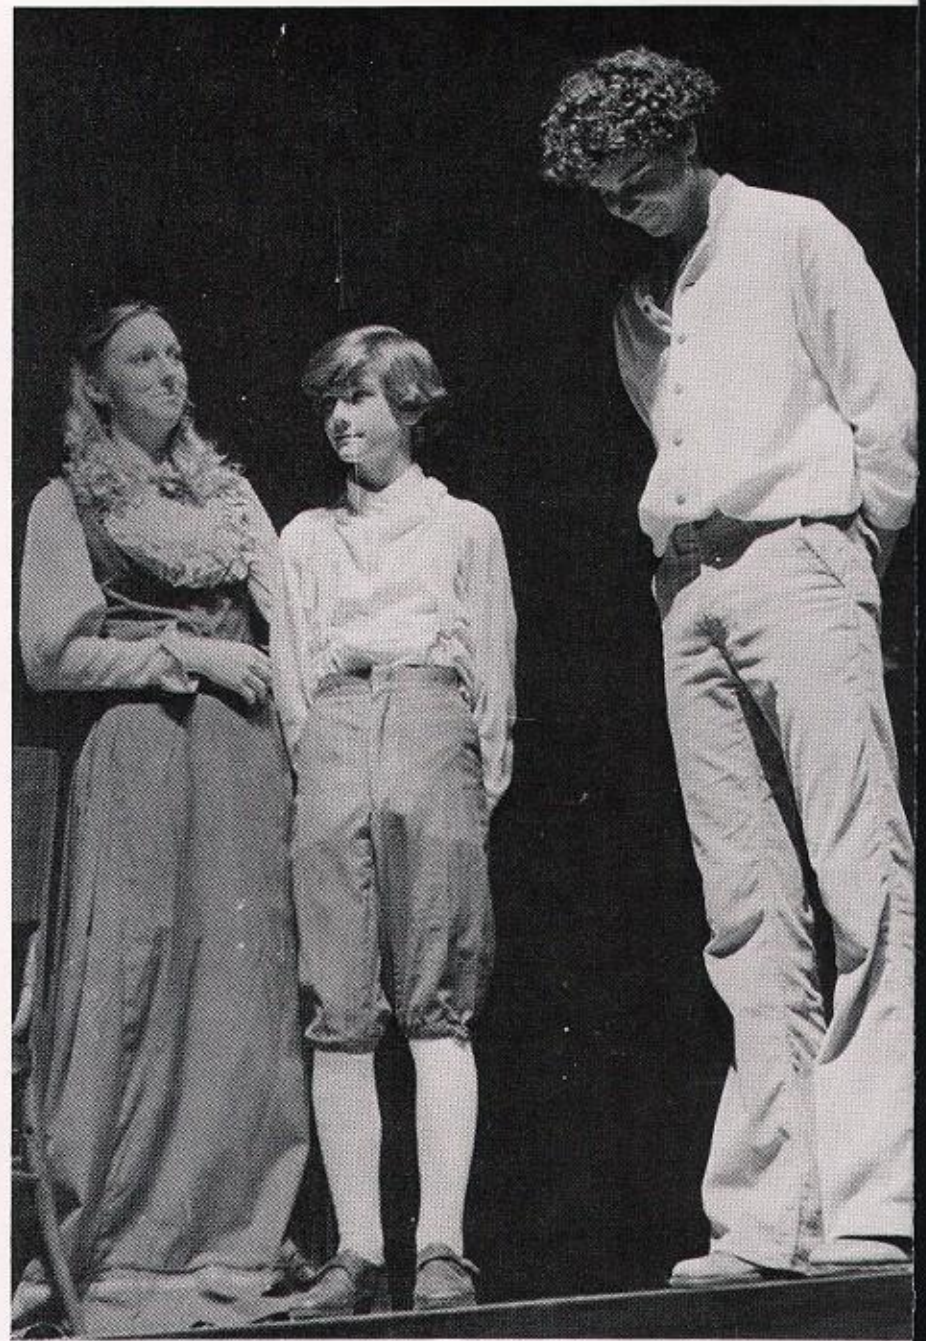

In contrast to Mexico City, Guadalajara was a very slow, rural city. There was very little hustle and bustle. The weather was very nice, as evidenced by the fact that at eleven PM we were all running around in cotton tee-shirts. The hotel we stayed in used to be a convent, and it was surrounded on three sides by very old buildings. The city itself was very beautiful.

I think the most important thing that everyone learned is that no matter how different two cultures are, there are always things in common between the two. People are basically the same everywhere.

Falcon faces '77

Falcons welcome foreign students

If you ask a European what definition he would use about "the American," the answer would probably be: jeans, coke, and bubblegum. I must admit that my own picture was not far from that. That was before I came. After getting detention for chewing bubble gum and meeting marsmen (football players), I must admit that my illusion broke. American teachers may not like bubblegum, but Americans are certainly much more than jeans, coke, and bubblegum.

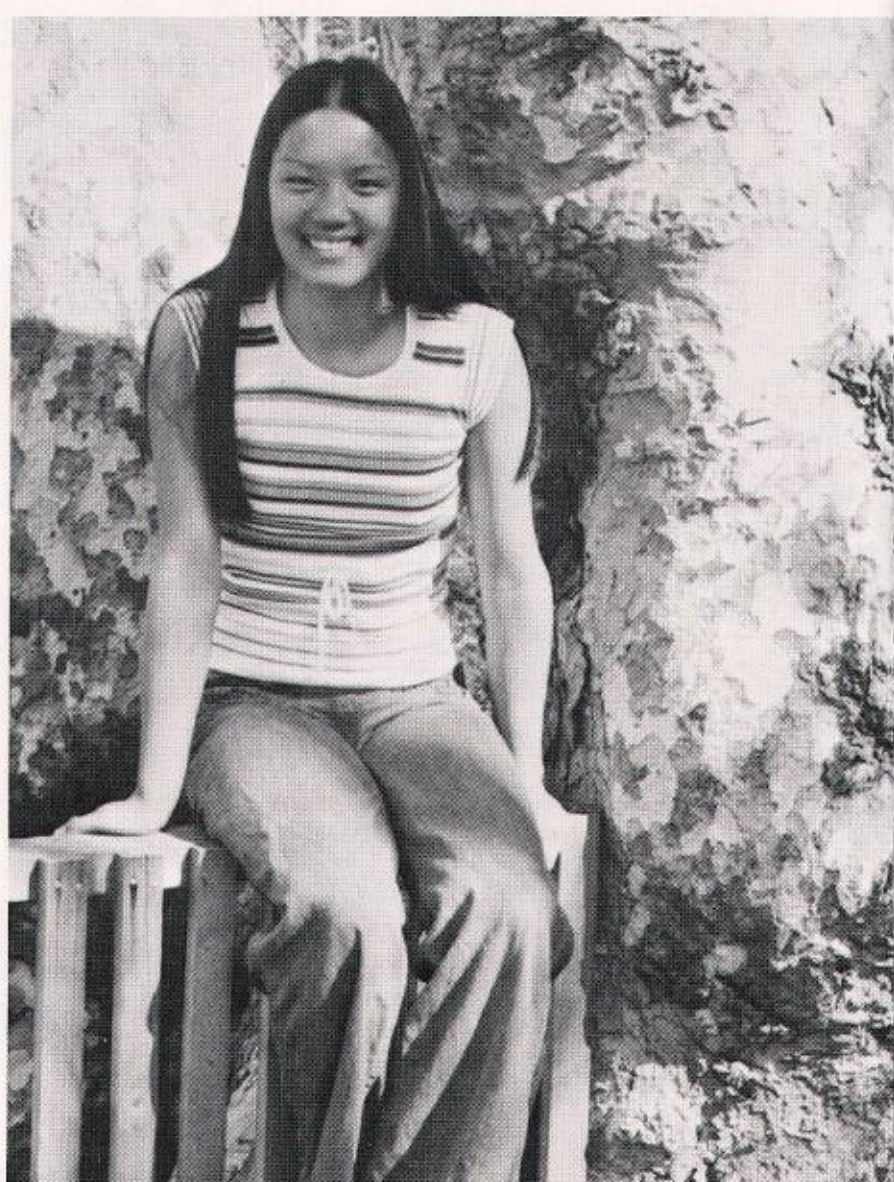

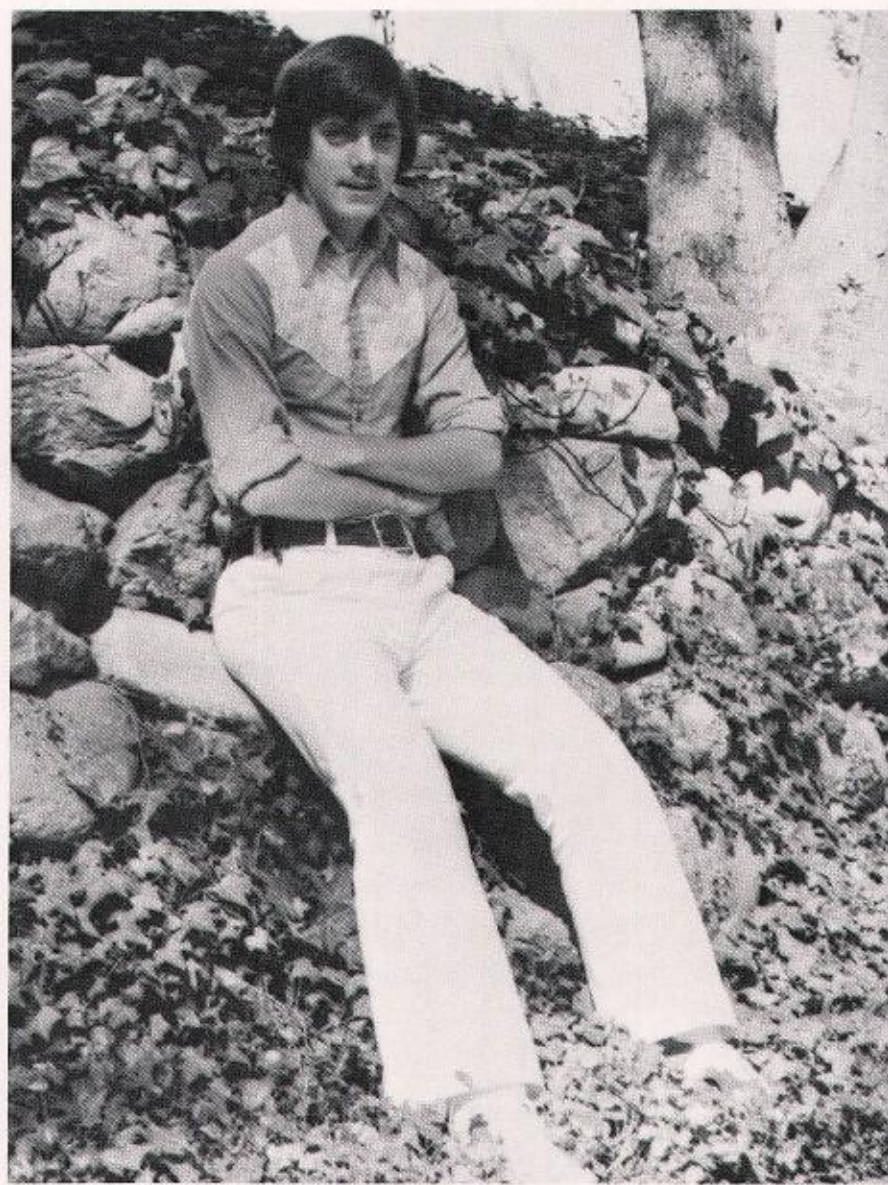

Never have I seen such a spirit as at Saratoga. First of all, for the sports. So many people show up for the games (football, volleyball, etc.) that Saratoga's opponent (I feel sorry for them) looks like the Swine Flu shot has kept them all home in bed. I also like the spirit that lets people dress up for "Nerd Day" without being an outcast. That's a good spirit to have. The most important spirit, though, is the way Saratogans welcome new people in the school. It shows that the Falcons care for each other.

Together we ARE Saratoga.

—Helle Andersen

Senior officers jog memories

Being senior class president has been more rewarding and satisfying than any experience I've had this year. I am proud to have had the opportunity to represent our class and to work with Karen, Sue, and Steve to bring our class the spirit and unity we now have. No words could ever express my feelings of gratitude for all of you being who you are. Let's remember 1977 forever.

Looking back...

This year brought many new activities and more spirit to the class of 1977.

From the beginning spirit among us skyrocketed as we strived for togetherness and equality in our last year at Saratoga. We quickly realized we had no time to waste and that each friendship must be savored.

We started our fun filled year with a spaghetti fun night. We tried to earn money through monthly bake sales and scrounged here and there whenever possible.

Selling spirit buttons promoted spirit-but 1000- that was way too many!

For homecoming we struggled with our first float, and learned that it's pretty hard to make a peace sign out of a VW bug in 24 hours. Our high hopes and determination gave us a fourth place and a tie for the first spirit trophy.

At the rallies we proved our strength and seniority by winning contests such as marsh-mellow stuffing and peanut pushes.

December brought kazoos and the second CCS crown in our high school career. Instead of selling wilted mistletoe, we sat back and made $95 showing movies.

During January we organized committees to get the prom and graduation plans finalized. We chose our announcements and the colors for our caps and gowns.

With the spring came success and senior slumps. We kept together with one activity after another, our very own senior prom being the highlight of it all at the Palo Alto country club on April 15, featuring Ivory Tower and our senior theme as "We may never pass this way again".

Afterward we went on to have a marathon, a tennis tournament and more car washes to make money for commencement, and an all night San Francisco bay boat cruise.

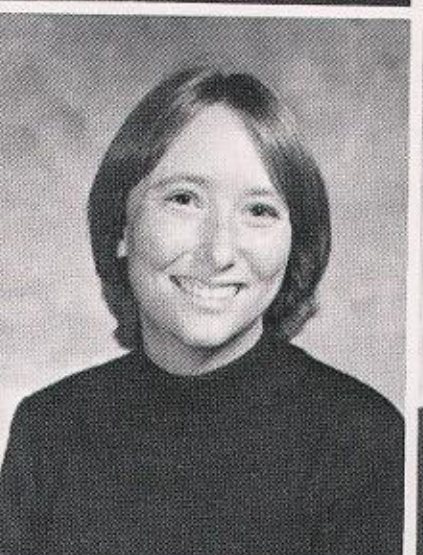

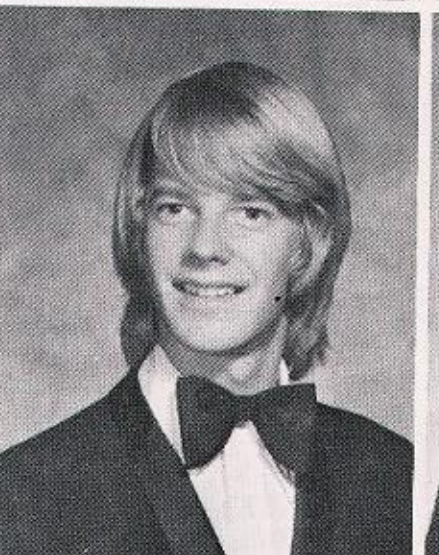

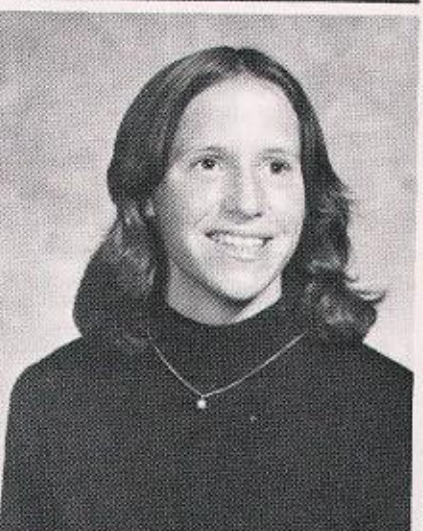

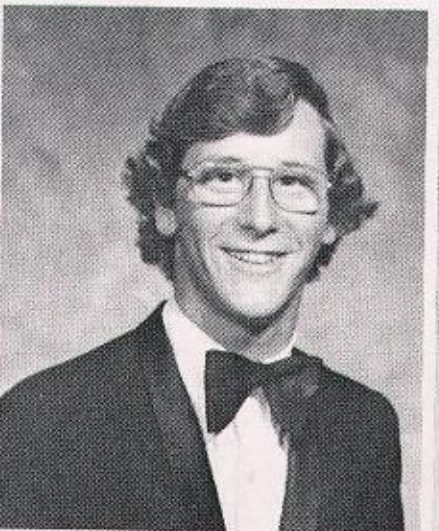

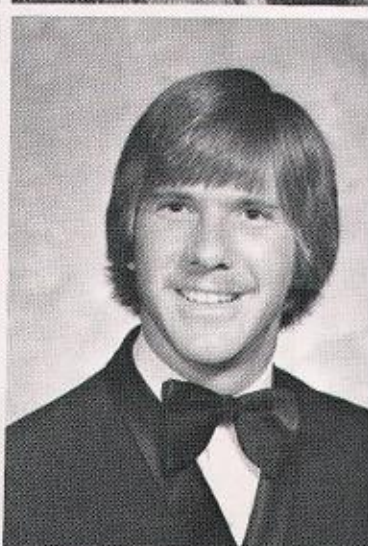

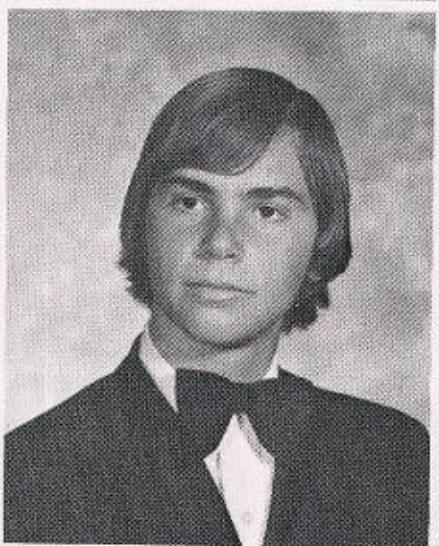

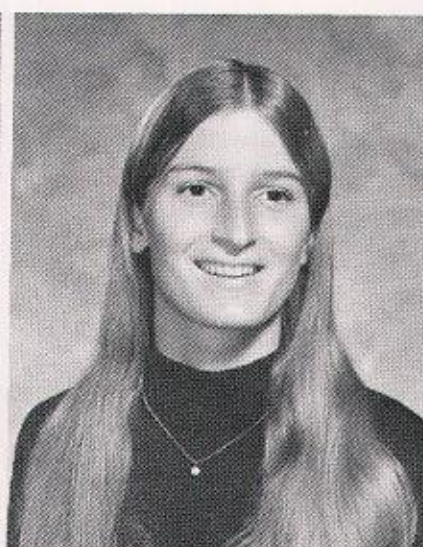

To many of us this year symbolized the climax in our minds filled with high school memories, and the special moments we have shared with others.

Rewards and failures just like real life

High school life can be very fun and rewarding, as well as painful and unpleasant.

High school is pleasant when you get an "A" on a Chemistry test that you were too lazy to study for, or when "he" asks you out to lunch. It's fun when you have a football team to boast about or when you find .25¢ in the candy machines. It's neat when you were the only one in the class who understood last night's trig homework.

However, high school can be a pain when your locker gets stuck and you can't find a janitor anywhere, or when you fall asleep in first period and get embarrassed in front of the whole class. It's miserable when you get caught cutting sixth, and your parents take the car away.

The point is that high school life, as in real life, is full of ups and downs, and the only difference is that here at Saratoga we are sheltered whereas in later life we are on our own.

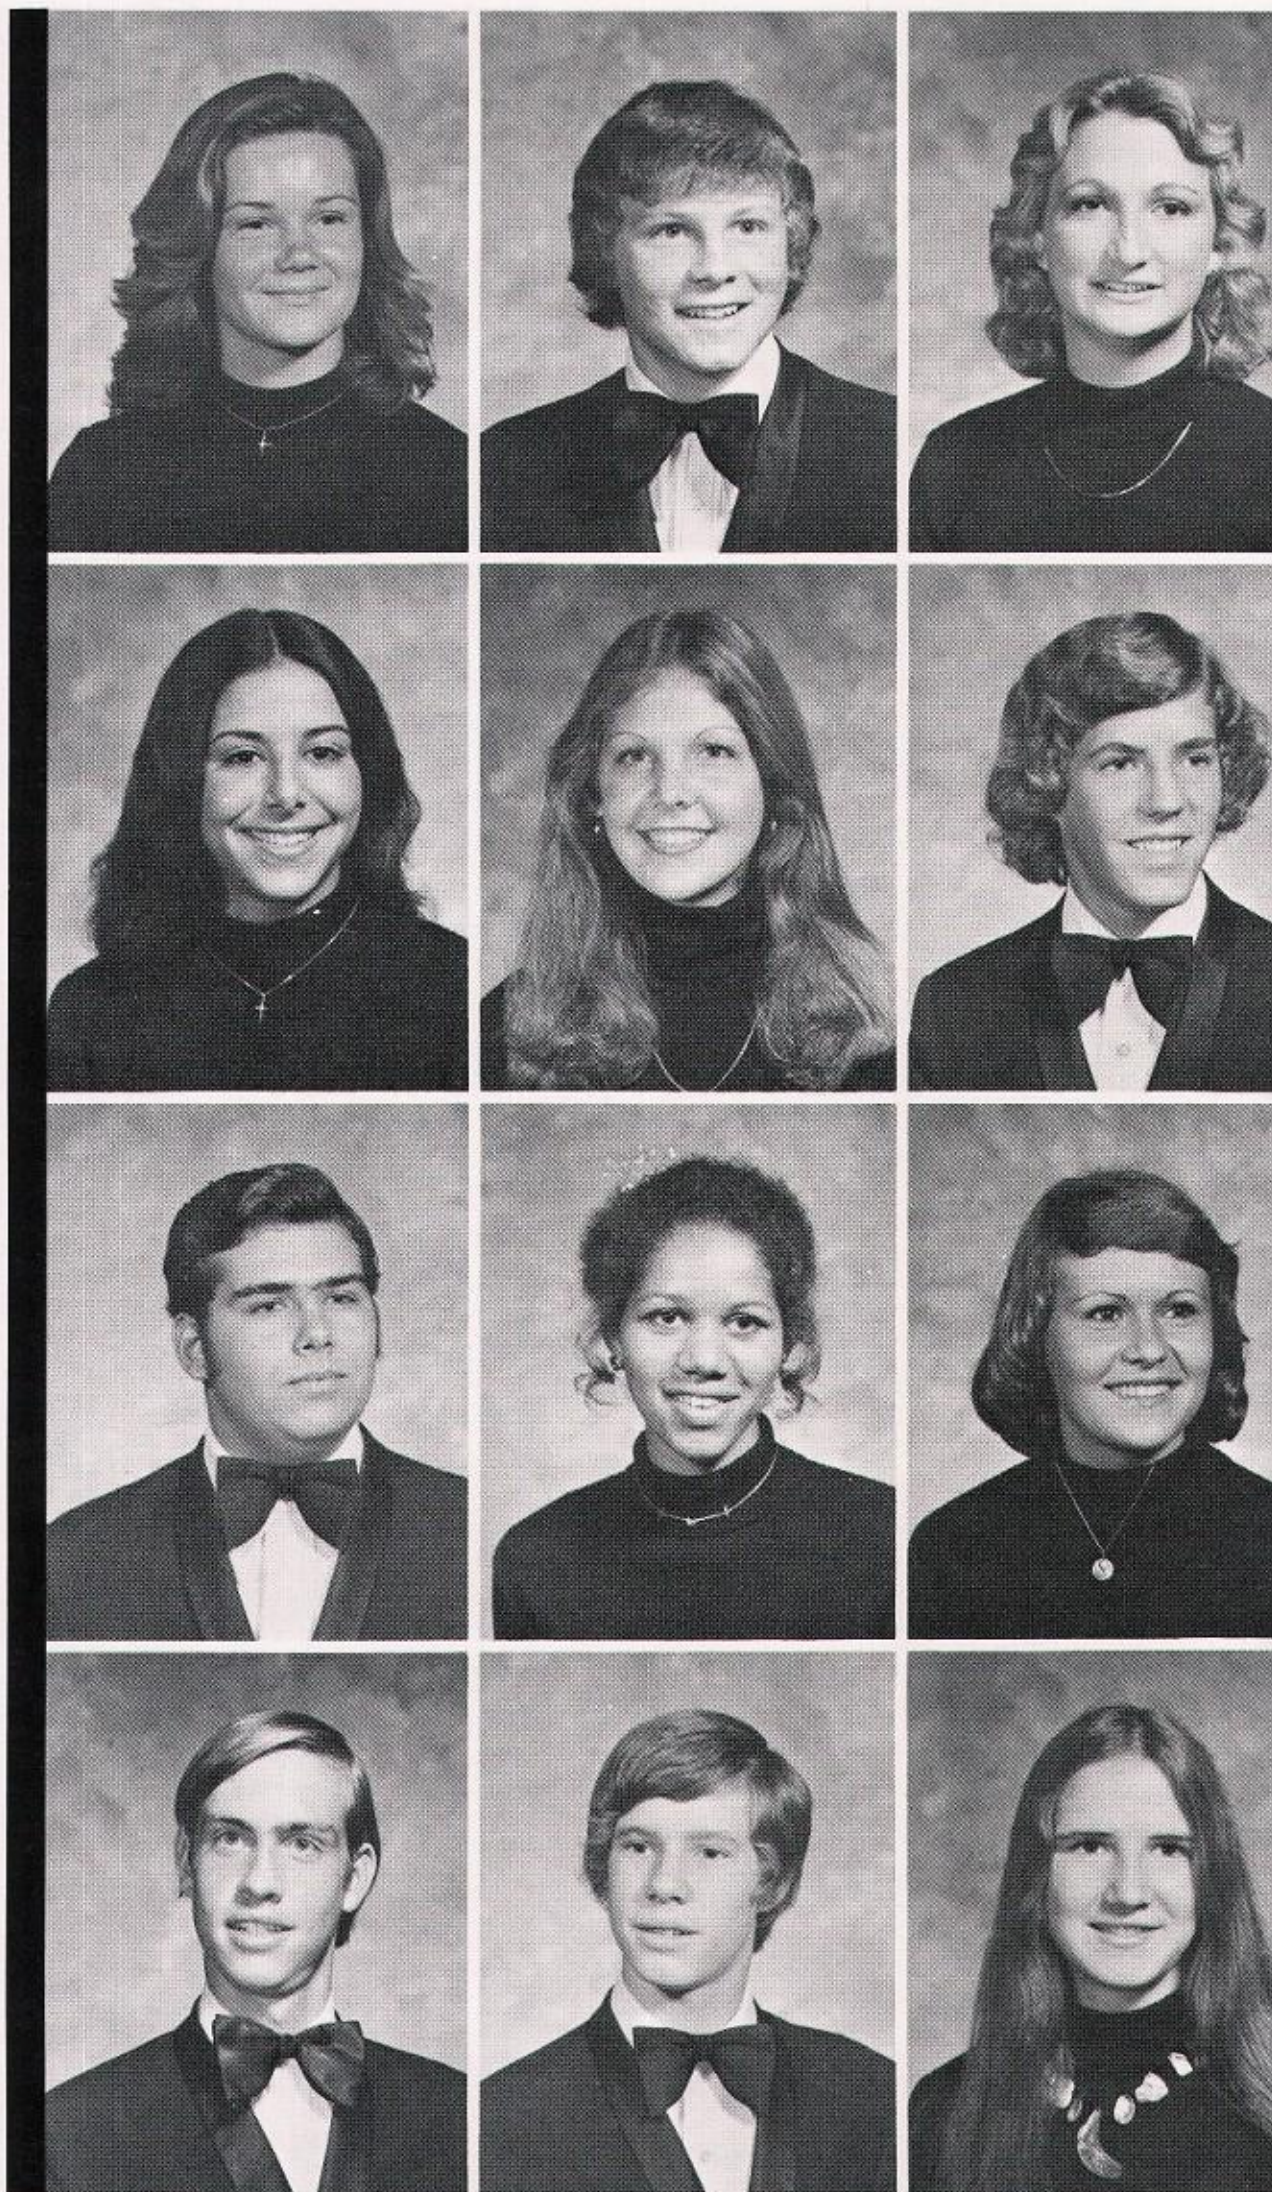

There's a great world out there that we're about to face. Hopefully we're all ready.

We've grown up

The four years at Saratoga High have been an unforgettable experience for me. Not only have I grown to love and respect my friends, but I have also had the chance to watch everyone grow up. And believe me, we have grown up. Just yesterday we were mixed-up freshmen with so much to learn; now here we are seniors, thinking we know it all. But while we are a little frightened of what lies ahead, it's nice to look back on Saratoga High, and realize it wasn't so bad after all. The headaches, heartbreaks are forgotten behind the fantastic memories of friends, Friday nights, and love. I'd like to think Saratoga High has brightened in the last year, not because we are back on a winning streak, but because of the returned enthusiasm of the Seniors reflecting on everyone else. I'm proud of the class of 1977, and I hope our accomplishments won't be forgotten for a long time.

Things are different elsewhere

At the beginning of this year I really didn't feel like a senior, not even like a junior, it was more like I was still a sophomore. But, now that I compare myself to the way I was then, it really seems like I have changed. I am more independent and understanding. I have seen so much more, and experienced things I never expected to be a part of. The best thing that happened to me in high school was my trip to Norway as an exchange student. I realized how different things are in a foreign country. Before I left, I could never imagine what it was like to have the sun shining for 22 hours every day. This was only one of the experiences where I learned how different things are apart from our sheltered life.

Unity big in '77

It's rare when you can be yourself and still be thought as part of things. Unity was a big thing in '77 and to experience it was a part of high school and the memories of it. Sure, there were mountains and there were valleys, but with help from your classmates the mountains weren't quite so steep and the valleys not quite so low.

Freedom and fun

As a senior this year, I am enjoying more freedom and fun than I've ever had before. I only have a half a day of school and then I work so I will have enough money to pay for all the activities our class has planned. However being a senior is not all the fun and games it appears to be. We have added responsibilities and have to fill our endless applications to be accepted to colleges. Then, we finally do get accepted, we have to face the task of choosing which one we will attend. The worst part of our senior year is having to leave the friends we've had for four years, as we all go away to different schools. Let's hope we all remember the good times as we say goodbye to Saratoga High.

It was worth it

I've spent most of my four years here wishing I was somewhere else; the hills, the beach, or just at home. But now, I don't think it was all a waste of time. Once in awhile there'd be a special class, a special teacher, or someone who really made learning enjoyable.

—Katie King

My friends—each one complementing the other, forming the strongest, happiest group of people I've known. It's been the most, seeing their warm smiles, feeling their reassuring embraces, and most of all trusting their compassionate listening ears. They've helped me to expect the unexpected and enjoy life. I am so thankful that I could be a part of that fun. I won't say goodbye, because there's too much to come to ever say goodbye. If I don't see them again here, I'll be looking for them there.

Time went by so fast

Four years ... Saratoga High School ... Graduation ... It all passed so quickly that I didn't have a chance to really enjoy to experience.

What experience?

It's the growing up, even though it's slow and hard. It's the learning, though it sometimes seemed so useless. It's the laughter, the tears, the quiet and the loud, the funny and the sad.

And now?

It's the knowing. Knowing that I will soon be leaving. Leaving the people, the friends and the teachers. Leaving the security of our school. Leaving the football games, senior balls and spaghetti, fifties day, pudding fights and activity periods. Leaving Christmas dances, hot romances, admits and extractions. And most of all, leaving behind the lower classmen and women.

Now I'm going off to college. I remember thinking of college as something representing old age.

Well, here I am rather young, and it's sad to think that never again will I experience Saratoga High School.

We may never pass this way again...

Life—so they say

Is but a game and they let it slip away

Love—like the Autumn sun
Should be dying but it only just begun

Like the twilight in the road up ahead,

They don't see just where we're goin',

And all the secrets in the universe

Whisper in our ears and all the years will come and go

And take us up, always up,
We may never pass this way
again...

Like Columbus in the olden days

We must gather all our courage

Sail our ship out on the open sea

Cast away our fears and all the years will come and go

And take us up—always up

We may never pass this way
again

Susan,
Meeting you in English 4 with Mr. Haggerty has been interesting. With you talking all the time and Patty throwing in sarcastic remarks,
I learned a lot. Bonne chance forever! (a little French mixed in there.)

Love, Cheryl Reichel

P.S. if you ever want a partner in your law firm just call (867-1130)

Normie Nelson

much luck in life,

Normie Nelson
I see you again sometime (in so jealous of all you seniors!)

It's been fun having you in Mr. Baran's class this past semester, although one can't really say it was to exciting of a class. (SF was great to watch with the friobees, chaperoning the dance & seeing the Chris Wiley Show. Well, I hope to see you again sometime (in so jealous

of all you seniors!)

Love & great summer
I hope you have a great time around & in person together. Congradulations

Dear Susan
 I'll just say a repeat on what I said on your card! You'll go far!!!
 You're among the few seniors I know. I feel really privileged. You just told me you'd kiss us all for the card - I wanna kiss you too! (But you're right, it would be too embarrassing!) Much love
 Julia

Dear Sue -

This year has really been fun!
 Bouge was great, so was Man of La Mancha, and Pedro's. You've got great potential to go places this year and in life. I hope you always do well in everything you do! Good luck in college and always remember our Spanish 3, 2nd per. gang.
 Nanay, Julie, Sue, me and Tom! We've got to get together some time.
 354-2885. Love always, Karen

Sue,

Civics was great!
 The things we talked about in that class.
 Almost not passing the G.K.T. It was fun in civics. I hope to meet you later on in some other class.

due,
it's been great knowing you! I'm glad you were in this spanish class, you made it alot easier for me, with those tapes and dictados. I wish you the best in the future and come visit us some time. It was really fun at the play and later a Pedro. Good luck!

lots of love,

Susan, class was definitely inspiring!
and at the same time
frustrating as hell.
Good Times, tho!
Take Care and good luck always,

Sharon

OK. Sue -

We've made it. We are actually finished w/ high school... Thank Goodness. We have had tons of good times even if we didn't get together much this year. We shall have to make up for it this summer: the beach, movies, W. Valley, Tennis (Ha! Ha!), etc.

We've had good times (like I said, did you know repeating yourself is a sign of senility?). Things (we've got to do it again), Gone w/ the Wind, Young Frankenstein (Don't forget the Schwannstücker), P.E., Who's dance last year, etc. (Also, of course, J.D. & oh my God, I've forgot his name... ah yes Bill Carney), and countless other heart throbs. Remember: English class is a synonym for romance. I don't think we'll ever finish this practice. Anyway - - Have a great Summer, a fantastic life & All the Best, Take Care.

Love,
Kathy Johns

P.S. Watch out for speeding green Schrioccs.
